RENEW DRIVE TO RETURN U. S. TO GOLD BASIS

Critics See Inflation and Money War.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Reaction of the stock and commodity markets to the further cheapening of the dollar today added fresh fuel to the controversy raging over President Roosevelt's monetary policy.

As the gold value of the dollar sank under government pounding to about 62 cents, the lowest since the civil war, the prices of wheat, corn, and cotton advanced. This development was hailed by the managed currency advocates as a vindication of the gold manipulation policy devised by Prof. George F. Warren of Cornell and Prof. James Harvey Rogers of Yale and put into effect by the President.

Raise Farmer's Buying Power.

This sort of inflation is relied upon to raise particularly the prices of wheat, cotton, and all other commodities traded in on the world market. The theory is that if the prices of farm commodities can be raised by this means the purchasing power of farmers will be increased and a buying wave will sweep in from the rural regions, carrying the whole country back to prosperity.

While prices were advancing on the commodity markets quotations climbed for a time on the stock market and then declined, while a disturbing weakness in United States government bonds developed.

The behavior of the stock market, particularly the weakness of government bonds, was cited by opponents of the President's policy as an illustration of the uncertainty, fears and general lack of confidence in the administration program, which, according to their views, is retarding business recovery. To restore the confidence necessary to business revival, the conservatives are urging the President to turn his back definitely on inflation and take steps for return to the gold standard, even if it be necessary to devalue the dollar.

Fails to Record Seasonal Rise.

The November survey of current business issued by the commerce department today tended to support the view that the recovery program is slipping.

"Industrial production has continued to recede during October, although the rate of decline in recent weeks has not been as rapid as in August and September," says the report. "Available distribution indexes fail to record the seasonal rise usually evident in the fall despite the continued growth of purchasing power. Commodity prices have risen, and recent increases appear to have been more pronounced in retail than in wholesale quotations. Real income, however, is considerably higher than in the early months of the year as well as higher than a year ago.

"Output of mines and factories in September declined contrary to the normal movement, and the adjusted index dropped 8 per cent, or at about the same rate as in the preceding month. Manufacturing production declined relatively more than mineral output. Decreases were general in all of the major industries with the exception of food products. The widest declines were in the iron and steel industry, 18 per cent; in textiles, 13 per cent, and in lumber 22 per cent.

Only Moderate Declines.

The principal consumers' goods industries, aside from textiles and food products, recorded only moderate declines and all were operating at a relatively high rate. The reduction in the mineral industry was largely due to the drop in bituminous coal production, although output of crude petroleum reflects the efforts to bring the flow into line with current requirements. Although the recent drop in total industrial production reduced the September increase over a year ago to 27 per cent, production in the third quarter was 49 per cent higher than a year ago.

"Retail sales in September failed to extend the August gains. The increase in department store sales fell short of the usual seasonal increase, and the adjusted index dropped 9 per cent. Sales were only 3 per cent higher than a year ago, although prices were up about 17 per cent. Variety chain and chain food stores also showed only a moderate increase in value over last year. The increase in freight car loadings in September was less than the usual seasonal rise, and the same was true of the

4 Die, 4 Hurt When Airliner Crashes in Fog

Portland, Ore., Nov. 10 [Friday.]—(AP)—A United Air Lines plane became lost in a heavy fog and crashed in a hilly sector west of the Portland city limits early today, killing four and injuring four others of the ten persons aboard. These included seven passengers, a pilot, a co-pilot and a stewardess. The dead were not immediately identified, with the exception of Dr. Robert L. Coffey, prominent Portland physician. The pilot, Linn Davis, was alive but his face was severely crushed.

The plane took off from the Portland airport on Swan island at 10:50 p. m. Thursday to go to The Dalles and meet a southbound plane from Seattle, which was avoiding Portland due to a heavy pea soup fog. The ship failed to make wireless reports after leaving the field and was not discovered until an early hour this morning.

GAMBLING CZAR NAMES SOUDER AS ABDUCTOR

A formal charge of having kidnaped James Hackett, Blue Island gambling czar, was placed last night against Frank Souder of Benton, Ill., one of the alleged leaders of a downstate band which obtained a total of nearly $400,000 in a series of nine abductions in 1930 and 1931.

Souder was ordered held without bail and will be arraigned at 10 o'clock this morning before Police Magistrate Carl J. Carlson of Blue Island.

With Gale Swolley of Peoria, one of his alleged accomplices, Souder was taken to the Woodlawn police station last night by the investigators for the state's attorney. The state's attorney's men have held the two prisoners and Julian (Babe) Jones of St. Charles in secret custody for nearly a week. Jones, who has confessed his part in the kidnapings and implicated at least a dozen others, was kept incommunicado.

Book Souder in Blue Island.

It was the intention to book Souder in the Woodlawn station and then lock him up for the night at the Hyde Park station. Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan decided, however that inasmuch as the Hackett kidnaping took place in Blue Island jurisdiction would rest there. Accordingly Souder was taken to Blue Island for the formal booking.

During the morning Souder had been taken before Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan of the Criminal court. A writ of habeas corpus had been applied for in his behalf. Judge Sullivan had ordered either that the prisoner be charged with a crime by 10 p. m. or turned over to custody of the sheriff.

No effort to obtain the freedom of Swolley and Jones was made. The former was left in the Hyde Park station for the night.

Courtney Evades Questioning.

State's Attorney Courtney, Prosecutor Coghlan and the arresting policemen continued to evade questioning about the case. They declined to tell where they were keeping other members of the band, or even to admit that others than the three known principals had been apprehended. It was reported that one of those still sought is Edward La Rue, alias Dolt of Peoria, described as a hoodlum with a long police record.

Scarcely second in interest to the investigation of this gang of kidnapers was a full disclosure of the evidence against the Touhy mob in northwest Cook county, seven of whose members have been indicted for kidnaping John (Jake the Barber) Factor on July 1.

Roger Touhy and three of his aids are now on trial in St. Paul for the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr. They also are named in the Factor case. How government agents traced down the Factor-Touhy clews and turned over their information to the state's attorney was told by Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the Chicago bureau of investigation, department of justice.

Blame Gang for 25 Crimes.

"This gang," Mr. Purvis said, "has accomplished between twenty-five and thirty kidnapings in the last two years. Many of them were never reported to the police. This was particularly true of the victims who were engaged in bootlegging or in gambling operations.

"There are fifteen or sixteen men who had parts in the different crimes, with Roger Touhy as the real commander.

"Our men took up work on the Factor case shortly after he had been released by the gang, to which he paid $70,000. We learned enough to convict the Touhy gangsters in any court, but because there was no interstate angle to the case our evidence was all turned over to the state's attorney.

Find Factor's Jail.

"Factor, after he was seized in Morton Grove, was taken first to a house at the northwest corner of Fir and Elm streets, Glenview. That house had been specially leased by the gang as a prison. The lessee gave his name as Wallace Gordon. This name was undoubtedly fictitious.

"Our attention was first attracted to this place when neighbors reported they had frequently seen groups of

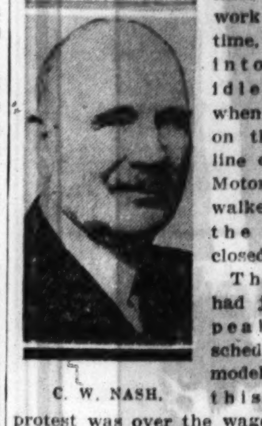
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Three thousand men, many of whom have been out of work for a long time, were thrown into indefinite idleness today when 200 workers on the assembly line of the Nash Motors company walked out and the company closed its doors.



C. W. NASH.

The company had just reached peak production schedules on new models announced this week. The protest was over the wage scale.

The walkout came after C. W. Nash, chairman of the board, visited three departments in which the men were engaged and urged them to give a new piece work plan a little longer trial.

Massmeeting Held.

A meeting of the United Automobile Workers, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, was held tonight.

It was attended by 1,500 of the workers. They voted unanimously to picket the plant and the picketing began immediately. No trouble was expected, as the men had been instructed to be peaceful.

The workers also voted to request the national labor board to send a representative, in the hope of effecting an amicable settlement, and appointed a committee, headed by Eugene Stauder, which will make a formal demand that officials of the motor company recognize their union—the United Automobile Workers. If recognition is refused Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson will be notified.

Nash Closes Plant.

A statement signed by Mr. Nash was posted throughout the factory that the closing order was to continue until further notice.

Unionization of the plant has been effective since the NRA became operative. The Nash company was one of the early signers of the automobile code. Mr. Nash is a member of the national committee of the automobile chamber of commerce which helped draft the code.

The day wage minimum designated by the code on which the company operated until yesterday was 40 cents an hour for an eight hour day. It was changed yesterday at the request of the employes to a piece work pay plan. The men argued that piece work would permit distribution of work among a larger number of men.

The piece work scale set was 4 cents per car for the operation under question, with a maximum of 70 cars per day, which made the day's wage 40 cents lower than at day work.

The men worked at piece work yesterday and today protested that none could make as much as $2.80 per day because the cars did not come along fast enough.

Visits All Departments.

When Mr. Nash heard of the protests he went to the men in the departments and asked them to continue under the new arrangements for several days to test the new plan. The men refused and walked out.

Because the rest of the production lines depend on the assembly departments moving rapidly the company could not continue production, and a hasty conference in the office of Earl H. McCarty, president, resulted in the decision to close down the entire plant, retaining only the office force.

Dawes Repays 27 Million of His RFC Loan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Something less than 30 million dollars' worth of Insull securities was pledged with other collateral by the Dawes bank, the Central Republic Bank and Trust company of Chicago, when it obtained a 90 million dollar loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation last year, Jesse H. Jones chairman of the RFC, revealed today.

The loan to the Dawes bank, made shortly after Charles G. Dawes resigned as president of the RFC, has been investigated once by a senate committee and may be gone over again by the senate banking quiz now in session.

Passed Upon Loan as Sound.

A general survey of the bank loans made by the RFC is contemplated by the committee, but no suggestion has been made to reopen the Dawes loan especially. The previous investigation passed upon it as sound.

In commenting on the Dawes loan, Chairman Jones said that a total of almost 200 million dollars in securities had been put up by the bank when it was granted a 90 million dollar credit by the RFC. Unable to say offhand how much of this collateral was Insull securities, Jones guessed that it was "less than 30 million dollars."

Release 28 Million in Paper.

Since the time the loan was made in June, 1932, according to Jones, the Dawes bank has repaid $27,775,000, leaving $62,225,000 still to be retired. The amount of repayments does not include interest installments which the bank has met and which Jones did not disclose.

The RFC still is holding all but about 28 million dollars' worth of the original collateral, Jones stated, inferring that the excess originally put up was sufficient to protect the RFC against depreciation of securities such as the Insull paper.

Collateral already released has been in response to repayments by the bank, Jones explained. Similar releases will be made as the rest of the advance is retired.

Settle Ready for Flight to Stratosphere

BULLETIN.

At 3:10 o'clock this morning Commander Settle ordered preparations for the inflation of his balloon for a flight to the stratosphere. At 4:30 o'clock, however, the inflation had not been started, and Commander Settle seemed worried about reports of a rising wind to the northwest. He said he hoped to order the inflation within an hour. The wind at the Fair ground remained almost calm. His ground crew was ready to begin inflation the moment the order was issued.

Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle, navy balloonist, left the weather bureau office last midnight for the Goodyear air dock at 35th street in the World's Fair to prepare his stratosphere balloon for inflation at about 3 a. m. today. He said that he hoped to take off with Maj. Chester L. Fordney, marine corps scientist, at about 8 a. m. unless unexpected high winds caused the abandonment of the flight again.

"A high pressure area is moving just south of Chicago and the surface wind is falling steadily," Commander Settle said, after reading the late weather reports. "At 6 p. m. the wind was 20 miles an hour; at 10 p. m. it was 14 miles an hour, and now it is 11 miles an hour. I have every reason to believe that by 3 a. m. it will have fallen below six miles an hour, the maximum wind in which we can inflate the balloon with safety."

Prepare for Ascension.

At the air dock on the lake front a ground crew of fifty men started preparations after receiving word from Commander Settle that the flight would take place. Canvas was laid on the ground and the 164 foot gas bag was laid out. Prof. Arthur H. Compton, University of Chicago physicist, made a last minute inspection of the scientific instruments in the gondola.

The balloon is to be inflated with 137,000 cubic feet of specially purified hydrogen gas. It will rise slowly as the sun heats the gas and expands it. If it starts at 8 a. m. the balloon will reach the ceiling of its flight, about 58,000 feet, about noon. Then it will float for about two hours as the scientific instruments measuring the cosmic rays are operated. Then, as the sun sinks and the gas in the envelope contracts, it will settle toward the earth, landing about 15 hours after the takeoff. The balloon may drift as far as 200 miles during its flight.

To Ride in Sealed Gondola.

Commander Settle and Maj. Fordney will ride in a spherical all metal gondola, which will be sealed air tight. The air in the stratosphere does not contain enough oxygen to sustain life. The balloonists will breath oxygen from a container of the liquid carried in the gondola.

The temperature at the air dock was 25 degrees as the ground crew prepared the balloon for the flight. The temperature was not expected to affect the lift of the balloon, Commander Settle said.

Commander Settle's first attempt to reach the stratosphere in a balloon was made early in the morning of Aug. 5 from Soldiers' field. He made the flight alone. The ballon rose to a height of 5,000 feet and drifted over the city. Suddenly it began to descend and landed in a railroad yard at 14th and Canal streets. The balloonist explained that the gas release valve in the top of the balloon stuck and allowed too much of the gas to escape.

FORT GIVEN UP; FEDERAL SHELLS BATTER WALLS

Surrendering Troops Are Massacred.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 9.—The counter revolution to oust President Ramon Grau San Martin and reinstate Carlos Manuel de Cespedes ended tonight in a complete victory for the government. The backbone of the rebellion began to break with the evacuation of the San Ambrosio and Dragones fortresses this morning. The uprising collapsed with the surrender of the ancient Atares fortress late this afternoon after a terrific bombardment from land and sea.

A preliminary check of hospitals and the morgue tonight showed 56 dead and 184 wounded in today's engagement in addition to 52 killed yesterday. Morgue officials said they believed 40 to 50 more dead were still lying within Atares fortress and elsewhere. Newspaper men saw 12 dead men lying near a building in Fabrica street, a mile from the fortress. Five were uniformed soldiers and the rest civilians. Two more dead civilians were lying in a doorway, soaked with blood.

Rebels Raise White Flag.

Col. Fugencio Batista, army chief of staff, tonight announced that 35,000 rounds of ammunition were fired by his machine guns and 350 shells by his light and heavy artillery pieces before the rebels surrendered. Two hundred and thirty prisoners were taken by the government forces shortly after the fortress ran up a white flag.

Col. Batista ordered the rebels to throw their arms to the ground and a march was begun to "no man's land." Fifty bodies scattered over the 300 foot cliff commanding the harbor of Havana upon which the ancient fortress rests were removed immediately.

Again today as on Oct. 3, when the 450 former officers barricaded inside the National hotel surrendered, a massacre of defenseless men was repeated by civilians belonging to the "Pro Ley and Justicia" (for law and justice) clan and students of the Caribbean army organization.

"A Tragic Error."

"A tragic error on the part of the rebels" was the only excuse given by the leaders of these organizations for their mass killings. They claimed the rebels fought with the Cuban flag flying from the fortress.

When the rebels decided to surrender they raised a Red Cross flag. Five minutes later they replaced it with a white flag of surrender. While these flags were being exchanged, "Pro Ley and Justicia" officials said tonight, about 40 rebels marching four abreast, believing that the white flag flew over the fortress, started down the hill. The machine guns barked and the rebels were mowed down.

There was great confusion and the rest of the rebels, believing they had been betrayed, fell back to the fortress to resume hostilities for another half hour. The insurgents again raised the white flag, but were subjected to shell fire from the gunboats Patria and Cuba and land batteries surrounding the fort. Three more white flags were raised before Col. Batista ordered firing to cease.

Guerrilla Leader Slain.

Among those slain after the surrender was Col. Juan Blas Hernandez, king of Cuban guerrilla warfare. Dying and wounded loyalist soldiers and civilians were taken to hospitals near the scene of battle in almost endless processions during the fighting. Some were caried in trucks, others on the shoulders of soldiers and civilians.

No truce was declared during the battle, which began at sunrise and ended with sunset. Wounded rebels inside the fortress were without medical attention all day. Today's battle was witnessed by a crowd of 25,000 perched on nearby places of vantage.

Before hostilities began Col. Batista took extraordinary precautions to safeguard foreign properties, embassies, legations, banks and business houses. The counter-revolutionaries had threatened to burn them to force United States intervention should their movement fail.

The evacuation of the San Ambrosio and Dragones fortresses was a surprise move executed between 2 and 3 a. m. The rebels concentrated in Atares and organized their forces.

At daybreak mobs of unemployed looted the deserted forts, carrying away office paraphernalia, saddles and personal property left by the retreating rebels. Later Col. Batista's soldiers occupied both forts. They also seized the police station on San Lazaro street, which was the last position the rebels held in the city proper. Yesterday the insurgents had captured five police stations, but lost them one by one. The San Lazaro station was taken after two hours of fighting. Five soldiers were killed and 20 were wounded. The rebel casualties were 13 dead and wounded. About 60 were taken prisoner.

With Havana cleared of rebels and their main force of 1,500 men isolated at Atares, Col. Batista drew his plan of battle. The gunboats Cuba and Patria were ordered to bombard the fortress on the east with 4 inch guns. Heavy artillery was stationed atop Loma del Burro to the west and Loma del Mazo to the north, two miles away.

Batista Directs Attack.

Twelve 6-inch guns, eight 4-inch guns, two trench mortars, six pieces of light artillery, three 75 millimeter guns and two anti-aircraft guns kept sending a continuous stream of steel and lead into Atares from 6 a. m. until the surrender with the exception of a half hour pause at noon while the artillery waited for more ammunition.

Col. Batista, who was concealed behind sandbags and surrounded by his staff officers about 600 yards north of the fortress, directed the attack. High explosive shells and dum-dum bullets were used. A screen of gun smoke made visibility poor on the battlefield and the artillery frequently missed its target.

The rebels within the fort replied with machine gun fire, two 4-inch guns and one anti-aircraft rifle.

Launches Infantry Attack.

Col. Batista launched an infantry attack at 2 p. m., but it was repulsed with heavy losses. Five high explosive shells from the gunboat Cuba missed the fortress and fell in Havana. One shell killed a woman and five year old girl standing on a balcony a mile away. Another shell wrecked the home of Manuel Martinez, prominent Havana lawyer. His family escaped injury. Two other shells fell in the gulf, passing over the entire city. Another demolished the smokestack of the Cuban Electric company, an American property.

Benjamin Fernandez Medina, Uruguayan minister, with President Grau's consent, interceded with Col. Batista at noon to avoid further bloodshed, but the commander replied:

"My army demands a fight to the finish and complete extermination of the rebels. I can't disappoint them, since on them rests the government's security and the republic's stability."

Sniping at soldiers by civilians and members of the ABC secret society continued in Havana throughout the day. The snipers concealed themselves on tops of buildings. Most business offices, hotels, shops, and cafés remained closed as yesterday.

Snipe at Passengers.

Street car and motor bus service was discontinued at noon because of the heavy firing and the sniping at passengers. No steam or electric trains left for the interior of the island. Rebels are reported to be in control of Matanzas province, where a general strike is still on.

A state of siege was decreed by President Grau at 6 o'clock this evening. No one was allowed in the streets or on balconies after sundown without a military pass. Soldiers of the Caribbean student army were firing at persons violating the curfew.

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, who are reported to have settled differences which put their "perfect movie marriage" on the rocks last summer.

Patch Up Dispute

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, if Variety, the theatrical weekly, is correctly informed, have settled the differences which put the "perfect movie marriage" on the rocks last summer.

In its current issue Variety declares Miss Pickford, who now is in Hollywood, has announced she will not sell Pickfair, the Hollywood estate which she placed on the market in July.

According to Variety, Fairbanks now is getting ready to come back to Hollywood. The weekly continues:

"Patchup came last week during a transocean phone conversation. Miss Pickford called her husband, and both agreed that a misunderstanding had brought about the near wrecking of their marriage. Inside of the splitup situation is that it was brought about through the eagerness of a Hollywood film chatter writer for a front page yarn."

No Word from Miss Pickford.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—So far as members of Mary Pickford's film family are concerned reports of a pending reconciliation between Mary and her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, are "unfounded reports," and she is "unwilling to talk about the matter."

INDIANA SEEKS LIFE TERM FOR "FUR" SAMMONS

Will Try Gangster Under Habitual Criminal Act.

James [Fur] Sammons, Chicago murderer and rapist, will be prosecuted under Indiana's habitual criminal law, it was announced yesterday by Robert G. Estill, Lake county prosecutor. Conviction as a habitual criminal carries a penalty of life imprisonment.

Authorities of Maryland, Illinois, Wisconsin, and the United States government had sought Sammons' custody and Indiana had planned to deliver him up, probably to Maryland, in the event that he could not be identified as a bank robber. Meanwhile a certified copy of the ex-Capone machine gunner's record arrived from Chicago yesterday and Prosecutor Estill determined upon the habitual criminal prosecution.

Rapist, Murderer, and Robber.

Sammons' record includes convictions and sentences to the penitentiary on three charges—rape, murder, and robbery. Two felony convictions, with sentences to a penitentiary, are required for prosecution under the Indiana habitual criminal law in conjunction with another offense, Prosecutor Estill explained. This law was upheld two weeks ago by the Indiana Supreme court.

"I shall file affidavits tomorrow charging Sammons with attempted bribery and with being a habitual criminal," said the Lake county prosecutor at Crown Point.

The attempted bribery charge is based upon testimony of Deputy Sheriff Jack Cook that Sammons tried to purchase his freedom when arrested for intoxication at Cedar Lake on Monday. Arrested with him was Miss Mary Mitchell, 22 years old, who was released yesterday for lack of evidence. Bonds totaling $37,000 have been asked for Sammons.

Is Sought for Robbery.

Maryland wants Sammons for participation in a $47,000 pay roll robbery at Baltimore in 1926. Wisconsin wants him for murder and bank robbery at Shawano. Illinois wants him on a charge of trying to kill three guards in the $85,000 International Harvester pay roll robbery in 1926. He was acquitted of participating in the robbery despite positive identification.

Sammons has been a fugitive since September, when he forfeited a $20,000 bond after having come here voluntarily from Kansas City to avoid being taken to Maryland for trial.

In 1903 Sammons was sentenced to hang for murder during a robbery, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. In 1923 the term was commuted to 50 years by Gov. Len Small and he was paroled in 1924. In 1930 he was returned to Joliet prison after Attorney General Carlson had held the parole illegal.

Sammons was released from prison on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff at Woodstock in July, 1932. An appeal from this release is now before the Supreme court.

Maurice Barnett Asks Parole Without Having Served a Day

Maurice A. Barnett, former jeweler, who was sentenced 32 months ago to serve one to five years in prison for participation in a fake jewelry robbery, will seek a parole before the board of pardons and paroles Tuesday without having served a day in jail.

Barnett's last legal technicality was exhausted Tuesday when the Illinois Supreme court refused his plea to reopen the case on the ground that additional evidence had been discovered. Deputy sheriffs seeking Barnett, who was freed on $10,000 bond pending his appeal, reported that they were unable to find the defendant.

Then Attorney Harry A. Silverstein, representing Barnett, appeared in the office of the state's attorney and filed notice that his client's case would be considered by the board of pardons and paroles on Nov. 14. This notice was followed by a telegram from Springfield from Robert B. Phillips, chief clerk of the parole board, which asked that the state's attorney furnish a statement of the case.

Calls Hearing "Most Unusual."

Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, who has led the fight to put Barnett in prison, termed the Tuesday hearing "most unusual." He pointed out that ordinary procedure calls for a prisoner to serve his minimum term before his case is given consideration by the parole board.

Barnett, member of a family well known in the jewelry business, was indicted Nov. 1, 1929, as the ringleader of the conspiracy in which Mrs. Laura B. Price, wife of a wealthy box manufacturer, allowed herself to be the victim of a fake robbery in order to swindle an insurance company.

Max Krakow, a jeweler, and Mrs. Price were tried and convicted. Both served sentences of six months in the county jail. Barnett also was convicted by a jury and sentenced on March 15, 1930, to serve one to five years in the penitentiary. He fought the conviction through the Appellate and Supreme courts and lost in both instances.

Ponder Case for 7 Months.

In March, 1932, he filed a petition for a writ of coram nobis in the Criminal court, holding that additional evidence had been discovered. After pondering the case for seven months the court denied Barnett's plea. The court's opinion, however, expressed sympathy for Barnett and said that the methods used by the prosecution to obtain the conviction "offend every principle of justice."

The court also ruled that it believed that the Appellate or Supreme courts should finally pass on the statements made in the coram nobis petition.

Both the Appellate and Supreme courts refused to entertain the new plea of Barnett, the Supreme court finally ruling last Tuesday that Barnett should go to the penitentiary. Assistant State's Attorney Mueller announced yesterday that he would appear at Springfield next Tuesday in another effort to place Barnett behind bars.

SEPARATED FROM 'WIFE' BY COURT, HE TRIES TO DIE

Despondent over being separated from a girl with whom he had lived in companionate marriage, George Boyd, 23 years old, 322 North Clark street, attempted to hang himself in a cell near the Women's court at 11th and State streets yesterday. His case had been continued for investigation after his arraignment before Judge Erwin J. Hasten.

Bailiff William Higgins found Boyd strangling on a rope he had made from strips of his overcoat. He was taken to a medical ward in the county jail, where his condition was reported not serious.

Boyd and Miss Esther Ericson protested when arraigned before Judge Hasten that they had been living together without benefit of clergy because they couldn't afford a marriage license and the minister's fee. They asked the judge to marry them, but he put the girl on probation for six months and continued Boyd's case.

Elinor Smith, Record Solo Flyer, Wife of Legislator

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Democrats of the Eleventh assembly district who sent young Patrick H. Sullivan Jr. back to the assembly for his fifth consecutive term in Tuesday's election did not know it but their support was a wedding present as well as a vote of confidence. The bride is Elinor Smith, one of America's best known women flyers, who formerly held the world altitude record for her sex and still has the American solo endurance mark for women. The marriage, announced by Miss Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith of Freeport, L. I., took place on July 30 in Hicksville.

TEXAS GUINAN'S BODY TO REACH CHICAGO TODAY

Plans to have the body lie in state in Chicago have been canceled, but for a brief period friends of the actress and night club hostess will be permitted to view her body at the train. Thomas Guinan, brother of Texas, and members of her troupe accompanied the body from Vancouver, B. C., where she died last Sunday.

MILLIONS MADE BY CUTTEN-LED OIL STOCK POOL

Operator Tells of Profits Without Investment.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—How millions in profits were made from a giant oil stock pool in 1928 and 1929 by a handful of operators led by Arthur W. Cutten of Chicago, without any investment on their part, was described today before the senate banking committee.

Ferdinand Pecora, its counsel, through documentary evidence and in questioning Cutten, developed that the group netted upward of $12,000,000 in handling nearly 2,000,000 shares of Consolidated Oil, which they paid for out of receipts.

It also was brought out that the New York Stock exchange now is making an investigation of the pool.

Cutten, noted grain and stock exchange trader, managed the operations, in which Harry F. Sinclair, head of Consolidated Oil, also participated.

Sinclair to Appear Later.

Sinclair was due to appear today, but illness kept him at Kansas City. G. T. Stanford, his attorney, promised the committee the oil chieftain probably could appear Wednesday or Thursday to relate his part in the transactions.

John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, in a voluntary and surprise appearance, said a syndicate stock account in 1929 in which he and Alfred E. Smith took part was intended to support County Trust company shares after the suicide of James J. Riordan, president, in 1929, and to prevent a run on the bank.

Smith, whose 1928 presidential campaign was managed by Raskob, was shown to have held a 100 share participation in the syndicate.

Raskob said the syndicate purchased 3,794 shares for $916,609, and was closed out on Nov. 15, 1932, when the stocks were distributed and debts owed the Chase National bank paid. He said it was not intended for speculative purposes.

Cutten on Stand All Day.

Cutten, who followed Raskob, was under examination virtually all day. He never smiled and answered questions briefly.

Sinclair, Cutten said, took the initiative in the Sinclair oil transaction, asking $30 a share for the issue, which the company was making to raise additional capital.

The issue was underwritten by several companies, including Blair & Co., Chase Securities corporation, the Shermar corporation, the Cutten Company, Ltd., Continental National company, the Famoth corporation, the Travwin corporation, and several individuals, including Sinclair, Arthur Reynolds, A. M. Andrews, L. W. Hill, and C. O. Kalman.

Cutten and his counsel, M. F. Tompkins, presented a table showing that profits of this group aggregated $12,002,000 with Sinclair's share from a 22½ per cent interest amounting to $2,632,962.

Two Accounts Revealed.

Pecora brought out there were two accounts, the first a purchasing syndicate and the other a trading syndicate. The latter had profits of $418,383.

Cutten said that in addition to buying 1,130,000 shares from the oil company, the pool purchased 702,760 shares at varying prices and sold altogether 1,702,602 shares. Pecora previously had shown that 130,000 shares of the stock were assigned to Sinclair personally and that the pool traded in an even 1,000,000 shares.

The witness told the committee the day the contract for handling the stock at $30 was signed it closed at 35⅝. Later he observed that the per share profits ranged from $11 to $12. The stock now is selling at about the latter figures.

Rarely volunteering any information, Cutten went on into the buying of the shares from Consolidated Oil, telling Pecora the profits were made without putting up any money.

Tompkins intervened to say that the stock was paid for as it was acquired by the pool from the company, although not all of it had been sold, and that $15,000,000 was paid for a 500,000 share block and $18,000,000 for the balance of $630,000 shares.

The attorney said that, as he remembered the deal, $12,000,000 was borrowed from the Chase National bank, of which Albert H. Wiggin, who owned the participating Shermar corporation, was president.

Cutten told the committee that he turned his 22½ per cent participation, on which profits aggregated $2,632,962, over to the Cutten Company, Ltd., of Canada, which he said was owned by brothers and sisters.

Asked by Pecora why he was "so benevolent," Cutten said this company had the money to handle the share, while his own funds were otherwise engaged at the time, although he was the manager of the operation.

Rushing to England

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Mystery again marked the movements and friendship of Cary Grant, British film actor, and Virginia Cherill, Chicago divorceé and one time leading woman for Charlie Chaplin tonight, when Grant suddenly canceled plans for a California vacation and caught a night plane for New York with announcement he was hurrying to England.

Miss Cherill, who could not be located in Hollywood, was said to have departed for London to appear in a film there. The couple appeared together at Phoenix, Ariz., last week, but denied that they had gone to the Arizona city in an attempt to be married secretly. Prior to her divorce Miss Cherill was wife of Irving Alder of Chicago.

Mussolini to Guarantee Private Stocks and Bonds

ROME, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A decree authorizing the government to guarantee the principal and a certain modest fixed interest on bond issues of private companies was presented by Premier Mussolini today to the chamber of deputies.

Its probable result, financial circles agreed, might be a big cementing of all industries.

The measure will have the eventual effect of making the government a channel for all public investments in business, since there will be a cooperative control not only over the operations of business but also over the business forces of life.

Guarantee Stock Dividends.

The proposed law would allow the government to guarantee and participate in stock issues of private companies and would transform the whole industrial capitalizing system of Italy. Regardless of the companies' conditions stock dividends would be guaranteed subscribers.

Should a firm be more than ordinarily profitable additional dividends would be added.

In his report to the chamber, Mussolini said:

"In order to carry on the reconstruction which the economic crisis has made necessary in the industrial field, it appears to be of special interest in the light of experience to assure that participation of the public in a reconstructed industrial enterprise should be based not on credit but on the actual investment of money.

"The investing public must be reeducated to participate directly by the possession of share in productive enterprises. Reconstructed industrial enterprises must be withdrawn from speculative maneuvers. And the absorption of re constructed industrial enterprises into units of too vast proportions or exceeding the possibility of effective control on the part of the management must be avoided.

"The present decree is inspired by the above principles inasmuch as it authorizes the industrial reconstruction institute to issue bonds to a value equal to the share capital of the company to be reconstructed. It provides, moreover, that the bonds shall be guaranteed a small fixed interest and shall share in a specified measure in the profits earned by the reconstructed company above the guaranteed fixed interest.

"The bondholders, moreover, are empowered to convert their bonds into shares of the reconstructed company on conditions that will be fixed by the board of directors of the company.

"On account of the exceptional public interest in the bonds, which are to be issued according to the present decree, the bonds will be guaranteed by the state and will enjoy, moreover, other facilitations permitted by Italian law."

As the first step the industrial reconstruction institute, which is similar to the American RFC, would guarantee a 400,000,000 lire [now about $32,000,000] bond issue for the new Piedmont Telephone company.

Mussolini provided for this move Tuesday when he revealed the enforced reduction of the capitalization of the Piedmont Hydro-Electric company, one of the four largest Italian corporations. He then separated the telephone services from the Piedmont Hydro-Electric company, combining these services into one company for which the bond issue was announced.

May Control Investment Sources.

Since the public traditionally prefers government securities, financial circles said, the action may result in the government financing of all industry, with the government controlling not only the operation of industry, as it now does, but even the sources of industrial investment.

The reconstruction institute for the present will confine its activities to fundamentally sound industries which are in temporary difficulties.

Orchestra Leader Reports Loss of His $2,000 Baton

Joseph Cherniavsky, orchestra leader at the Chicago theater, reported to the police yesterday that his valuable baton had been lost or stolen. The stick, he said, was given to him by the Russian monk Rasputin, and was of silver with decorations of gems. He estimated its value at $2,000. Mrs. Cherniavsky, according to the musician, probably left the baton on a north side elevated train while carrying it home from the theater.

Gang Holds Up Shop; Gets $2,644 Worth of Fur Coats

A band of robbers last night held up the dress shop of Louis Rosner at 6032 Irving Park boulevard and after taking $185 from the cash register seized fur coats valued at $2,644 and fled. Rosner and two of his children were in the place when a man entered, displayed a pistol and forced them all into a rear room. There they were held while confederates of the gunman carried out the coats. Several shots were fired at Rosner when he ran out of the store as the bandits were driving away.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The proposed state constitutional amendment authorizing a 50 million dollar bond issue for soldiers' bonus was favored by about a 2 to 1 vote in Tuesday's election.

Returns from 5,589 of the 7,925 districts in the state show the proposal to be leading, 667,313 to 384,078.

Veterans of the world war, Spanish-American war, Chinese Boxer expedition, and Philippine insurrection are eligible to participate in the payments.

Repeal Margin Grows.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 9.—(AP)—With late returns steadily increasing Kentucky's margin in favor of repeal of the 18th amendment, interest in results of Tuesday's election centered tonight on the proposed amendment to enable the legislature to remove the state real estate tax, and on the contests for the mayoralty of Louisville, 19 senate seats and 100 seats in the house of representatives.

The proposal to authorize removel of the real estate tax developed a nip and tuck vote. Reports from 1,202 precincts throughout the state showed 43,184 votes for the amendment and 41,142 against it. Approval of the amendment, submitted by the 1932 legislature, was expected to pave the way for a sales tax bill at the 1934 session.

Republican Keeps Lead.

The sales tax, storm center of both the 1932 and the special 1933 sessions, was beaten once by the former and three times by the latter.

After leading throughout yesterday's count, Neville Miller, Democrat, who seeks to break a 20 year hold by Republicans on the Louisville mayoralty was trailing Col. Dan M. Carrell, Republican, by 1,743 votes tonight on returns from 199 of the city's 568 precincts. The vote was: Carrell, 20,991; Miller, 19,248.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The ground work for an "orderly, decent procedure" in transiting the critical period between prohibition and legal liquor was laid down today at a White House conference between President Roosevelt and his interdepartmental liquor control committee.

It was the President's first meeting with the liquor committee composed of cabinet officers and departmental chiefs. The discussions revolved about the formulation of a complete policy for dealing not only with the problems of the dry-wet transition period but for coping with the problems of taxation and importation of liquor after repeal is finally accomplished.

Import Medicinal Liquor.

Emerging from the conference, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings promised that "an orderly, decent procedure, under such terms as will discourage and make unprofitable the activities of lawbreakers, bootleggers, and those who heretofore have made trouble for us," would be worked out.

The first step to be taken by the administration, it was indicated, will be the relaxation of the recent import ban on "medicinal liquor." It was virtually decided to lift the embargo to permit the importation of enough liquor to loosen American stocks now being held with a view to repeal and higher prices.

At the same time, it was indicated, following the White House meeting, that there will be an immediate "liberalization" of domestic liquor production. The attorney general made it clear that he will issue licenses for new distilling plants on a much more liberal basis to facilitate the accumulation of sufficient stocks to meet the demand when prohibition is definitely ended on Dec. 5.

Keep After Bootlegger.

As for enforcement of the prohibition law between now and the effective date of its repeal a month hence, Mr. Cummings declared a determination to continue drastic prosecution of the "predatory" type of violator. He emphasized that the big commercial racketeer bootlegger will find no solace in the changed situation resulting from yesterday's decisive vote on repeal.

Mr. Cummings stated, however, that the department of justice will observe a liberal policy in dealing with dry law violators who have been made "semi-innocent" by the repeal vote.

Recommendations for legislation to adjust the country to legal liquor have not yet been drafted, it was said. A committee composed of officials of the treasury, justice, state, commerce, and agricultural departments was appointed at the meeting today to work out details of legislation for presentation to congress when it meets in January.

The vital question of liquor taxation, according to Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, will be taken up by the committee early in December. Hearings will be held at that time on the problem of liquor taxes, Senator Harrison stated, with a view to determining the proper levy on alcoholic beverages.

"We want to get as much revenue as we can without encouraging bootlegging and negative repeal of the 18th amendment," the senator said.

"The immediate problem, however, concerns the importation of stocks of liquor into this country, officials stated, following the White House meeting. Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, declared he would make a survey of present medicinal liquor stocks on hand tomorrow and issue import permits sufficient to bring them to a normal basis. He expressed a belief that the imports would be "minor," and not in quantities that would permit stocking of liquor for sale after repeal.

Subject to Existing Tariff.

It was estimated that Dr. Doran will find it necessary to issue permits for the importation of 250,000 gallons of whiskies, wines, and other alcoholic beverages during the remainder of this month.

After prohibition is repealed, it was said, importations will be subject to the existing tariff act, which imposes duties ranging from five dollars a gallon on hard liquor to one dollar a gallon on beer.

In addition, it was stated that President Roosevelt may find it necessary after repeal to use powers granted him in the national recovery act and establish import quotas for alcoholic beverages. Import restrictions, officials said, will be used not only to protect American producers of liquor, but to encourage the nation to drink wines and beers instead of hard liquor.

It was pointed out that the President, in order to accomplish the latter purpose may use his NRA powers to impose a rigid quota on the importation of hard liquors.

NEW YORK WILL PROHIBIT LIQUOR SALES OVER BAR

Must Be Consumed at Tables or at Home.

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The regulations under which liquor and wine may be sold in New York state when repeal goes into effect, made public today by Edward P. Mulrooney, chairman of the state alcoholic beverage control board, reveal that the old saloon and sale of drinks over the bar will be prohibited.

The board has provided the sale and consumption of liquor in hotels, clubs and restaurants at tables; sale at retail in stores for consumption off the premises, and distribution by distillers and wholesalers.

In a memorandum to Gov. Herbert Lehman, Mr. Mulrooney said the board has kept in mind as its ultimate objective the temperate use of spirituous liquors.

Fight on Bootleggers.

The governor is informed that the rules are of necessity experimental and were formulated with the purpose of driving out the bootlegger, racketeer and speakeasy proprietor from competition with those engaged in the lawful manufacture and sale of liquors and wines.

Provision has been made by the board for licensing retail liquor and wine stores where persons may obtain their requirements and be assured of the quality of the product purchased because sales will be permitted only in the original package of glass containers, affixed with a label showing the alcoholic content by proof and also whether the content is a straight, blended or imitation product.

Retail Quantities Limited.

Under the regulations, no retail license of off-premises consumption shall permit the sale or delivery to any person of more than three quarts of liquor at one time, or wines in excess of three gallons at one sale. Any one desiring a case or more of liquor or cordials at one time must obtain such supply from a wholesaler who is authorized under the rules to take care of this sort of transaction.

Restrictions are placed as to hours of sales. Sales on Sunday are prohibited. On week days, except Saturday, the hours of sale are fixed at between eight in the morning and nine at night. Saturday the closing time is an hour later.

Sale on a general, special or primary election is not permitted while the polls are open.

No license for premises to sell for consumption at home will be granted if such premises are within 200 feet of school or church.

On License Grants.

No retail license will be granted for any premises which shall be located within 1,500 feet of any premises holding a similar license, except in cities having less than 1,000,000 population such license may be granted for premises which are not less than 700 feet distant from any other premises so licensed.

No premises will be licensed to sell at retail unless the premises shall be located in a store, the entrance to which shall be from the street level and located in a main thoroughfare or business center. The board will not permit chain liquor stores. It ruled that only one license shall be granted to any individual, co-partnership, corporation, society or joint stock company to sell liquors or wines at retail for off-premises consumption. This means no one will be permitted to have more than one retail liquor store in the state.

Nothing Else Can Be Sold.

In the store or section of the store in which the sale of liquor will be permitted, the board ruled that nothing else will be permitted to be sold. In department stores, large grocery stores, etc., partitions must be put up in the sections where the liquor will be sold.

No screen, blind, curtain, partition, or thing will be permitted in the windows, or on the doors of the premises selling liquor, to prevent a clear view of the interior of such licensed premises. Retail stores will not be permitted to have on the premises any liquors in any unsealed bottles or other unsealed containers. No booths or screens will be permitted in such stores. No licensee will be permitted to sell on credit. Those under the age of 18, intoxicated persons or habitual drunkards may not be sold any liquor at any retail stores.

No Electric Signs.

No signs, electric or otherwise, will be permitted on the exteriors of retail liquor stores. Each store must have displayed conspicuously inside not less than four copies of a printed price list of the liquors and wines offered for sale.

Retail liquor licensees are forbidden to have any direct or indirect interest in any premises where liquor, wines or beer are manufactured or sold at wholesale or retail liquor establishments."

Drug stores are permitted to sell liquor and wine only on prescription. Each drug store selling liquor or wine must obtain a permit and pay $10 for such permit.

Licenses for sale of liquor and wine to be consumed on the premises also are hedged with restrictions. The 200 foot rule near a church or school or synagogue applies. Hotel, club, restaurant, vessel or car is defined the same as it is under the beer regulations now in force.

"No liquor or wines shall be sold or served in such licensed premises except at tables where food may be served," the rule reads. This disposes of the bar. Bars may be used for service, but not as places where patrons may stand and consume liquor or wine.

Liquor can not be sold for consumption off the premises at places where it is sold at tables. Liquors for consumption can not be sold before 2 o'clock in the afternoon on Sunday, or between 3 and 8 o'clock in the morning other days. No sales may be made on election days.

Credit can not be given purchasers of liquor or wine for consumption on the premises, and no swinging doors are permitted on the premises. The interiors must be kept free from screens, blinds, curtains, or anything to obstruct a clear view. There may not be side entrances and windows must be kept clear of signs, "shall not be opaque, colored, stained, or frosted."

Restaurants, in order to obtain licenses, must be in business for at least one year prior to date of application for license. This is designed to prevent a mushroom growth of places where liquor may be sold with or without meals.

Must Pour from Bottles.

Drinks for consumption on the premises must be poured out of bottles and not any other containers. Each bottle must be marked plainly and have the necessary excise stamps. State taxes in all instances must be paid promptly.

Places having slot machines will not obtain licenses. "No retail licensee shall suffer or permit any gambling on such premises or permit such premises to become disorderly," the board ruled.

Regulations covering distillers and wholesalers also are restrictive. No distiller can engage in any other business and this applies also to a wholesaler.

SPECIAL SESSION ON LIQUOR BILL "BEFORE DEC. 1"

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner said today that the second special session of the Illinois general assembly would be convened before Dec. 1. He refused to be any more definite than that when asked about plans to carry out his announced determination to have some liquor control law on the statute books as soon as repeal becomes a fact on Dec. 5.

Members of both houses as well as newspaper men pressed him to be more specific on this question, which was accepted as assuming first importance this morning when the first special or relief session died an unusual death. The obsequies were performed in the senate by recourse to eight "ghost votes" to establish the two-thirds vote required to pass federal aid relief bill enabling acts, in behalf of four of which the governor was extremely active.

When thirty-eight votes had been recorded five times, with only 30 senators present at any time during the meeting, there was a rush of farewell visits at the governor's office, and everybody wanted to know the date upon which the solons would be called together again.

Undecided as to Exact Date.

But Gov. Horner told the newspaper men that he was torn between two desires: One to allow the lawmakers some rest and the other to get the liquor statute actually under way. He refused to say even when he will make his decision concerning the date. "I'll give them three or four days' warning," he said.

In calling the session just ended, he had announced the convening date about two weeks ahead of time, and legislators expected that, in view of the desire to have a bill enacted by Dec. 6, he would call them back together on Nov. 21, which is one week from next Tuesday. On this basis they expected him to tell them now whether they should arrange their private business accordingly. But so far as could be learned none of his callers obtained any statement more definite than that he would consult with leaders of the two houses before setting the date.

Frowns on "Safety" Plan.

In an interview the governor frowned on a so-called "safety" method intended to make certain of some law on the books on Dec. 6. That method would be to ask the assembly as soon as it meets to pass immediately a skeleton, temporary law placing broad but definite restrictions on the sale of intoxicants, a measure free from controversial matter that would be sure to receive the required two-thirds vote in each house without delay. This enactment, it has been estimated, could be completed in two weeks' time while there is widespread doubt that the assembly will pass its final bill without several weeks of discussion.

If the "safety" law were on the books, it has been pointed out, this delay of final regulations would not leave officers of the state and its local units devoid of any legal powers over post prohibition liquor, as they are now in respect to illicit sales. Also the ultimate bill would be in better shape than if rushed through the final stages.

Propose Two Skeleton Bills.

Supporters of the emergency proposal, including members of the Ward liquor legislation commission, have suggested that if the idea were to be acted upon, two bills should be introduced as soon as the second special convenes—one of them terse and the other a more elaborate skeleton for the final law.

"I do not favor that plan," the governor said. "On the other hand, if the assembly finds it impossible to pass a complete bill within the time limit, it could then take up and pass a temporary law."

One reason for the governor's withholding his decision concerning the second extra session is said to be that he has not yet determined what subjects he will include in the call in addition to liquor regulation. He has had requests to put in between thirty and forty other subjects. He expressed himself as satisfied with the session just terminated.

Governor's Bills Go Over.

Every one of the subjects Gov. Horner proposed for consideration—the last one being the federal aid enabling acts to which he gave a large amount of personal attention last night—was passed with "ghost votes" this morning. Four of these bills, fathered by the Illinois Municipal league, authorize cities, villages, park districts, school districts, and drainage districts to make temporary conveyances of property to the federal government in return for public works loans and to lease it back from Washington.

They were passed by the house of representatives on Oct. 24, but in the senate had been allowed to lag for lack of sponsorship and were about to die on the calendar with the sine die ajournment. Considering them "too sketchy to be of any value," as the public works administration had described a similar bill concerning the Chicago sanitary district which was killed, P. A. Nash, Democratic national committeeman, had advised against support of these measures.

Gets Aid of Nash.

Learning of this situation late yesterday, it is said, Gov. Horner telephoned Nash last night, persuaded the Chicagoan to reverse his instructions to Democrats and brought about the passage of the four measures just before the sine die resolution was adopted.

The "ghost" voting on these bills was condemned particularly because it went beyond the usual type which consists of senators obtaining unanimous consent to being recorded for or against bills voted on in their absence. That custom was used in connection with a fifth bill passed during the day, an enabling act for a number of downstate sanitary districts. A number of senators, told that this fifth measure would be the only one acted upon today, obtained unanimous consent last night to be recorded for it when it came up and then went home. The understanding at that time was that the Illinois Municipal league bills would be allowed to die.

Only Thirty Actual Votes.

But due to Gov. Horner's activity the league's bills were called up immediately after the one agreed bill had been passed and the same roll call, including the "ghosts," was applied to them. According to the records of the secretary of the senate only thirty members were present today. Routine, perfunctory resolutions received only 28 votes, but each of the five bills passed, according to the record, beat the two-thirds mark to the tune of 38 to 0.

As nearly as could be ascertained the senators whose votes were recorded without any volition of their own were H. S. Burgess [Dem., Fairfield], P. J. Carroll [Dem., Chicago], Thomas P. Gunning [Rep., Princeton], Frank J. Huckin Jr. [Dem., Chicago], James C. Mayor [Dem., La Harpe], Mark A. Penick [Dem., Quincy], R. M. Shaw [Dem., Lawrenceville], and Charles H. Thompson [Rep., Harrisburg].

G. O. P. WILL HELP LA GUARDIA SAVE CITY FROM RUIN

Full Support Pledged to New York Mayor Elect.

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The Republican organization, flushed with victory in electing Fiorella H. La Guardia mayor of New York against the combined opposition of Tammany Hall and the Roosevelt-Farley wing of the Democracy, moved officially tonight to help the new mayor rehabilitate the city.

W. Kingsland Macy, Republican state chairman, announced that the state legislature, which will be more decisively Republican as the result of Tuesday's election victory, will get behind La Guardia "100 per cent" in the task of bringing the city out of its financial and governmental morass. Every effort of La Guardia toward housecleaning and charter revision particularly will be actively supported by the Republican legislators.

Central Board of Estimate.

Macy's announcement was made at a dinner given tonight by William D. Chadbourne, La Guardia's campaign manager, to the newly elected members of the city's board of estimate. The Republicans will have 13 of the 16 votes on this board, which controls the city's purse strings and holds sway over the budget which has grown under Tammany to $554,000,000 annually.

Macy denied that he was giving support to any plan to replace Joseph A. McGinnies as speaker of the assembly.

"There is, of course," he said, "no truth in the statement printed in some upstate paper that I contemplate any attack on Speaker McGinnies. As a matter of fact, I had a long talk with him and he understands my position perfectly.

"He promised to coöperate in every way in giving Mayor Elect La Guardia the legislation needed to put into execution reforms necessary to bring about in New York City an honest and efficient government. Senator George R. Fearon, Republican leader of the upper house, was down to see me last evening and he, too, is going to coöperate with Speaker McGinnies and myself to this important end."

Tammany Pay Rollers to Go.

La Guardia has made no secret of his intention to purge the city pay rolls of Tammany officeholders with all the vigor of the wielder of a new broom. There will be several hundred appointments to exempt positions to be made by the incoming mayor. Of these, more than 100 will be to positions of great responsibility at the head of city departments and bureaus. It is believed that La Guardia will make a clean sweep of these upon assuming office.

Another development was the decision by the executive committee of the city Fusion party to organize on a permanent basis.

Mr. La Guardia expressed pleasure at the plan, but declared that he would not be a member or actively interested in its affairs.

Mayor John P. O'Brien, who was defeated by La Guardia, will retire on a pension of $14,933 on Dec. 31. He said today that he would return to the private practice of law.

In the next few days the mayor said he would try to get away from town for a short rest. His previous vacations have been spent with friends at Warrensburg in the Adirondacks.

The mayor has been in city service for 32 years, starting in 1901 as an assistant corporation counsel.

THREE INJURED IN SHERIDAN RD. AUTO COLLISION

Three persons were injured, one seriously, early this morning when the automobile driven by Earl T. Gray, 47, of 3849 Arthington avenue, struck another machine at Barry avenue and Sheridan road. The injured are Chester Levin, 828 Glengyle place; Mrs. Bernice Levin, his wife, and Mrs. Rose Rosenblatt, 918 Margot terrace.

Mrs. Levin's injuries were serious. She suffered a broken collar bone and concussions of the brain. All were taken to the Columbus Memorial hospital.

Gray was arrested by Lincoln park police when witnesses said he failed to stop for a red light at Sheridan road and struck the car in which Levin and the women were riding.

Three deaths increased the Cook county motor traffic toll to 937 for the year. The victims:

John Dauksh, 45 years old, 12942 Carondelet avenue. Died at the county hospital of injuries incurred in an automobile accident at 125th street and Avenue O on Oct. 19.

William Clark, 33 years old, colored, 3914 Prairie avenue. Died at the county hospital. He was struck by an automobile Nov. 6 at 37th street and Michigan avenue.

Unidentified man, about 40 years old. Fatally injured when hit by the automobile of Louis Miller, 19 years old, 4314 West 16th street, at Lincoln street and Chicago avenue last night. He died in the county hospital. Miller said the man walked into the side of his car.

ELECTIONS PROVE PEOPLE AWAKE, SAYS G.F.HARDING

Calls on G. O. P. to Name Able Candidates.

An awakening of the American people to a consciousness of their responsibility in providing against extravagance and misrule in government was seen yesterday by George F. Harding, Republican leader, in the results of the New York mayoralty elections in which Fiorello H. La Guardia, radical Republican, decisively defeated Joseph V. McKee, backed by Postmaster General James A. Farley, and John P. O'Brien, the Tammany candidate.

Mr. Harding also interpreted the final vote as an indication that even the vast influence of the national administration as represented by Farley cannot persuade the voters at this time to choose a man for local office against their own convictions. McKee ran not far ahead of the Tammany tainted O'Brien, he pointed out.

Lesson for Chicago Republicans.

The results should furnish a lesson to Chicago Republicans as well as to the Republican party nationally the necessity of nominating candidates of he highest caliber, Mr. Harding declared. If the Republican party is to stage a comeback, it must present candidates well fitted for the office to which they aspire, he asserted, men believing in honesty, efficiency, and economy, and determined to run their offices in the interest of the people and not themselves. This principle, he said, has been rare in politics in the past.

"The New York election was not so much a Republican victory as a protest by the people against plunder, boss rule, extravagance, high taxes, and many other forms of misrule," he said. "The people have begun to think for the first time. When enough of them think together they will elect only those they have confidence in, and when they lose confidence in an officeholder they will throw him out.

"The whoopee period, the age of graft, are going out. They are through for years to come and forever if the present sentiment among the citizenry remains the same. The voters have begun to realize that they are the taxpayers and the losers when free and careless spending exists in office. They feel that the burden of taxation must be reduced. We are going to be compelled to live within our means."

Sees Citizens' Interest Growing.

The realization is growing in the public mind that each citizen is personally interested in an honest, economical, efficient, and clean government, Mr. Harding said. Results, not promises, will guide the voters in their future decisions, he declared.

The various elections throughout the country Tuesday showed both Republican and Democratic victories, but in every case the trend was toward more economy in government and a higher efficiency, the Republican leader said.

"The Republican party must select candidates in the future whose integrity and ability are above question. There must not be a bad spot on the ticket. The inefficiency, the questionable reputation of one candidate can mar the entire slate. An unusually high level must be maintained in order to gain the confidence of the public."

Asks Able Men for Congress.

"There must be a check to the turning over of all power to one man," he declared. "The headlong rush of the present administration toward virtual dictatorship must be slowed down. After all, this is not Russia and the people are wary of confiding too much power to a leader whose policies, however well meant, have not been given the careful and deliberative consideration which such radical changes demand.

"The heedless spending of hundreds of millions of dollars at Washington must also be checked. Washington will have money to loan only so long as people with money have faith in the government and will buy government bonds and lend money to the government. The people are beginning to remember that all bills contracted must eventually be paid, whether contracted by the county, state, or government. The cost of government must be reduced."

"HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD"

Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN

We quote from her voluntary letter:

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child—9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing had any lasting results. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Bundesen Tells Steps to Check Disease.

An epidemic of amebic dysentery, to which a number of deaths has been traced, was declared yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, to be under control. Dr. Bundesen said there is no need for alarm.

He was joined in this declaration by Dr. Roscoe N. Spencer of Washington, D. C., assigned to aid the board of health in suppression of the epidemic. Dr. Spencer was assigned to the work by Dr. Hugh S. Cumming of the United States public health service at the request of Dr. Bundesen.

The epidemic has been traced to food which became infected by being handled by persons afflicted with the disease or carriers.

Six Victims Chicagoans.

Of the 15 known victims here six are Chicagoans and the remaining nine were visitors at A Century of Progress. Since the beginning of the outbreak, several weeks ago, 100 cases have been reported in Chicago and throughout the country. Merely as a precautionary measure the Congress hotel, according to its own announcement last night, has cancelled one large banquet, being unwilling to bring in the force of extra help necessary to handle it.

The disease is rare in the northern parts of the United States, Dr. Bundesen said. Dysentery is of two types—that caused by the ameba, a simple one celled form of animal life which moves by finger-like extensions of its own substance, and that caused by bacteria.

Both have been common among soldiers throughout the ages and in areas characterized by poverty and poor living conditions. The disease is spread by individuals who have it or who are carriers of the parasite.

It is contracted, Dr. Bundesen said, by eating food handled by its victims and carriers, who are unclean in personal habits. The disease lends itself to prompt control by application of appropriate measures.

Symptoms Are Deceptive.

Unfortunately, the symptoms, Dr. Bundesen said, do not develop for about three weeks. The symptoms are similar to those of colitis and diarrhea, so that the victim rarely is gravely alarmed.

Most of the persons stricken here were people visiting the Fair. Because the victims had left the city before they were attacked it was difficult to trace the cause of their illness, Dr. Bundesen said. Prompt measures were taken upon the reporting of the early cases.

Dr. Bundesen sent questionnaires throughout the country to 15,000 persons who had been guests of the city in order to gather his statistics. Deaths have occurred in various sections of the country as well as in the city itself. The names of the victims are being withheld until positive verification can be made.

Scouts Guinan Report.

Among those reported to have been stricken by the disease was Texas Guinan, night club queen who died last Sunday in Vancouver, B. C., and whose body will pass through the city today. Dr. Bundesen held these reports to be without verification. Miss Guinan's death was attributed to colitis.

The origin of the disease here is unknown. One theory is that it was brought by South Americans who came here to seek employment during the Fair and another that it was brought from the south by visitors with a similar object.

NUDE ART STUDIO INDECENT? JUDGE TO DECIDE NOV. 17

Municipal Judge Irwin J. Hasten announced yesterday that he would decide Nov. 17 whether the Parisienne Life Class studio on the 18th floor of the Garrick building, 64 West Randolph street, is an indecent exhibition.

Three policemen yesterday testified that they had posed as art students and had visited the studio on four occasions. They said they found Miss Diane Joffre, 18 years old, 2114 West North avenue, posing in the nude and a number of men, some of whom were drawing and others just looking.

Virgil Quadri, 33 years old, 1308 Astor street, proprietor and instructor at the studio, testified that the studio was a legitimate art class.

"The drawing of nudes is the first step in art," he said. "There were lots of business men who took lessons in my class."

DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

Mrs. Nellie Le Fevre, 43 years old, died yesterday of heart disease in her home at 2445 East 72d street.

The KNOX DERBY in "Ovalized Sixteenths"

The famous Knox Derby represents the supreme attainment in hat styling. It is smart, conservative and in the finest taste. Equally important is the fact that the Knox Derby is now available in "Ovalized Sixteenths." When Knox made this improvement, they solved for all time the problem of making felts and derbies fit correctly and comfortably. An "Ovalized Sixteenth" is a "natural" that every man will appreciate. Every Knox hat now conforms with one of Nature's three basic head shapes—Long Oval, Oval and Wide Oval, with sizes split into sixteenths for the in-betweens. No stretching out of shape, no padding. # HELD AS SUSPECT IN MYSTERIOUS DEATHS OF TWO

Du Page county authorities at Wheaton yesterday were holding Daniel Oana, 35 years old, 5249 West Lake street, on the suspicion that he murdered two elderly men in order to collect insurance policies totaling $13,000. Oana denied the charges.

Theodore Gabor, 65 years old, who lived with Oana, was found dead in a ditch near Bensenville, in Du Page county, on Aug. 17. At first it was believed he was the victim of a hit and run motorist. Oana, who then gave the name Dan Gabor, identified the body and testified at the inquest that he was a nephew. Insurance, Oana testified, was about $500.

Authorities became suspicious when Oana pressed them to establish the cause of death in their records, which was necessary for Oana to collect the insurance. According to Alan Myers, chief investigator for State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed, it was found that policies totaling more than $10,000 had been taken out on Gabor's life by Oana, the last one a day before death.

Myers said he learned that another man, John Danila, 60 years old, with whom Oana lived at Indiana Harbor, died under mysterious circumstances on March 27, 1928, when fire destroyed the room in which he was sleeping. In this case three policies were collected by Oana, Myers said.

Oana is a janitor, and Gabor did odd jobs.

Woman Awarded $75,000 for Bus Accident Injuries

A jury in the Superior court before Judge Paul McWilliams yesterday returned a verdict of $75,000 for Mrs. Lena Blakeley, 2829 Pine Grove avenue, in her personal injury suit against the Nevin Bus Line company of New York. Mrs. Blakeley testified that she suffered permanent injuries to her left leg and her lungs when she was struck by one of the company buses at South Park way and 49th street last March 4.

Train Conductor Killed When Cars Are Derailed

Claude Sprinkle, 35 years old, 14723 Riverside drive, Harvey, a conductor for the Illinois Central railroad, was killed late yesterday when a train of empty freight cars was wrecked at Halsted street on the spur track leading to the Thornton stone quarry and the Washington Park race track. He was thrown from the steps of a car and crushed by the wheels. Some defect in the track caused the derailment of two cars.

SOUND ILLINOIS CONGRESSMEN ON SUPERHIGHWAYS

Get Views on U. S. Funds for Chicago Project.

BY HAL FOUST.

THE TRIBUNE yesterday asked United States senators and representatives from Illinois whether they would support the move for a federal loan to launch construction of an elevated highway system in Chicago. The construction would follow the recommendations of a two year traffic survey conducted by Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Harvard university bureau of traffic research, in behalf of the council traffic committee headed by Ald. John A. Massen [48th].

In the first responses to the query received last night Congressman D. C. Dobbins of Champaign and Congressmen A. J. Sabath and Fred A. Britten of Chicago indorsed the proposal. Congressman Chester Thompson of Rock Island and Edwin M. Schaefer of Belleville also promised support. Congressman James Simpson Jr., whose district—the 10th—embraces part of Chicago, the north shore suburbs and all of Lake county, favored a federal loan but urged changes in the building program suggested in the McClintock survey.

Telegram to Congress Members.

The telegram addressed to the senators and congressmen said:

"Since a scientific and thorough survey has established the necessity and feasibility of an elevated highway system for Chicago, and since the construction of this improvement could be started this winter as a major unemployment relief measure, will you coöperate with the civic and political leaders of Illinois in demanding a federal loan for this project?

"Will you exert your influence in convincing Washington that this proposal is in keeping with the administration's announced policy of furthering national recovery through the construction of non-competitive improvements of lasting economic value?

"Will you exert your influence in convincing Washington that this section of the country, in view of its tax contributions to the national government, is entitled to this unemployment relief and to this relief from traffic congestion costly in economic losses and in human lives?"

Congressman Simpson's Reply.

Congressman Simpson, who has not attended meetings in Chicago where the McClintock survey has been described by engineers as the most comprehensive street transportation diagnosis ever prescribed for a metropolitan area, replied to this message as follows:

"Will go along with the program one hundred per cent realizing Illinois is one of five states that pay undue proportion of federal expenses and feel that we are entitled to reasonable return. Would suggest that Chicago plan commission work be started on Avondale highway and that highways be built over railroad tracks.

"I feel it is impossible for a proposed plan to be established nearing figure of $1.85 per foot, in spite of college professor's views, as all practical experience shows about $7 per foot is the least cost of present day construction. It also would be very detrimental to property owners to construct super highways in front of homes. Also feel it would be very disfiguring to city except where railroad or elevated tracks have already marred beauty."

Sabath Pledges His Aid.

"I am in complete sympathy with the elevated highway project and will coöperate to the full extent of my ability in procuring therefor a federal loan," said Congressman Sabath's message. "For upwards of three years I have constantly advocated federal loans for needed municipal projects, as evidenced by the first public works bill, which unfortunately was vetoed by President Hoover. The bills introduced by Senator Wagner and myself finally made possible loans to municipal and state projects not self-liquidating in character.

"It is with a deep sense of gratification that my efforts have resulted in federal loans to the nurses' home of Cook county and to the sanitary district of Chicago and I am hopeful of securing prompt approval of federal aid for the connecting (outer drive) bridge. The contemplated loan for the projected elevated highway is therefore in clear accord with my plans, hopes, and activities."

Britten for the Project.

"I will welcome any opportunity to exert all the influence I possess in behalf of an effort to obtain federal assistance for the construction of an elevated highway system in Chicago," said Congressman Britten. "I am ready and eager to arrange a meeting between Public Works Administrator Ickes and officials of Chicago, and will seek an appointment with President Roosevelt, if civic leaders in Chicago desire one, so that the entire plan can be laid before him.

"For a long time I have been convinced of the practicability and feasibility of an elevated highway system, and under present conditions, when construction of such a project would provide employment for thousands of Chicago's unemployed, I am particularly anxious that it be undertaken.

"It is my belief that elevated highways not only to the west side but to the north and south sides as well, would save millions of dollars now wasted in loss of time through congestion. I am ready at any time to do whatever I can to aid Chicago officials in obtaining federal financing for an elevated highway development."

Dobbins to Coöperate.

"The imperative need of an elevated highway system for Chicago," said Congressman Dobbins' reply, "is as much and perhaps more apparent to the occasional visitor in that city than it is to those who must struggle daily with its traffic congestion. I shall coöperate most willingly with your local leaders in efforts to secure federal aid and a federal loan to finance the project, believing it to be in line with the purposes and intent of the President's admirable recovery program.

"The members of congress from Chicago have supported wholeheartedly every measure designed to improve conditions in downstate districts, and I believe they will have our complete coöperation in any worthy effort such as this, whereby a great municipal project may be completed and reëmployment wonderfully stimulated."

Thompson Promises Support.

"I believe," said Congressman Thompson, "public works administration of federal government should advance funds either as loans or grants for the construction of useful public works and buildings and will use my influence in that direction.

"If the necessity for an elevated highway system for Chicago has been established, I believe that federal assistance should be granted in order to help relieve unemployment and take citizens from the relief rolls of the state. I think Illinois is entitled to and should insist upon its share of these funds."

The message from Congressman Schaefer said:

"As an Illinoisan I will coöperate to the fullest extent in securing and demanding our proper share of public works funds and will assist and aid the Chicago officials in all their efforts. However, I will not take any action which would be detrimental or exclude my district from also getting its proper share of the funds."

Congressman James A. Meeks of Danville and Frank Gillespie of Bloomington asked for detailed information about the elevated highway project.

Alleged "Sales" of Plans to Be Investigated.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Because two contracting companies have "sold" to several Illinois cities plans for water or sewage plants to be contracted with federal easy money, the public works administration is holding up almost all such applications from the state pending an investigation, it was learned today.

At the same time inquiry disclosed that the era of easy money is almost closed. Only 635 million dollars remain unallotted today out of the 3 billion 300 millions which Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes started doling out four and a half months ago.

As the easy money funds sink to their low ebb scores of Illinois projects not yet acted on are in danger of being stranded. Among them are the Chicago sanitary district's request for 112 millions, and the application received here yesterday, of the Lincoln and south park boards for $7,445,200 to finish the Outer Drive bridge.

Applications Are Checked.

A check today on 15 or more water works and sewage applications from Illinois which are pending before the easy money administration revealed that two contracting companies are connected with a large share of them.

In all applications with which these companies were concerned estimates of construction costs have been far below those which standard engineering hand books indicate for such work. In addition, the estimates of revenues to be deprived from the prospective plants are held by easy money experts to be too high.

Several of the applications also ask for plants which were characterized today as "far in excess of the capacity of cities either to consume or pay for the water." Others have important data missing.

Suspecting unethical salesmanship by the companies, the administration has its investigators looking into the records. Some will be checked in the central office here and others in the field.

Action Depends on Facts.

What action will be taken depends on the facts uncovered. It was indicated, however, that if the offending companies are dropped by the applicant cities and the applications revised, they may still be passed by the administration.

One of the major questions the investigation will seek to answer is why the applications passed through the state advisory board for Illinois without being changed or rejected.

Asked why Iowa and Wisconsin were getting 21 and 15 water works and sewer allotments, respectively, while Illinois was given only 8, public works officials laid bare their investigation. They attributed the large number of loans in Iowa to efficient work by the state board in whipping applications into shape before sending them to Washington.

Names of the two contracting companies and of the Illinois cities involved in the investigation were withheld.

Greater Part Earmarked.

The low ebb of easy money was disclosed today when a recapitulation of allotments showed that the sum of 2 billion 665 million dollars out of the 3 billion 300 million dollar fund has already been earmarked for specific projects, including President Roosevelt's new civil works plans.

With only 635 millions left, many projects are threatened with being caught in a last minute log jam. Ickes has denied that another easy money fund will be requested of congress. Creating a division to expedite work today, he shifted the emphasis of his task from allotments to the pushing of money already allotted into pay enevelopes and material orders.

The only hope for more money now in sight is that some of the funds already earmarked will be released because of delays or other reasons. This question is up to President Roosevelt.

Chicago May Lose Out.

Among the Chicago projects which may be stranded is that of completion of the Outer Drive bridge. Ickes today acknowledged receipt of the joint application from the south and Lincoln park boards.

The South park board is asking $5,145,200 and the Lincoln park board $2,300,000. Their applications were turned over to Lloyd H. Landau, who has been handling Chicago projects.

Chief stumbling blocks in the way of the outer drive project are said to be the question of bonds which can be put up for security and the settlement of prior obligations.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

PLEADS GUILTY

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Emil J. Wentzlaff, once secretary to a former Republican mayor, pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzling $9,029 of the assets of the closed Boulevard State Savings bank of which he was formerly receiver. Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan of the Criminal court took under advisement until today a plea for probation, but indicated that he would not grant the motion.

Wentzlaff, who is 57 years old, did not take the stand after entering the plea of guilty. Evidence of the state showed that the embezzlement was discovered in an audit by the state auditor in October, 1932. State witnesses said that $4,900 of the shortage was in cash and the rest in gold bonds.

In case the plea for probation is denied, Wentzlaff faces a sentence of one to ten years in the penitentiary.

REJECTS PLEA TO EXHUME BOY, 14, TO STOP TAUNTS

State's Attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county yesterday said he would turn down a request for the exhumation of the body of George Schmitz, 14 years old, of Channel Lake, who died two years ago after being shot with a small rifle. Coroner J. L. Taylor had agreed to order the exhumation at the request of the family if the state's attorney would agree.

Theodore Schmitz, father of the dead boy, sought the order to exhume the body to free another boy, Theodore Jr., 8 years old, from the taunts of schoolmates that he killed his brother. The father testified at the inquest that he was satisfied that Theodore shot George by accident.

Since then, he said, he has had reason to believe that the shooting occurred behind the home of Einar Sorenson, chairman of the Democratic committee in Lake county, and that young Theodore did not fire the shot. Ballistics experts have told him, Schmitz said, that it was improbable that the rifle his sons had could have fired the shot because the firing pin was broken.

Prosecutor Mason said there was not sufficient evidence to warrant the expense of the exhumation.

Bomb Damages Barber Shop, Undertaking Place

A black powder bomb exploded at the double entrance of an undertaking establishment and a barber shop, 1212 and 1214 East 55th street respectively, early today, causing damage of $500. The plate glass windows of both places were shattered. Hyde Park police could not ascertain whether the bomb was intended for the undertaker's or the barber shop. H. A. Mulvihill, the undertaker, could not enlighten them and Mune Kozin, the barber, was not found.

Kelly to Go to Washington for Works Parley.

The creation of jobs here with money provided in the new $400,000,000 civil works program announced on Wednesday by President Roosevelt will give work to 90 per cent of the heads of families on the Cook county relief rolls, Mayor Kelly declared yesterday as plans to determine just what work can be made available were being studied by the heads of the local governments. Of those now on the relief rolls in the county there are 80,000 heads of families able to work.

Yesterday Mayor Kelly was requested in a telegram sent by Harry L. Hopkins, federal administrator of the new work relief fund, to attend a conference on that subject in Washington next Wednesday.

Mayor Calls Officials.

The mayor, upon receipt of the invitation, at once communicated with the heads of the county board, the west and Lincoln park systems, and the sanitary district and suggested an immediate study of work relief projects with estimates of the number of men who could be employed for the remainder of the winter. He ordered similar studies for the city, the school board and the south park system.

The impression was conveyed that when he goes to Washington next week he will take with him estimates of the work and the jobs that can be created throughout the county on the terms set by the civil works administration, whose regulations prescribe that about 70 per cent of the money to be made available must be for wages and salaries and about 30 per cent for materials.

Emmett Whealan, president of the county board and the forest preserves board estimated that these two governments could give employment to 15,000 men, of whom 10,000 would work in the forest preserves, and the remainder at the Oak Forest infirmary, the county jail, County hospital, and Criminal courts building.

The work in the forest preserves, according to Charles G. Sauers, superintendent, would consist of improvements which would permit the millions of visitors to the county woodlands to use them without damaging them. The forest preserves advisory committee, headed by Gen. Abel Davis, suggested such a plan in 1929, but it has not been put into effect to its full extent because of the expense involved, most of which would be for labor.

The relief workers would provide a number of parking places, widen automobile trails, construct pedestrian and bridle trails, build shelters and comfort stations, reforest some 3,000 acres, and carry out flood control projects and roadside planting to cover bare surfaces left by the building of some 200 miles of state and county highways in the preserves.

Other Projects Indicated.

Work in the city, in the sanitary district, and in the three major park systems, it was indicated by the officials, would consist of painting bridges, cleaning of streets and boulevards, repairing and resurfacing of streets, and cleaning and painting interiors of buildings. Mayor Kelly and Mr. Whealan even suggested that the exterior of the city hall and county building might be cleaned for the first time sinct the structures were built.

According to Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, there are on the county relief rolls 80,000 men able to work out of the 117,000 heads of families receiving relief. At present 31,803 men out of the 80,000 are already on relief work.

Dunham to Be Administrator.

It was indicated yesterday that Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Relief commission, will be the state administrator of the new work relief fund allocation to this state. Mr. Dunham praised the liberal terms of the fund. He pointed out that one of the obstacles to obtaining work relief money up to this time had been the requirement that materials had to be furnished by the local governmental agencies.

SEEK TO SPARE FARMER BURDEN OF PROCESS TAX

U. S. Considers Additional Levies.

Governmental agencies charged with the enforcement of the farm adjustment act and the collection of processing and compensatory taxes on several hundred articles used in the everyday life of the ordinary citizen, from cotton shirts to peanuts, are delving into ways in which these taxes can be imposed without putting the burden on farmers and those on the relief rolls.

Thus far the taxes, which are to reimburse the federal treasury for nearly a half billion dollars being paid out to farmers for decreasing their crop production during the next two years, have been applied to wheat, cotton, leaf tobacco, hogs and corn. Similar levies will soon be applied to dairy products and to any other products found to be in competition with the commodities on which the taxes have been fixed.

Fertilizers Are Exempted.

Products used by farmers in their production activities, such as feeds and fertilizers, are to be exempt, according to the law adopted by congress. In accordance with this law, the internal revenue department is taxing any wheat product that comes from the starchy part, or endosperm, and that made from the germ, but must exempt products made from the hull that encases the wheat kernel. Similar exemption must be made for the hull of corn kernels, or the coverings of barley, rye, or other grains.

Now that a tax is being enforced upon users of corn products, the secretary of agriculture is confronted by the task of setting tax rates on commodities not listed by congress which compete with corn. The tax of about 60 cents a hundred pounds on brewers' grits, and of 27 to 30 cents a hundredweight on corn for brewing or for distilled spirits is expected to bring compensating taxes on barley malt rye malt, and brewers' rice, items which were not considered by the legislators who framed the farm relief act.

The tax placed on cotton products has so increased the cost of cotton wearing apparel and cloth sacks that taxes are now being worked out for silks, rayon, coarse paper for bags and the jute which goes into twines and burlap sacks. The fact that farmers use these items in great quantities has produced an element of hesitancy in imposing the taxes, according to reports from Washington.

Bread Prices Increased.

The tax on wheat has caused an increase of nearly 70 per cent in the price of flour in many retail stores. It amounts to a half cent on a loaf of bread, but retail prices of bread have advanced 1 to 2 cents a loaf, or some 20 per cent over former prices The tax on wheat has added at least a cent a pound to the cost of special flours for doughnuts, biscuits, pies, pancakes, cereals, pretzels, noodles, macaroni and spaghetti, crackers and zweiback.

The tax on hogs has increased the retail prices of bacon from 1 to 2 cents a pound in Chicago stores. Pork chops, spareribs and pickled pigs' feet will be increased at least 2 cents a pound at retail, meat retailers report. Here again, only the edible parts of the hog are taxed, that going into fertilizers being exempted for the benefit of farmers.

The processing tax on leaf tobacco, imposed to gain funds to reward farmers for reducing the acreage of certain tobaccos going into cigars, has now brought the probability of a tax on other forms of tobacco.

The adoption of a code by metropolitan milk industries under the farm act has been given as the reason for increased milk prices throughout the country. In Chicago milk has advanced from 9 to 11 cents a quart since last May. Milk prices have increased in other large consumer areas.

Licenses for Processors.

Licenses have been issued to all processors of pecans, walnuts, rice, peaches, apples, pears, plums, prunes, and other tree fruit grown in the west and northwest.

Minimum prices to be paid to farmers for these products are fixed by the government, and regulations govern charges the processors may make to wholesalers and grocers. Similar price boosting measures are being adopted for peanuts.

Other items on which taxes are to be imposed, according to plans of the farm adjustment administration, include beef, veal, mutton, lamb, cottonseed oil, palm oil, cocoanut oil, fish, and seafood products, poultry products, cane and beet sugar, all kinds of sirups and starches, cassava, tapioca, molasses, and oleomargarine.

BANKER W. W. FINNEY IS CALLED EMBEZZLER BY JURY IN KANSAS

Emporia, Kas., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—A jury found Banker Warren W. Finney guilty of embezzlement today. The verdict came after it seemed the jurors could not agree and the judge threatened to keep them until Saturday night.

Today the defense asked that the jurors be polled on each of the twelve points in the indictment. The possible sentence is three to fifty years on each count.

Finney, as president of the Fidelity State bank of Emporia, was charged with having diverted funds to his own use. The trial lasted ten days.

His son, Ronald Finney, accused of sharing in the $426,000 Kansas bond frauds, is in the Topeka jail in default of $75,000 bond. Tom Boyd, state treasurer, resigned rather than face impeachment proceedings.

DOG CAPTURES MAN WHO SHOT GIRL ON BRIDGE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—A Great Dane aided in the capture of a man alleged to have shot a young woman in view of passersby on the Sixth street bridge late today.

The young woman, Madeline Shade of Marmaduke street was taken to Allegheny general hospital with a revolver wound in her left shoulder.

With the revolver in his grasp the youth ran down the bridge approach into Duquesne way.

Metzler and the dog gave chase When near Stanwix street the dog leaped for the youth's throat. His teeth sank into the coat lapel as the magistrate grappled with the man.

Metzler disarmed the youth and turned him over to police. He gave his name as Roy Kreahling, 22, of 810 Arch street.

Rumania Again to Offer U. S. a "Token" Payment

BUCHARIST, Rumania, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The government announced today that Rumania will pay its war debt installment to the United States on Dec. 15 on the same basis as its June 15 payment. On June 15 the Rumanian government made a "token" payment of 2 per cent on its debt.

Critics Fear Inflation and Currency War.

"Exports increased in September to the highest total since the end of 1931. Imports dropped by more than the usual seasonal amount for the month, although the increase over a year ago was greater than in the case of exports.

"According to official estimates, over 600,000 persons returned to work in September and there was a further substantial increase in pay rolls. Factory employment increased by 4.4 per cent and pay rolls by 3.4 per cent. Average hours worked per week were further reduced and hourly rates of wages continued to move higher.

"Movements in the financial markets have been irregular. Both bonds and stocks tended lower during the period under review. The banking figures reveal a steady increase in 'all other' loans and a decrease in advances against securities."

A currency depreciation war between Great Britain and the United State, a byproduct which has been threatening to develop from the Roosevelt gold buying program, today seemed to have been openly declared.

Reports here were that Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the British exchequer, had told the house of commons that England intended to maintain her control over the pound sterling, which the American gold program today forced to a new postwar high of $5.14½ in the New York market.

No Truce with Great Britain.

Since the British have taken every opportunity to force the pound down, contrary to the tendency set by President Roosevelt's gold program, Chamberlain's statement was taken to mean that England is ready to fight for a depreciation in the pound, such as that which existed after England went off the gold standard and before America started buying gold.

That America has no understanding with Great Britain to prevent reprisals was definitely admitted for the first time today by Dean G. Acheson, acting secretary of the treasury. He added, however, that he had received no formal complaints from England or any other country. Acheson said that he did not think that "within limits" Great Britain worried about the effect the gold program had on the pound.

Nevertheless, with the pound gaining steadily and passing $5, experts here believed that the "limits" referred to by Acheson had been reached. They predicted that England will have to force the pound down unless she wants to place it at a disadvantage to the dollar in world trading.

Buy $6,000,000 in New Gold.

The United States continued today its policy of raising the price for domestic newly mined gold, boosting it ten cents over yesterday's price, to $33.15 an ounce. At the beginning of the day this was 32 cents under the dollar price in London, but the depreciation of the dollar abroad during the day finally forced the foreign dollar price for gold above that offered here.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, through which the gold is being bought, revealed tonight that purchases of newly mined gold had amounted to 213,000 ounces and had cost more than six million dollars.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $371,021, making a total of $85,807,604 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

The day's collection of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $10,437.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday ordered 14 properties into receivership under the Kerner-Skarda act He appointed County Treasurer McDonough receiver to collect delinquent taxes totaling $37,000. Attorneys for other property owners paid $74,000 in court to avoid receiverships. Tax receivership petitions were filed in the County court against 20 more properties yesterday. In filing the petitions, the treasurer seeks to collect $39,779 in back taxes.

M'DONALD PRAYS ROOSEVELT WILL FIND 'WAY OUT'

British Premier Speaks at Lord Mayor's Banquet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Prime Minister MacDonald tonight exonerated President Roosevelt from blame for the failure of the world economic conference last summer and prayed fervently that the American President "may speedily find the way to recovery" for his country.

The prime minister delivered his address at the traditional banquet given by the new lord mayor of London, Sheriff Sir Charles Collett, in the historic 15th century Guildhall. American Ambassador Robert W. Bingham was among the guests, which included many richly dressed notables.

Roosevelt Task Big.

MacDonald told his audience that Mr. Roosevelt was compelled during the course of the conference itself to undertake a bigger internal task than any modern statesman ever was called to face. Between the time of his conference with the President at Washington and the convening of the parley at London "American conditions changed," MacDonald said.

"I do not attribute, and should be the last man to attribute, any blame to the President of the United States," he added. "He was compelled to concentrate throughout the activities on his country's internal condition. He had to begin one of the boldest and most difficult experiences in policy of trade recovery that any statesman was ever called upon to undertake.

"We will watch, sometimes with anxiety, but never without fervent hope, that he may speedily find the way to recovery."

Says U. S., Britain Should Unite.

No two nations are more interested in the ample flowing of world commerce than the United States and Great Britain, the prime minister continued.

"We should be partners in every effort to clear the channels," he said, "to clear away the impediments which the rack of war and the shortsightedness of men heaped up to obstruct international trade."

MacDonald viewed optimistically Britain's internal position, pointing out that the imports of raw materials jumped 33 per cent for the third quarter of the year and that exports were up 10 per cent. He cited employment figures showing that 660,000 who were unemployed a year ago are now working. He observed that "we have done this without manipulation of the currency."

Appeals to Germany.

He concluded with an appeal to Germany to return to the disarmament conference, declaring that any proposal from the German government would receive the most favorable and impartial consideration from Great Britain.

MacDonald's speech was almost inaudible in parts of the hall and some listeners registered disapproval by clapping and banging on the wooden tables.

The famous lord mayor's show failed to present the usual appearance today. In order to reduce congestion the show was scaled down to nearly half and it moved at a faster pace than heretofore. A rowdy incident occurred while the procession was passing along the Thames embankment. Students lining the route lighted fireworks in the roadway, scattering horses and onlookers. Nine were arrested.

PICTURES RED AT REICHSTAG TRIAL AS A DON JUAN

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The irrepressible Bulgarian Communist, Georgi Dimitroff, who listened philosophically yesterday as Minister of Propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels called him a little political agitator, bristled with anger today when a servant woman pictured him on the witness stand as a passionate Don Juan.

Dimitroff was the central figure in the testimony of three women before the German court trying five men charged with setting fire to the reichstag last February.

The servant woman, Frau Anna Schreiber, told the court what she had observed of Dimitroff's past. She said she left the employ of the Bulgarian's former landlady because Dimitroff had made unwelcome advances to her. When she described an alleged attempted attack which she said she successfully repulsed, he lost his temper. "I'm astonished at this impertinence!" he blurted out. Judge Wilhelm Buenger, president of the court, addressed Dimitroff angirly: "Have you any questions to ask this witness?"

"It is beneath my dignity to ask this woman anything," said Dimitroff, who is his own defense counsel.

YOUTH ATTEMPTS HARA-KIRI AT ADMIRAL'S HOME

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Nov. 9.—Tendo Miyata, 26, a student of political science, today attempted hara-kiri on the doorstep of the home of Admiral Kyo Takarabe, one of the negotiators of the London naval treaty, today.

Finding that Admiral Takarabe was absent, the youth read to the house boy a document protesting against the London treaty and then tried to kill himself. He inflicted a wound 15 inches long.

The house boy wrested the dagger from the man, who was taken to a hospital. He is expected to recover.

TWO SLUGGED IN HOLDUP.

Four bandits took $300 yesterday in a robbery of the National Candy company, 311 West Superior street. George Zirzow, an order clerk, was knocked unconscious when he walked into the office during the holdup. Sam Rozers, a salesman, was also slugged.

LAY MURDER OF AFGHAN KING TO POLITICAL PLOT

Ruler Shot and Stabbed Upon Leaving Harem.

BOMBAY, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A political intrigue involving the throne of Afghanistan was seen here today as responsible for the death at an assassin's hand of King Nadir Shah Ghazi of Afghanistan. The slain king's 21 year old son, Mohammed Zahir Shah, was on the throne today.

A student, believed to have been repatriated from Germany, shot King Nadir three times yesterday as he was leaving the royal harem. When the bullets failed to kill the ruler, who was a man of great vitality, the assailant knifed him to death while the king's favorites inside the harem screamed in horror.

Blames Blood Feud.

The acting foreign secretary of the India government at New Delhi, Maj. W. K. Fraser-Tytler, meanwhile, blamed a blood feud between families of former King Amanullah, now in exile in Rome, and his nephew, Nadir Shah, for the killing.

"We had been fearing that this might happen for some time," he said. "Factions in Afghanistan are so bitter it is impossible to predict where the event may lead.

"It is significant that the assassination occurred while the Afghan premier, who is the king's half-brother, foreign minister, and the minister of commerce, was touring the northern provinces."

Fear Looting in Capital.

At New Delhi it was feared that Afghan tribesmen might loot Kabul, the capital, and that consequently the historic Khyber Pass would again be the scene of bloody warfare.

Rumors circulated, too, that Amanullah intended to regain the throne with the help of a strong following in certain districts.

Amanullah, in Rome, said he is ready to return as king of Afghanistan if the people are ready to accept the program of westernization that caused his downfall in 1929.

Amanullah denounced Nadir Shah's régime as one of terror, saying, "We lost so many Afghans under him, I can't help feeling a little glad he is gone. Yet I cannot be altogether glad, for he, too, was an Afghan."

Britain Undisturbed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The British government appeared unruffled today over the assassination yesterday of King Nadir Shah of Afghanistan.

One section of the London press charged that the murder was arranged by former King Amanullah, now in exile in Italy. The paper intimated it was an anti-British plot. Amanullah has been dickering for some time with Turkey, Persia and Russia over his return to Afghanistan, which is a buffer state between British India and Russia.

RUSSIA SERVES STIFF PROTEST ON JAP GOVERNMENT

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Nov. 9.—A vigorous protest against the reported flight of nine Japanese military planes over the Amur river, on the Siberian-Manchurian frontier on Nov. 3, was made to the Japanese government today by Ambassador Yureneff in Tokio. He said:

"I insist that such action be not repeated in the future, that the incident be investigated promptly and that the persons guilty be called to account. I am convinced the Japanese government will take effective steps to satisfy this protest."

This protest, coming after several recent unfriendly incidents, emphasizes further the unsatisfactory status of soviet-Japanese relations. In this connection it was noted that the Japanese ambassador, Tamekichi Ota, was not present at President Kalinin's reception today.

POLICE MURDER TRIAL WILL GO TO JURY TODAY

Alibis Are Offered for the Alleged Slayers.

The taking of testimony was completed yesterday in the trial of two gunmen for the murder of Policeman William D. Lundy before a jury in Judge Charles P. Molthrop's court. Defense and prosecution attorneys will present closing arguments today and the case is expected to go to a jury qualified for the death penalty this afternoon.

The defendants are Joseph Majczek, 24 years old, and Theodore Marcinkiewicz, 26 years old. They are alleged to have shot and killed the policeman during a robbery of a delicatessen shop at 4312 South Ashland avenue on Dec. 9, 1932.

Defendant Takes Stand.

Marcinkiewicz took the stand yesterday, after character witnesses had testified in his behalf, and traced his movements on the day of the robbery. Allegedly accounting for every move during the day, the witness told of thawing a water pipe for a tenant in one of his father's houses and said he ended the day by attending the first communion of a neighbor's child at Sacred Heart church.

Steven Majczek, a brother of the other defendant, testified for the defense. He said that he had visited his brother from 3 o'clock on the day of the robbery and remained an hour, the time during which the shooting occurred. Majczek, who has a police record, did not take the stand.

Defense Closes Case.

The defense closed its case after the testimony of Majczek's brother. The closing arguments will start this morning. Mrs. Vera Walush, owner of the shop in which the shooting occurred, had taken the stand for the state at a previous hearing and pointed out the two defendants as the men who did the shooting.

Nine sentences yesterday brought to 558 the number of criminals sentenced to the penitentiary since the opening of the war on crime. Those sentenced yesterday were:

ADOLPH KEMPTES, 17 years old, and EDWARD UNICH, 17 years old, sentenced by Judge Philip L. Sullivan to one year to life for burglary of the Benjamin Hartson Ice Cream parlor in Berwyn.

JOHN CHILDRESS, 16 years old, a Negro, sentenced by Judge Sullivan to one year to life for robbing Morris Bellows, 3340 Le Moyne avenue, of $12.

WILLIAM C. DAVIS, 29 years old, sentenced by Judge Michael Feinberg to serve one to five years for bigamy. Davis married Edith Hall, 933 Belmont avenue, on July 29, after deserting his first wife five years ago.

JOHN A. FAIRCLOUGH, 35 years old, sentenced by Judge Feinberg to serve one to ten years for the embezzlment of $4,350 from the Waddells-Rex Products company, of which he was formerly bookkeeper.

ALOIS BOL, 24 years old, and MELVIN BRENDL, 20 years old, sentenced by Judge Francis B. Allegretti for the $1,400 robbery of the Loose-Wiles Biscuit company, 3259 South Ashland avenue, on Sept. 7.

MELVIN TRESIZE, 21 years old, sentenced by Judge Allegretti to serve one year to life for robbery and one to fourteen years for manslaughter, the sentences to run concurrently. Treize took $85 from the delicatessen of John Zaffer, 42 West Division street, on July 31. Later that day he shot and killed his common law wife, Helen Rusnak, 18 years old, in their apartment at 318 Center street.

THOMAS BURKE, 48 years old, sentenced by Judge Harry B. Miller to serve one year to life for robbing Harry Baitman, 3101 Cottage Grove avenue, of $3 on Aug. 6.

Youth Issues False Notice of Wedding; Gets Jail Term

Earl Marbury, 25 years old, 419 North Clark street, who said he was a former student at the University of Wisconsin, was taken before Municipal Judge Howard W. Hayes yesterday on a charge of criminal libel and later sentenced to 60 days in jail for contempt of court. The alleged libel consisted of his publication of a newspaper announcement of his marriage to Evelyn Stalle, 16 years old, 6354 North Hermitage avenue, a Senn High school student. She and her mother denied that there had been a marriage. Judge Hayes imposed the contempt sentence when Marbury persisted in his declaration that they had been married. A court psychiatrist is to examine Marbury.

Seeks More Alimony

MISS DALE KLAPPROTH.

Miss Dale Klapproth, 211 East Chestnut street, filed a petition yesterday before Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Superior court asking an increase in alimony from George Curtis Bird, whom she divorced on Feb. 2.

Her petition, filed by Attorney Percival E. Thompson, charges that while Bird is only paying her $40 a month he has been giving exclusive hotel parties for his present fiancée, for whom he also bought a $500 engagement ring. Bird's engagement to Miss Barbara Senn, 1242 Astor street, was announced Sept. 13.

At the time of the divorce, the petition states, Bird testified that he was making only $30 a week. Now, Miss Klapproth charges, he is general manager of the Bird-Sykes company, automobile dealers, and receives at least $500 a month.

Miss Klapproth, who resumed her maiden name after the divorce, states that she is under the care of a physician and needs more income. Judge Desort gave Bird ten days in which to file an answer to the petition and set the hearing for Dec. 8.

$3,020 IN CASH TAKEN IN TAVERN, OFFICE HOLDUPS

Bandits got $3,020 in cash in two carefully planned robberies yesterday. Anthony Brunke, owner of a beer tavern at 1900 Wolfram street, was held up by five armed men when he returned to his tavern from the bank after drawing out $1,200 to cash checks. His wife, Clara, and son, Harold, were forced to lie on the floor with him while the bandits took part of the money from his pockets and the rest from a hiding place.

Walter Majiewski, manager of the Fourth American Roofing company, with offices at 1415 North Ashland avenue, was waylaid by two armed bandits at the office entrance. He was taken inside, where two employés had been bound already, and robbed of $1,820 he had just obtained at a bank. He was tied also. Florian Zielinski, 3843 Addison street, one of the employés, freed himself and called police.

Neither gang of bandits was apprehended.

Resists Robbers on Street and Is Fatally Stabbed

Ole Olson, 33 years old, of 525 Hartland court, was fatally stabbed last night as he was walking toward his home in Lincoln street at Carroll avenue. On his way to the county hospital, where he died a few hours later, Olson told Warren avenue police a Negro holdup man stabbed him when he resisted. Olson, who was married and the father of four children, was an unemployed teamster.

DIES AS RESULT OF FALL.

Otto Dahlke, 40 years old, 1918 North Oakley avenue, died in the County hospital yesterday from a skull fracture suffered Sunday when he fell down a flight of steps in his home.

men carrying pistols walking in and out of it. A search of this place showed that it had been newly furnished and the buying of the furniture was traced to the Touhyites. In the place we also found clothing that belonged to these men.

Remembers Number of Steps.

"Factor was held here for one night while the kidnapers conducted negotiations for ransom. Blindfolded, he remembered the number of steps to the porch, the distance between doors, and other pertinent information. Returning to the house, he went through the movements he had previously gone through blindfolded and the information checked. This undoubtedly was the place in which he was imprisoned.

"Later he was removed to another cottage. All that we know of it is that Factor remembers it was between two railroad tracks. But the case that we built up against the Touhys is better than was ever built up against any other kidnaping gang. I think it's good enough to send them all to the electric chair.

Nitroglycerin Cache Found.

"In the yard we dug up a cache containing two jugs of nitroglycerin. That's enough to blow up any building in Chicago. It was there in case some of the members of the mob needed explosives for safes or bank vaults. They apparently had an explosives expert among them, as they had carefully buried this stuff with an old bedstead over it so the sun wouldn't heat it up enough to blow the house and its occupants to little bits."

All the nitro, Mr. Purvis added, has been destroyed except a little that was saved for evidence. It was his opinion that all the kidnaping activities of the Touhyites had brought in at least $400,000.

Informants other than Mr. Purvis disclosed that three witnesses who had definite knowledge of the Factor plot were ready to testify against the Touhy gang when or if they are tried here. One of these is a woman who had been engaged by Roger Touhy to cook for the captors and captive in the Glenview house. Another is this woman's son, who was employed by the Touhys to guard another of their strongholds in the county. The third, it was said, is the man who pointed out Factor to his kidnapers on July 1, the day of the abduction.

Jones' Confession Complete.

The investigators of the Jones-Swolley-Souder gang, it was reported, believe that their evidence is just as complete as that of the government against the Touhy gangsters. This is largely due to the fact that Jones' confession was rather complete and its details fitted in with previously known facts.

William Urban of Peoria, he said, was the first of the victims. From him they collected $100,000, after he had been held in Souder's home in Aurora and in Joliet. Jones said that John [Handsome Jack] Klutes, a college graduate, was one of the principal figures in the kidnaping gang and one of its most efficient negotiators.

James Ward, a Chicago Heights bootlegger, a $45,000 haul, was the second they took. He was held, Jones said, in Pana and his ransom was paid in Decatur.

Hackett was the third victim. He first paid a ransom of $75,000 after being kidnaped. The abduction gang then learned that the government was trying to make Hackett pay a huge income tax. This convinced them that he had been let off too lightly and he was retaken. On that occasion he convinced his captors that he had little money left and was let go for only $1,500.

Trap Him on Road Home.

Jones told how his fellow gangsters had traced Hackett to Hot Springs, Ark., and watched him there a long time before learning when he was coming back to Chicago. When he left in a car the watcher in the southern city notified his pals and they caught the victim on the road. He was held prisoner in Aurora while the ransom payment was being arranged.

The next of the victims was John J. Lynch, head of a wire service for bookmaking establishments. Lynch fought when he was seized on the road to Lake Geneva and the kidnapers—Jones said reluctantly—had to knock out a few of his teeth and break two ribs to quiet him. He was kept in a house at Aurora.

It was said that Al Capone had conducted the negotiations for Lynch's release and that the kidnapers, undaunted by the gang chief's big reputation, made him meet all their terms as to meetings and payments. The ransom in that case was $50,000.

Jack Bivens of Aurora, according to Jones, paid $11,000 for his freedom and another man named Ollinger, who was seized in 1931, paid $75,000.

It was learned yesterday that the prisoner, Gale Swolley, is under indictment at Rock Island for an automobile theft. On Wednesday it was incorrectly reported that his first name was Dean. Gale Swolley has a brother Dean, but the latter had no part, it was said, in the kidnaping plots. Dean was convicted of an automobile theft in Rock Island and sentenced to the penitentiary in June, 1932, to serve one to twenty years.

DIES OF SLEEPING POTION.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Guns leveled at their backs, four members of Roger Touhy's Chicago gang watched today the selection of a jury to try them on charges of kidnaping William Hamm Jr., wealthy brewer, for $100,000 ransom.

The presence of twenty officers, heavily armed, and the careful selection of spectators to the federal courtroom were calculated by the government to keep allies of the hoodlums on the outside and to prevent any attempt to liberate them.

Nine Jurors Chosen.

Nine jurors, including two housewives, were chosen tentatively.

While Touhy, chieftain of the gang authorities claim abducted the millionaire president of the Theo. Hamm Brewing company last June 15, took a lively interest in the first day's proceedings, Hamm himself stepped in to scan the crowded courtroom.

Counsel said many more prospective jurors would be picked before the start of elimination down to the final twelve and two alternates.

Armed with Tear Gas.

The four defendants were brought to the courtroom flanked by armed guards. Behind Touhy sat a deputy United States marshal holding a tear gas gun.

In the rear of the room city policemen and deputy sheriffs were stationed, also heavily armed. Outside corridors teemed with law enforcement officers, who kept the curious from congregating.

KIDNAP SON OF RICH MERCHANT IN CALIFORNIA

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 10 [Friday.]—(AP)—Brooke Hart, 22-year-old son of A. J. Hart, San Jose department store proprietor, was reported by police today to have been kidnaped as he left the store late yesterday afternoon. At 1:30 a. m. today Hart's car was found just off the Calaveras road, 10 miles northwest of San Jose, and officers were seeking to trace the kidnapers from there.

Young Hart, who last September became a member of the firm of L. Hart & Son, owned by his father, was unusually punctual in his habits. When he failed to appear at home and had not been heard from for hours an intensive search was instituted.

Officers told of what was believed to have been a previous attempt to kidnap the boy. Three weeks ago three men in a large car tried to crowd Brooke's automobile to the curb. Unsuccessful, they followed him for several blocks, until he outdistanced them in his speeding car.

DE VALERA PLANS TO END PENSIONS OF 1916 REBELS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 9.—President Eamon de Valera's government announced today at the Fianna Fail party convention that pensions paid volunteers in the 1916 insurrection against Great Britain will be withdrawn under a bill to be introduced in the dail eireann shortly.

Most of the pensioners have supported the Cosgrave party and now the United Ireland party, and it is felt in some quarters that withdrawal of the pension may provoke a serious situation.

The announcement, made by Defense Minister Frank Aiken, developed from a motion to refuse a pension to Gen. Owen O'Duffy, United Ireland party leader. De Valera opposed the motion. He said that to accept it would be to approve the spoils system of certain other governments. The motion ultimately was withdrawn.

SON OF PRESIDENT, HOME FROM EUROPE, PARRIES QUESTIONS

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Young James Roosevelt, son of the President, proved today when he returned from Europe on the Italian liner Rex to have inherited some of the diplomatic ability of his father.

He and his wife during their five weeks abroad paid calls on Prime Minister MacDonald of England, President Le Brun of France, Premier Mussolini of Italy, and the pope. They were personal calls, but even so, young Mr. Roosevelt, remembering his father's position, commented on them only in the most guarded generalities.

He was met at the pier by his mother, who kissed him and her daughter-in-law and then left, saying, "I am due for a train for Washington and trains don't wait, you know."

On the way up the harbor, Mr. Roosevelt laughed off reports that he had gone abroad to discuss an agency for a champagne company. He was asked what Mussolini thought of us.

"It would hardly seem proper to make comment, would it?" he asked, but then he added: "I'd say he demonstrated great interest in America and great friendliness for America. Is that a sufficient generalization?"

As to Europe's opinion of the NRA: "No one would tell me anything but polite views. It would be difficult to do anything else."

Things are "distinctly on the upgo" in England, he said, and "distinctly on the upgrade" in Italy.

LAWYER FRANEY GETS ONE TO TEN YEARS FOR FRAUD

Attorney William Franey was sentenced yesterday by Judge Walter P. Steffen to one to ten years in the penitentiary for the embezzlement of $7,500 from Mrs. Katherine Kehoe, 2853 Lehigh avenue. Motion for a new trial in behalf of Franey, who was convicted by a jury, was overruled by Judge Steffen.

Mrs. Kehoe, invalid widow of a policeman slain in line of duty, was carried into court during the trial and testified from a stretcher.

She charged that the attorney turned to his own use money intrusted to him after the death of her husband, Sergt. Thomas Kehoe, who was killed by a bandit in 1927.

8 BANDITS RAID STORE; TAKE LOOT VALUED AT $11,000

Eight bandits last night invaded the women's apparel shop of Max Schy, 3610 West 26th street, and pointed guns at the proprietor and two dozen women while they looted the place. They escaped with money and merchandise valued at more than $11,000.

The loot consisted of $800 in cash taken from the register, Schy's diamond ring, valued at $650, 75 sealskin coats, valued at $8,000, and 150 dresses valued at $2,000.

ENDS LIFE BY GAS.

Walter Page, 67 years, 3142 Fulton street, committed suicide yesterday by turning on the gas in the kitchen of his home. His wife, Pauline, told police that he had been despondent.

U. S. Indicts 2 Women Who Helped Verne Miller to Escape

Two women who helped Verne Miller, the sheriff who turned bad man, in his escape a week ago from a trap laid by federal agents in Chicago, were named yesterday in a federal indictment charging them with obstructing justice through harboring a fugitive.

The women, Bobbie Moore and Vivian Gibson, are both in custody. They were indicted several days ago, but the indictment was suppressed and was not made public until yesterday. Judge James H. Wilkerson fixed their bonds at $50,000 each.

Accuse Him of Many Crimes.

Miller, a former South Dakota sheriff and an ex-convict, is sought for half a dozen major crimes, including the murder of Policeman Miles Cunningham following a federal reserve bank mail robbery in September. He has also been identified as a participant in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil man, for which Miller's associates, George [Machine Gun] Kelly and Harvey Bailey, are now serving life terms in Leavenworth penitentiary, the massacre of four officers and their prisoner, Frank Nash, in Kansas City on Jun 17, and a St. Paul robbery in which a policeman was killed.

Federal agents had known for some time that the Gibson woman, who also has used the name of Matthews and is the daughter of a farmer living near Brainerd, Minn., was a sweetheart of Miller. She came to Chicago recently and was traced to the Sherone apartment hotel, 4423 Sheridan road. Agents of the United States department of justice found that Miller was staying there with her.

Shoots His Way Out.

Agents surrounded the building on the night of Nov. 1, when Miller was known to be there, but Miller shot his way out of the trap and escaped in a car driven by the Moore woman. The Gibson woman was arrested in Miller's room in the hotel. The Moore woman surrendered Monday at the federal building.

She said that she had seen nothing of Miller since they both abandoned their car, torn by the bullets of the agents and police, a few blocks from the hotel. Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the department of justice agents in Chicago, expressed the hope that the Moore woman, at least, would get a long prison term.

"She helped Miller in several previous escapes from law enforcement officers, we are informed," he said.

She is the widow of Jake Harris, a New York gangster who was killed two years ago, and has also used the name of Bobbie Williams about Chicago. Miller has been named in underworld gossip as the man who killed her husband.

CHICAGO LOOKS UP WAR HEROES 15 YEARS LATER

They, Too, Will Observe Armistice Day.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Among those who will celebrate Armistice day tomorrow will be thousands of Chicagoans whose deeds of valor in France were unrecorded, as well as a handful of men whose bravery in action was recognized officially with the awarding of combat medals for bravery.

From the latter a few names were picked at random and their present whereabouts and occupations verified. Many said they would celebrate Armistice day with other veterans by recalling those friends who died in the war. The former heroes were found engaged in various occupations. One was unemployed.

Medal of Honor Winner.

A Congressional Medal of Honor winner, one of the few in Cook county, Thomas A. Pope, 38 years old, of 201 South Walnut avenue, Arlington Heights, is a supervisor in the state highway department. He is married and the father of three daughters. In his absence Mrs. Pope was asked what she knew about the incident leading to her husband's decoration. "He's never told us much about it," she replied.

The formal citation states that Pope, a corporal in company E, 131st infantry, 33d division, at Hamel, France, was advancing with his company on July 4, 1918, behind tanks, when halted by machine gun fire. "Going forward alone," the citation reads, "he rushed a machine gun nest, killed several of the crew with his bayonet, and, standing astride of his gun, held off the others until reinforcements arrived and captured them."

Dr. Charles M. Fox of 42 North Waller avenue, professor of gynecology at Loyola university, who won the Distinguished Service Cross, told of the events preceding Oct. 28, 1918, when he was wounded near Bantheville, France. He was captain in the medical corps assigned to the 353d infantry, 89th division, and as such was in charge of a battalion dressing station.

Cares for 800 Casualties.

"I was there ten days and nights, during which time I took care of 800 casualties and slept little," he recalled. "All but three of the 35 men in my command were killed or wounded."

His D. S. C. citation reads: "Although he was suffering from the effects of gas, Capt. Fox maintained his battalion dressing station under terrific bombardment of gas and high explosive shells, which had almost demolished his station, continuing to care for the wounded and refusing to be evacuated until blindness rendered him unable to work."

Mrs. John Francisco, wife of a package carrier for the postoffice, living at 2527 North Mason avenue, was reached while her husband was at work.

She said her husband, a Chicagoan whose parents were born in Italy, met her when he was in Luxembourg after the armistice and later returned there from America and married her. He was 19 years old in 1918. "I know only what I read in a book about his medal," she said.

Captures Four Machine Guns.

The D. S. C. citation regarding Private Francisco of Company M, 132d infantry, 33d division, reads: "Private Francisco displayed remarkable heroism and leadership. During the afternoon the enemy made three strong counter attacks, and it was during these attacks that Private Francisco gathered together fragments of squads and assumed command of them. He led them against the enemy, approaching from the rear of the right flank, and was personally responsible for the capture of four machine guns and five prisoners."

Charles E. De Leuw, 259 Woodland road, Highland Park, an assistant chief engineer in the Chicago bureau of subways, described the action for which he was awarded the D. S. C. He was then a first lieutenant with the Fourth engineers, Fourth division, and was in command of a detachment building a bridge for cavalry 300 yards from the German lines near Ville-Savoye on Aug. 11, 1918. Later he was wounded in the Meuse-Argonne and still later commissioned a captain.

"All my men were suffering from gas," he recalled. "It was on the Vesle river, and gas and bombardment from machine guns were plentiful. We worked every night for ten nights, returning for sleep in the daytime three miles back of the line."

Clerk for Judge Jarecki.

Eighteen years old at the time, Sidney Holzman, 1113 East 81st place, wiry red haired clerk to County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, was a private with a machine gun company in the 132d infantry in the Bois-de-Foret Oct. 10, 1918. For six days a battalion of his regiment and the entire 39th infantry were cut off from their supports, he recalls. Each day the 39th had dispatched a runner to the 59th infantry, in the rear, telling of its position, and six runners were killed in as many days. Holzman and Private James J. Snyder volunteered to deliver the message.

"I knew the route," said Holzman. "When Snyder and I set out we read the message, which said, 'For God's sake send help.' We set out running. I heard a gas shell go. Snyder collapsed in the fumes. He died last year, having been hospitalized all that time. I carried him to a protected place and then delivered the message. There was nothing to it, as I knew a fairly safe route."

In another court, that of Circuit Judge Joseph Burke, was found Bailiff Michael J. Cullen, who as a corporal in Company K, 364th infantry, 91st division, received the D. S. C. for action near Eclisfontaine on Sept. 28, 1918. The citation reads:

"With six other soldiers he responded to a call for volunteers to go 400 yards beyond the front line to bring in wounded comrades. Under terrific machine gun and shell fire he assisted in the rescue of seven wounded men, also bringing in the body of a company lieutenant."

Enlists at Age of 42.

Harry R. Chadwick, who enlisted in the world war at the age of 42 years, after having served in the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection, and at the Mexican border, is employed in the electrical department of the Chicago Surface Lines. He resides at 4907 Shubert avenue, is married and the father of three children.

Now a major on the retired list of the Illinois National Guard, Chadwick was a captain of a machine gun company with the 132d infantry, 33d division, on Oct. 11, 1918, near Bois-du-Fays. He remained on duty, although twice wounded, for several hours, the citation shows, "constantly exposing himself to enemy fire as he moved along the front line to encourage his men. He remained on duty until exhausted from loss of blood."

Now a printing salesman, Herman H. Weimer of 5001 North Western avenue was lieutenant with the 131st infantry, 33d division, and received the D. S. C. for action near the Bois-de-Chaume on Oct. 9. Later he was made a captain. Although wounded three times, Weimer, in charge of Company H, remained on duty and led an advance. "Upon being ordered to the rear by his battalion commander he returned to his company as soon as his wounds had been dressed," according to the citation.

Captain Wins the D. S. C.

Robert Wigglesworth, then a captain in the 132d infantry, later a major, received the D. S. C. for his bravery near Consenvoye on Oct. 9. He now is chief of guards at the World's Fair and resides at 3128 Washington boulevard. The citation reads:

"When the two platoons he was leading in attack were held up by terrific fire from two machine guns he ordered his men to lie down, and he, single-handed, rushed one nest, killing the gunner and capturing the crew. He then forced the surrender of the second gun crew."

Mrs. Ada Goodman, wife of Lionel, 38 years old, said that her husband was disabled and unemployed. She is employed by the veterans' service department of the Illinois Emergency Relief, 1850 Washington boulevard. They live at 521 Thomas street, Forest Park. As a private in headquarters' company, 125th infantry, 32d division, Goodman acted as a runner during the taking of the line near La Tuilerie farm, near Verdun, Oct. 11-13, 1918.

According to the citation, "Goodman was engaged in carrying important messages, crossing and recrossing Death Valley between Hill 258 and Cote Dame Marie, the foremost part of the line held by the Third battalion. The valley was swept by machine gun fire, the terrain affording absolutely no protection, requiring a perilous dash of 500 yards across open ground before any cover was reached. It was only by a display of supreme courage that important messages reached the battalion."

Takes Machine Gun Nest.

Stanley F. Cerbin, 35, of 4242 Melrose street, who enlisted when he was 18 years old, is an electrical engineer with the sanitary district, married, and the father of three sons. His D. S. C. citation:

"On Oct. 4, 1918, Sergt. Cerbin [Company H, 18th infantry, 1st division] led a small group through heavy fire and captured an enemy machine gun nest with its crew of 6 men. The following day he again assisted in the capture of a machine gun nest. Sergt. Cerbin later, after all officers had become casualties, took command of the company and led it forward to its objective."

Cited for entering a dugout near Bois-de-Forges on Sept. 26 and capturing 12 prisoners, Sergt. Earl J. Cheevers, who was with headquarters' company, 132d infantry, is now operating a restaurant at 3551 North Halsted street. He lives with his wife and two daughters at 1627 Ainslee street.

GOV. HORNER ASKS ALL ILLINOIS OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner today issued a proclamation calling upon residents of Illinois to join in the observance of Armistice day next Saturday.

The proclamation follows:

"Fifteen years have passed since the armistice of Nov. 11, 1918, brought to an end the greatest conflict in the history of the world—the war that was fought to end war forever. In that epochal and tremendous struggle the lives of thousands of Americans were sacrificed to great ideals and high purpose.

"To them, to their comrades still living, to the families of both living and dead the nation owes a debt of reverence and gratitude which it can never adequately repay.

"By remaining true to the ideals for which our departed heroes sacrificed themselves, our people have striven to keep faith with the invisible legion of the honored dead.

"Wholesouledly the nation throughout the years, has paid and will continue to pay homage to those who gave their lives for it and for the cause of humanity.

"It is fitting that this day each year should be set aside as an outward manifestation of our mourning and affection for those whose unselfish patriotism and devotion to their country will always be a national inspiration.

"I designate Saturday, Nov. 11, as Armistice day and urge that it be observed as a just and well merited tribute to the dead and living whose sacrifices have preserved our national integrity and security and thereby maintained for the world American idealism.

"Upon the stroke of 11 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 11 let there be a general cessation of all activities throughout the state, that our citizens may, with heads bared, face east for a period of two minutes in silent and reverent homage to those heroes of the world war for whom taps have been sounded.

"And I direct that on this day the national emblem be displayed on all public buildings throughout the state."

32 National Groups Give Dinner for Fair Executive

Maj. Felix J. Streyckmans, head of the foreign participation division of the Fair, last night was the special guest at a banquet at the Hamilton club. Hosts were the representatives of the 32 national groups which participated with special programs at the Fair during the summer. Beauty queens of 29 nations, chosen at the Fair, were introduced by John J Palendeck, toastmaster and representative of the Czechoslovakian group. Maj. Streyckmans handled all foreign participation at the Fair from the time he joined the organization in February, 1928.

Fire Salute at Fair Today for Austrian Minister

Edward Prochnick, Austrian minister to the United States, arrived here yesterday to pay an official visit to A Century of Progress. He was met by Michael F. Gertin, Austrian consul, and taken to the Blackstone hotel. The Austrian minister will make his visit to the Fair today. He will be welcomed by a fifteen gun salute and will be guest of honor at a luncheon in the Administration building.

Sky Towers to Resemble Barber's Poles.

Chicago will offer the world a new Exposition in 1934, Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of A Century of Progress, promised yesterday.

Colors will be even more striking and in more extensive use than they have been this year, said Maj. Lohr.

For instance, the Sky Ride towers will be repainted "as bright and gaudy as a barber's pole," he said. Another additional use of color will be the extension of the underwater lighting system introduced experimentally in the north lagoon this season. The system is to be extended to the south lagoon and, with hundreds of bulbs aglow, is expected to add new and striking beauty to the Exposition.

Lights Anchored to Lagoon Bottom.

The system involves the use of 100 watt bulbs, usually in groups of nine, fitted into frames which are anchored to the bottom. The bulbs float some four feet below the surface, low enough to allow the motor boats which circle the lagoon to pass over them.

Maj. Lohr declined to go further into description of the new colors and the lighting, explaining that the details have not yet been worked out. He added that several changes of arrangement of exhibition buildings and concessions are to be planned.

"Those who do not see the 1933 Fair within the next three days will never have an opportunity to do so," Maj. Lohr said. "The exterior outlines of our buildings will not be changed, but nearly all the exhibits will be different. Only a few of our own will be retained, and many new ones will be added.

Concessions to Be Rebuilt.

"The concessionaires who will retain space next year all are going to rebuild their exhibitions. I can promise you that there will be many new concessions. Most of them have not yet signed contracts and so I am not in a position to mention names. I can say that I expect to renew about 2,000 contracts and to make probably 500 new contracts for next year's Fair."

All the space now occupied by Camp Whistler, where regular army infantry, artillery and cavalry are bivouacked, will be occupied by the new concessions, Maj. Lohr said. The encampment will be moved to Pershing road for 1934.

Legal advisers of the Exposition are busy attempting to work out a contract which will enable the Fair authorities to have final censoring powers over shows. The problem is to word the contracts so that there can be no appeal to the courts to restrain the Fair authorities from closing objectionable peepshows and nudity exhibits.

Free Day for Relief Families.

Today is to be Relief day at the Fair. All families or individuals on the relief rolls will be admitted at any gate to the exhibition grounds by showing their cards. In cases where whole families are on the relief rolls the card will admit all the members of the family.

Following the definite announcement that the Fair will be reopened next season, the attendance yesterday declined to the lowest point so far reached. At 11:30 p. m. the total of admissions was 20,684.

NRA SPEAKER SEES MORE SOCIALISM IN GOVERNMENT OF U. S.

A charge that the NRA is being opposed by capitalists and a warning that the future may bring a government along more socialistic lines were made yesterday by Miss Mary E. Hughes, national head of the woman's division of the NRA, in an address before the Chicago Woman's aid, 185 North Wabash avenue. Miss Hughes will bring to a close today a three day appeal to Chicago women to support the NRA by participating in a buying campaign.

"The only people blocking the NRA are those down to their last 50 million or who have had to give up ten of their thirty automobiles," Miss Hughes said. "Some men of great wealth are going to die hard, but the time will come when no one will care whether he has ten cars or one. If that is socialism, then let there be socialism. I believe in letting the Stars and Stripes allow a man to earn an honest living. Some people think this NRA is only an emergency, but it isn't. It is a new economic structure."

Her program for today includes a luncheon at the Morrison hotel planned by the state division of the NRA of which Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey is chairman. Col. A. A. Sprague, chairman of the Illinois recovery board, will preside. Mayor Kelly is expected to attend as well as leaders in civic organizations.

DRYS SEIZE CAR OF ALCOHOL; NAB ONE UNLOADING IT

Prohibition agents of the United States division of investigation last night seized a carload of grain alcohol that was being unloaded in the Illinois Central yards at 18th and Clark streets, and arrested Frank Herolf of 1022 Cambridge avenue.

The shipment consisted of 47 drums of alcohol, each containing 50 gallons. Two other men assisting Herolf with the unloading escaped. It was believed they took a truck with them. Herolf said a stranger offered him $5 for the work and that he could not identify the man, but the government is believed to know the name of the consignee.

OPEN $4,000,000 COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE ON MONDAY

500 Workers to Solicit Gifts from Employed.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A public campaign to raise a $4,000,000 community fund for Allied Chicago Charities will be launched Monday night at a dinner in the Congress hotel, inaugurating an appeal to the rank and file of the city's employed population to help in the support of 101 private welfare organizations. These agencies perform necessary services not included in the expenditure of federal and state relief funds.

For the last two weeks a committee has been busy soliciting gifts from large contributors. Yesterday approximately $1,250,000 had been pledged by some 800 contributors, and it is expected that at least half the $4,000,000 will be raised in this manner. The remainder, according to R. Douglas Stuart, president of the fund, is to be canvassed in small gifts from among the trades, industries, and professions.

500 Fund Workers.

Harold H. Swift, Alexander G. Legge and Edward L. Ryerson Jr. will address the dinner Monday. Charles W. Bergquist, chairman of the trades, industries, and professions division, will preside. Attending the dinner will be 500 business men who are to join actively in the campaign. They are members of 42 teams of solicitors representing all the important businesses in Chicago.

Plans for the campaign will be completed at the dinner and the fund solicitors will be given their credentials. The solicitations will begin Tuesday morning.

The community fund campaign follows the opening here recently by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of the 1933 national mobilization for human needs. At that meeting she urged all citizens to contribute to private welfare agencies as an act of neighborliness. The Chicago fund is one of hundreds of community chest drives being conducted simultaneously in the large cities of the country.

Supplements Depleted Budgets.

Most of the funds obtained by the community fund will be used to supplement depleted budgets of the private charities which look after the health of the needy, give hospital care, free legal service, dental care, care for undernourished babies, sick mothers, crippled and dependent children. The fund will enable protective agencies to function and neighborhood houses to continue their work. It is pointed out by the officers of the campaign that less than 1.5 per cent of the money collected is used for expenses. The work, except for the staff at the headquarters at 111 West Washington street, is done by volunteers.

WOODRING FLIES HERE TODAY TO BE FAIR'S ARMISTICE SPEAKER

Assistant Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, who will be the chief speaker at the Armistice day celebration to be held at A Century of Progress tomorrow, will arrive from Washington this afternoon in a United States army plane.

Every Legion post in the metropolitan area is expected to participate in this fifteenth commemoration of the signing of the Armistice and memorial to those who lost their lives in the war. The program at the Fair will take place in the Court of States and will be preceded by a parade of 1,000 uniformed Legionnaires and members of the auxiliary.

Besides Mr. Woodring, speakers will include Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and Emmett Whealan, president of the county board. Mme. Irene Pavlowska, former civic opera star, will open the ceremonies with the national anthem and there will be music by the Board of Trade post Legion band.

The regular army troops which have been stationed at Camp Whistler during the Fair will parade at 3 p. m. tomorrow and there will be a sham battle on the boardwalk on the north lagoon at 4 o'clock.

JOINING THE ISSUES.

After such an election as that of November, '32, the defeated party takes a rest on its crutches and waits for recuperation and for the mistakes of its successful opponents to shift the scene. The decisions of the people may be violent and for the time conclusive, but also in time they change. The opposition takes its licking and waits. Enthusiasms subside. Doubts arise. Criticism starts. The defeated party throws away its crutches and jumps the wall into the arena.

The Republican party took advantage of the elections in towns and cities this month to feel out the strength of the Democratic party and did not come off so badly. New York City was a special case all by itself and deductions need not be overdrawn, but still it is apparent that the national administration did not manage a victory. The cities are at least skeptical. Nor did Mr. Farley, the national party spokesman, have much luck this month with prohibition repeal in the south. He has been getting results in the dry south but hit a wall in North and South Carolina, the first Democratic states to reject an administration policy.

From now on political opposition will be more confident and more assertive. Congress meets in January. Congressional elections are held a year from this month. The new American revolution, so called by its supporters on the left, will be required to defend itself. The first defense must be made in congress when it meets again. It is not to be expected that Republican congressmen confronted with Democratic party policies of such sweeping departure from American government procedure will continue to accept them in the daze of the hundred days which began the administration. The conflict is joined upon fundamentals.

It might be necessary to go back to the days of the adoption of the constitution to find a division cut so wide and deep. It splits American political opinion down to bed rock and the decisions contain the American future. There is, without the anger, the gravity of the slavery controversy. Again there is the question whether the nation can be half one thing half another, half soviet and half free, half under the old constitution and half under the new deal, half a land of individualists and half a land of bureaucrats, half of citizens and half of commissars.

Congress will accept and define the issues when it meets and for that reason the Republican party, needing reorganization, new leaders and new perceptions, may find the leaders in congress if Republicans there can meet the test. It is a big one and it will need capable men.

It will wash out the timid and the incompetent, but it is opportunity for the men who can measure up to it.

RAILROADS AND THE FAIR.

It is probable that no single force contributed more to the success of the World's Fair than the coöperation of the railroads. At the same time they have reaped their reward from the liberal position they took, not only in the way of increased revenues, but very probably in a return of "rail mindedness" on the part of the public. Over 60,000 coaches in excess of the regular complement of scheduled trains were brought to Chicago on 4,500 special trains or extra sections of regular runs, to say nothing of the added equipment on such regular trains.

While it is impossible to segregate the passengers who traveled to Chicago especially to visit the Fair from those who came to Chicago for other purposes, it is safe to say that the railways transported practically three million Fair visitors. Gross earnings are equally difficult to estimate. Experienced railway men state that forty million dollars would be a conservative figure.

The efforts of the Railway Express agency also must be recognized. Working in conjunction with the railways on all-expense tour arrangements, including hotel accommodations, they booked over 100,000 passengers.

While fully appreciating the immense contribution of the railways to the success of A Century of Progress, we cannot resist drawing their attention to the apparent efficacy of reduced passenger fares.

RAIDING THE STOCK TRAINS.

Several Iowa farmers stopped a North Western live stock train near Lawton by stacking ties on the track. The engineer had run through one barrier, but he feared to buck the second because of the danger of wrecking the train. The farmers released the stock from eight cars and turned the animals loose to roam the country. The shipment was bound for Sioux City. Train wrecking has been regarded as one of the most serious crimes which could be committed and interference with railroad operation something which no government would tolerate. Cleveland did not permit it in the Pullman strike in Chicago, although his use of the troops to prevent the interference with the movement of mails, which meant the operation of trains, was much criticized.

For some time some ill disposed men in the farm regions have thought that their objection to farm produce prices was ground enough for any kind of lawlessness. They have destroyed the property of other farmers and picketed and blocked the highways and have prevented the dispatch of farm produce to market. From the destruction of trucks and their contents the Iowa farmers in the Sioux City district feel privileged to extend their operations to obstruction of the rails, with the possibility of train wrecking. It should be a waste of words to say that no group of citizens can carry an economic war to that extreme and get away with it unless government is prepared to hoist the white flag. The distinction between such farmers on a holiday and train robbers on a raid would be difficult to maintain legally. The federal government has been erasing the line between interstate and intrastate commerce in the control of business affairs and with its particular jurisdiction over railroad operation may find that its new policies require it to keep the rails open and to protect railroad employés if the state surrenders to the lawless.

Agriculture does not make new exemptions from criminal laws. The benefit of agriculture, although it covers much strange territory, is not justification for violence by a small minority of farmers who are trying to advance their cause by train wrecking, destruction of property, and tactics which threaten loss of life. What would be criminal acts if they were committed by industrial workers are criminal acts when they are committed by farmers.

THE COUNTY'S TAX RATE.

President Whealan of the county board is talking of going down to Springfield to get the county's tax rate raised. He has heard about the forthcoming reduction in assessed valuations of property and has realized that unless the rate is raised the county board will have less money to spend. This deprivation is more than he can bear. Something, he thinks, must be done about it.

What Mr. Whealan seems not to realize is that something has already been done about it. If he is in doubt on the point let him read the daily tabulation in THE TRIBUNE of tax delinquency in the county. He will find that some 200 million dollars of taxes have not been paid in recent years. They have not been paid because the people who owed the taxes couldn't or wouldn't pay. The only way to get the future bills paid is to lower the taxes to the point where property owners can and will pay. And the only way that can be accomplished is to lower the outlay of the governments. Mr. Whealan, as head of one of the governments, has to play his part in the general reduction of governmental costs.

THE FAT AND NATTY COMMISSAR.

Comrade Litvinov, engaged in conversation with Brother Hull in Washington, is smiling. The gentlemen seem to be getting together and both appear pleased with the circumstances and progress of their approach to an agreement which may end in the recognition of the soviet republic by its greatest theoretical enemy, the bourgeois republic.

Comrade Litvinov is a jolly little man from whose appearance no one would predict world revolutions, class exterminations, and the withering of states. Mongolian episodes are in the soviet prospectus, but the Russian foreign commissar is for this visit a prosperous member of the petty bourgeois, and his purpose in Washington is to talk about such capitalistic enterprises as trade, credits, debts, and other items foreign to the rubric of the comintern but embedded in the philosophy of the capitalistic state which the comintern would destroy but which the commissars would welcome into close association with the hand of fellowship.

It's most bewildering and it is to be hoped Brother Hull knows with whom he is dealing. It may be the voice of a Stalin apostate government, but the hand of the true Red Third Internationale. If Dr. Marx is anywhere around the premises the embrace may seem to be that of the forgiving uncle and the wayward nephew. But the story will be that of Little Red Riding Hood to an unknown finish.

Comrade Litvinov, coming from a land of starvation, is plump and well fed. No crop failures are indicated in his jolly rotundities and there is no evidence that he was specially fattened for public appearance. The commissar, coming from a land of old clothes, is observed as a nattily attired gentleman and it is not to be believed that the soviets made any special effort to dig up a wardrobe for him for his American visit. The proletariat may live on ration cards and the peasantry may store up husks against a hard winter, but there will be plenty for the commissars. They can grow fat in a famine and follow the styles for the well dressed man. Comrade Litvinov is an illustration of the sound philosophy that in the dictatorship of the proletariat or of anything else somebody may get the worst of it, but it won't be the commissars.

[Independence, Mo., Examiner.]

Gen. Johnson in his address at Chicago said that he was in favor of a free press and that the administration never had the slightest idea of anything else. At the same time he gave the newspapers a spanking and said they were holding up a bugaboo and imagining vain things.

The address makes it necessary to restate the position of the newspapers. For weeks organizations representing a majority of the daily papers of the country have maintained at their own expense a committee in Washington and New York trying in every way possible to agree on a newspaper code. The committee agreed on every avowed purpose of the administration, hours of labor, child labor, and minimum wages. The committee insisted that a reservation be placed in the code agreement guaranteeing the protection of the constitution. The best legal opinion is that unless such a reservation is placed in the newspaper contract the press waives the constitutional protection for a free press and may be licensed by the government. The administration bluntly refused this reservation. Gen. Johnson's speech in fairness should mean that it has given way and will permit the reservation to be inserted in the newspaper code. Otherwise his speech means nothing.

There has not been a free press in the United States since the NRA drive. The newspapers supported the administration regardless of politics. Never was there such unanimous support. A criticism was declared to be treachery. A boycott was threatened. A boycott is an un-American method.

If Gen. Johnson believes in a free press and never had any intention of using the newspaper license clause in the law or enforcing, we can see no reason why such a reservation should not be inserted in the contract. We hope that this is what he means in his speech.

THEY'RE GOING TO HAVE a new kind of timing clock at football games. If they don't get a little more action into the sport than the present rules allow it will be a fine idea to make that new timepiece an alarm clock so that it can be set to go off every five minutes and wake the customers up.

ANYHOW, it's a good thing that repeal comes right at this time when the weather is getting so cold. We can pour the bootlegger stuff that we had left over into the radiator as an anti-freeze mixture. It's a mean joke to play on a faithful old automobile, but gosh! we've got to do something with that hootch.

There's many a road to Tilbury Town,
But never a road for me.
Some run up and some run down,
And some run wild and free.

In Tilbury Town, I have heard it said,
Dwells a hostess rare and fine,
Who proves that man lives not by bread
Alone, nor yet by wine.

For week-end guests on this estate,
Indulgeth not in lazy tricks—
They're out of bed at half-past eight,
Or even half-past six.

And no one dares to raise a fuss,
There is no time for wondering.
Both days are laid out thus and thus
For jolly puppets on a string.

Hostess, forgive. I come not down,
For I like personal liberty—
So the hell with the road to Tilbury Town,
And the hell, my sweet, with thee.

THE SOCIETY FOR THE RESTORATION OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE in the United States is indeed noble in purpose and I wish it success, but they're not going to get very far until they stop radio preachers, announcers and speakers generally from saying, "Our history has ben a glorious one," or "this has ben a great football game," or "this has ben a fine afternoon." The word is not ben, but been. The Society for the Restoration of the English Language in the United States should have this little verse put on a large card in neat plain letters and hung up over every microphone:

It rhymes with fin,
Or tin or sin;
Likewise with gin and din and pin,
Also with bin,
Does BEEN!

Of course in the English language it is pronounced to rhyme with bean, mean, seam and glean. But low coarse people in our country kick any one in the ankle or spill soup on him or do something else unmannerly to people who pronounce the word that way, so for the time at least it is best to struggle only to have it pronounced been instead of ben.

‡

‡

AND IT DOES SEEM a shame after we've all learned how to drink out of a bottle without spilling anything on our neckties to start all over again and learn how to drink out of a glass.

‡

I WANTED AWFULLY to hear Mary Hughes, the feminine NRA chief, but the reporter says "she wore a deep rose woolen frock matching enameled finger nails." So I can't go; when a woman has enameled finger nails I never hear a word; I just can't keep my eyes or my mind off those enameled finger nails.

‡

THE BACK TO THE FARM movement seems to have stopped with the end of prohibition. You can buy the stuff now in town easier than you can cook it on the back of the stove down on the old homestead.

‡

IT IS NOT ACCIDENT.

It is not accident that "love" should rhyme
With that winged messenger we spell as "dove,"
Or that evaluating Paris' time
We see that he, too, waited for his love.

Nor is it fancy that the mate of "breath"
Swims deep in life, nude as a laughing boy,

RACHEL MACK WILSON.

MOSQUITOES AND DISEASE.

A CORRESPONDENT wants an article on mosquitoes, saying: "I live near a very swampy part of Long Island. Even in the wintertime mosquitoes get into the house somehow. I feel sure some of these days we are going to have a nice case of malaria. I am also afraid of typhoid fever. If they inject some of that stagnant swamp water into the body of a child as they bite him they would give him typhoid. I feel the danger to be so great that I intend to move in order to protect my family's health."

Much can be said in favor of alertness with regard to the danger of communicable disease. At the same time alertness that is not based on knowledge of the facts is liable to lead to needless anxiety and to result in unnecessary and sometimes unwise action. Alertness, coupled with knowledge and wisdom, has everything to commend it.

In this instance there is little danger of malaria and none of typhoid due to mosquito bites. If it is advisable for this family to move it is because the mosquitoes are a nuisance and not because they are a menace to health. In that region there are plenty of mosquitoes of the varieties that convey malaria. Furthermore, in the malaria season some of the right varieties are infected with malaria and are capable of spreading disease. In addition the malaria mosquitoes breed in swamps. However, the anopheles, or malaria group of mosquitoes, are not the predominating types in that region. An enormous disproportion of the mosquitoes thereabouts are of varieties that are pestiferous but not disease bearing. Even if there were infected malarial mosquitoes alive and circulating in that part of the country in winter they would probably be harmless.

The malarial mosquito does not like cold weather, and when the temperature is low she has no desire to eat or to fly around. She gets into some warm, secluded corner and tries to avoid giving offense. Malarial parasites do not mature in mosquitoes when the weather is cold.

Mosquitoes do not spread typhoid fever. That infection gets into the body with the food and drink and is absorbed by a certain section of the intestinal tract. The bacteria of this disease could be carried on the body of a mosquito as well as that of a fly and might conceivably be wiped off on some fruit, but the chance of infection in that way is almost improbable.

There are mosquitoes that breed in water that is rank from sewage, but those of the sewage breeding kinds do not spread malaria or typhoid fever, although they are a source of great nuisance. Since sewage water is apt to be warm, these mosquitoes continue breeding far into the cold season.

Besides these two there are several other diseases that may be mosquito borne, but none of them are of importance in lower New York and Connecticut during the cold weather. If this family decides to move it should be because of the nuisance due to mosquitoes and not because of danger of mosquito-borne disease.

SLEEPLESSNESS.

J. C. C. writes: Would you please give me some information about sleeplessness? I sleep on an average of four hours. It started a few years ago, say one night in a month, then about one night a week, now every night. If I go to bed early and get to sleep in a short time I awake about 2 o'clock, and that is the end of it. Other times I will not be able to get to sleep until 2 a. m. I am not ill, have no aches or pains, and am puzzled to know the cause. I am 60 years old, have never had any illnesses, and have had several children.

REPLY.

You have escaped most of the harmful effects of poor sleeping by not letting it worry you. Apparently you are not maniacal or phobic or even moderately worried over the effects. Now go another step and train yourself not to do the worrying that is making you a poor sleeper. The history you give indicates that you are motivated by some considerable emotion, probably fear. You go to bed fatigued and your tire controls your emotion and you go to sleep. After a few hours of rest the emotion gets the upper hand and you awaken.

LITTLE KNOWLEDGE DANGEROUS.

Miss D. G. writes: Does it necessarily follow that something is radically wrong internally in any one who has never really been sick simply because, when crossing one leg over the other and striking the knee, the leg does not jump up? This condition has existed for a number of years. A chance remark as to what it might indicate has naturally caused a great deal of worry, as in the present case it seems an utter impossibility.

REPLY.

You are not the first person who has been scared stiff by limited information. The fact that absence of a knee jerk may mean locomotor ataxia and that this disease is generally due to syphilis served to scare people before you were born. Go on your way rejoicing. Whoever demonstrated that you had no knee jerk may not have known how to make the test, or maybe you did not coöperate, or maybe the absence of a knee jerk means nothing in this case.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

DOES NOT LOSE CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—[Friend of the People.]—If an American born citizen married a man who had not taken out his citizenship papers would she lose her citizenship? M. E. H.

No; marriage on or after Sept. 22, 1922, does not affect the citizenship status of a woman. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT, Dist. Dir. U. S. Dept. of Labor.

PROPERTY RIGHTS.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. When the husband in his old age becomes uncontrollable and unruly, making it necessary to confine him to a sanitarium or asylum, how does that affect the property in relation to his wife who has to have his signature to make papers valid? 2. Does it require court action? 3. Is the property tied up in court, and [4] for how long? W. F.

1. Property belonging to the wife would continue to belong to the wife and property belonging to the husband would continue to belong to him. If the husband has been adjudicated insane, his signature would not be valid on a deed barring his dower in a conveyance of the wife's real estate. Court proceedings would be necessary in order to convey a clear title.

2. Yes.

3. Yes.

4. We are not in a position to say. You should employ an attorney.

MORTGAGE NOTES.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Nov. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am a loan holder with three more parties of $1,000 each. 2. The owners collected all rents to date, but did not keep up the interest on loans. They never paid any assessments or taxes since 1928. 3. Now they turn the property over to the loan holders to do with as they please. The property is worth at present market prices about $4,000, but [4] the parties that owned them, in my judgment, should be held responsible for the back taxes and assessments. I think it is loss enough for us to lose the interest. P. J. W.

1. We assume that you mean that you hold one of a series of three $1,000 mortgage notes.

2. We assume that you mean the owners of the real estate rather than the owners of the notes.

3. As we understand it, this means that you are one of the three now holding the property.

4. If no contrary agreement was made at the time of the quitclaim, then it may be that you, as one of the mortgage holders, are entitled to enforce the agreement of the mortgage debtor to pay taxes, etc. Your facts are not clear enough for us to advise you further.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

TOKIO.—Leaders of the silk industry and the government have pledged almost $1,000,000 a year for three years to advertise silk in the United States. This action followed the presentation of a gloomy report on silk conditions by Japan's silk mission to the World's Fair at Chicago.

The mission threw fright into leaders of the industry by disclosing that even the greatest American mills, among the largest in the world, which have been the most partial toward silk, are at present using 70 per cent rayon. If this tendency continues, Japan silk will be almost completely replaced by rayon, it was predicted.

The survey conducted by the commission, moreover, revealed that the tremendous improvements made in rayon in recent years enable artificial silk to stand washing and sunlight, hitherto the weakest points, just as well as genuine silk. Accordingly, the very life of Japan's silk industry is periled unless counter measures are adopted immediately, the survey concluded.

The one bright spot in this gloomy picture, according to Tetzuzo Nagaoka, chief secretary of the Raw Silk Association of Japan and one of the members of the mission, is the American public's inherent desire for things that are best and genuine. Accordingly, Nagaoka said, if some means can be found whereby it will be possible to enable the layman to distinguish between rayon and genuine silk, the American people will purchase silk.

One way of doing this, Nagaoka said, is to weave the word "silk" into the cloth, like a watermark in paper. Experiments along this line are now being conducted.

The $1,000,000 a year fund will be spent to open an experiment station in the United States to test the value of "water marked" silk and develop closer contacts with style experts in Paris. Part of the money will be spent for newspaper and magazine advertisements.

The mission reported that one reason why rayon has succeeded in making such inroads into fields formerly monopolized by silk was the lack of proper advertising.

Little importance was attached by the mission to the movement in the United States to have women wear cotton. The Japanese are convinced that cotton will never replace silk in stockings, underwear and evening gowns. Nor will rayon replace silk in such garments if a properly conducted advertising campaign is conducted, the mission is convinced.

Immediately on receiving the survey the Silk Association of Japan pledged about $500,000 a year for three years and demanded that the government put up an equal amount. A tentative agreement to do so has been obtained and it is understood the question will be brought up during the diet session this year when, almost without debate, it is expected to be passed.

A DIPLOMATIC PUZZLE.

Old Bennington, Vt., Nov. 7.—Today many millions of our citizens are voting in state and municipal elections. Today, too, there has arrived in this country the accredited envoy of the U. S. S. R., of which weirdly constructed political superstructure Russia is a "constituent republic." M. Litvinov is being accorded the honors customarily accorded to the heads of friendly states and their ambassadors. Yet M. Litvinov represents a country which limits the right of citizenship to the members of a political party which has for one of its principal objects the promotion of world revolution and the destruction of the essential political and economic institutions of all noncommunist states, including this country.

There is no dispute as to this. The slightest dissent or deviation from the program or policies of the communist party involves, in Russia, loss of citizenship and risk of imprisonment, exile, or even worse. These things are well known to the President. They are well known to the secretary of state. They have been blatantly asserted by leading and authorized statesmen of the soviet government. Yet we are told that the President of the United States has decided to agree to the de jure recognition of this unfriendly power, in whose sovereignty hostility to our government is one of the essential qualifications for citizenship! What a grotesque proceeding!

What has happened to this country that it bears this humiliation without protest? JOHN SPARGO.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Nov. 5.—I can't remain silent a moment longer. That cartoon on Saturday's front page was rotten. I call it treason. Just when we all should be pulling in harness your outfit jumps the traces. Fine patriotism I call it! Freedom of the press! Abuse of the freedom of the press I call it. You know perfectly well there is no such thing as freedom of the press. You can't print what your big advertisers won't let you print, and you know it.

I have a hunch the lordly TRIBUNE has a chip on its shoulder. It wants the government to clamp down on it. If it does, then watch it howl about freedom of the press. A coward's tactics on your part is what it is and nothing else. If I had my way I'd close the outfit up for good. JAMES DUNNE.

STUNNED.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—I was positively stunned with surprise and dismay on viewing Orr's scurrilous NRA cartoon in this morning's TRIBUNE. If the "freedom of the press" means the right to publish such contemptible matter in our journals, the sooner the NRA Hitlerizes the said press the better for the country. JOHN SIGURD MECK.

WHERE TO!

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 4.—I think Orr should be deported for the cartoons he is drawing, particularly the one this morning, "Fenced Off." P. B. OWSLEY.

APPRECIATIVE.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—While all the cartoons in THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE are excellent, the one entitled "No Relief Anywhere" surpasses them all. The editorials are enlightening and much needed. H. STAPLETON.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 6.—Thank you very sincerely for the editorial in yesterday's TRIBUNE on the "Forgotten Man." I am one of them. I hope you will send that editorial to the President, with the request that he read it personally, and pass it around to all his official family. C. B.

TIME IS REQUIRED.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 5.—Your cartoon Nov. 4 was an outrage, when you know every effort is being made and we have real improvement the first time in four years. You can never satisfy farmers [I have three farms]. Time is required to get things adjusted. Have a heart. W. B. WOOLNER.

SAVING PENALIZED.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 2.—I have saved and bought life insurance so my wife and girl could live well and have a regular income.

If the U. S. government can devalue the dollar to 60 cents, why can't it devalue it to one cent? So what can I expect for my family out of my insurance? C. R.

THE CRISIS.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The present crisis is more than a depression; it is a distinct attack on the present civilization. As the old civilizations were attacked by external barbarians, so are the new civilizations attacked by internal barbarians, such as Fascists, communists, etc. Modern democracy being approximately a reflection of the knowledge and judgment of the people, it is high time that the people rise to the occasion and prepare themselves for this gigantic onslaught of their enemies. The people must shed their political unconsciousness, their economic illiteracy and their moral bankruptcy. It is absolutely imperative that the electorate start at once on this path or else this civilization will crumble and might will once more triumph over right. PAUL B. BLOCK.

THE TEENIE WEENIES.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The return of the Teenie Weenies brought back pleasant memories of childhood when no Sunday was complete without them, and I am sure young readers of today will enjoy these lovable little people as much as I did. Since the comics are regarded generally as a children's feature, the Teenie Weenies are a welcome addition to those few strips which do not harp upon murder, crime, horror, and more horror. V. E. S.

PRESIDENT AND LITVINOV TALK ON PACT TODAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Preliminaries apparently over, an early decision on Russian recognition was foreshadowed by a conference arranged for tomorrow between President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign minister.

Litvinov met Secretary Hull and other governmental officials today at the state department. Members of the group said no further conversations were planned other than those at the White House.

To Talk On Recognition.

Secretary Hull said before Litvinov's arrival that the President and the Russian diplomat would deal directly with the matter which brought the latter here—recognition—after an understanding had been reached on important details.

Mr. Roosevelt saw Litvinov yesterday and talked with him for almost an hour, but at that time all the matters to be taken up, before direct discussions on the restoration of diplomatic relations, had not been thoroughly reviewed.

The conference between the President and Litvinov at first was scheduled for 5 p. m. today. Due to the press of other matters, however, the time for this meeting was later changed to noon tomorrow.

All Refuse to Talk.

Secretary Hull, Litvinov and other officials who have been conferring at the state department since yesterday have waved questions aside. It was indicated, however, that nothing had arisen during the conversations which seemed likely to be a serious obstacle to the resumption of normal relations between the two nations.

Laden with a bulging brief case, the chubby Litvinov was in his customary genial humor after the two hour parley at the state department. Reporters moved toward them but he walked briskly toward a waiting elevator.

From the state department the Russian commissar of foreign affairs went to the Carlton hotel for a luncheon in his honor by Secretary Hull. The guest list included members of Litvinov's party, and government officials, among them Atty. Gen. Cummings and Senator Couzens of Michigan.

Among the subjects taken up at the state department discussions have been debts, the question of propaganda and trade relations.

Transcontinental and Western Air Lines, which operated from coast to coast via St. Louis and Oklahoma City, yesterday announced that Elk City, Okla., has been made a regular stop on the line.

CHICAGO SHIP DRIVEN ASHORE; CREW IS SAFE

Manistee, Mich., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The crew of 12 officers and men this morning abandoned the pulpwood ship T. S. Christie of Chicago, which was driven ashore in a blinding blizzard last night four miles north of Manistee harbor in Lake Michigan.

None of the boat's crew was reported to have been injured, but the boat's situation was precarious.

CHAS. B. MUNDAY, FORMER BANKER, GUILTY OF FRAUD

A Jury Convicts Him of Embezzlement.

Charles B. Munday, who was released from Joliet prison in 1921 after serving one year in connection with the William E. Lorimer bank failures, was convicted yesterday of embezzlement of funds of the State Mill and Elevator of North Dakota. A jury in the Criminal court of Judge Thomas J. Lynch returned the guilty verdict after deliberating little more than an hour.

Hearing on a motion for a new trial was set for Nov. 24. If this motion is overruled Munday faces a sentence of one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Tells of Munday's Offer.

O. L. Spencer of Grand Forks, N. D., general manager of the North Dakota project, took the witness stand during the trial and testified that Munday had admitted embezzling $23,000 of the organization's funds when he was its Chicago agent in 1931. Spencer told the jury that Munday had offered him a "handful of insurance policies" and announced that he would jump out of a 23d floor window to furnish cash to cover the shortage.

Munday, later taking the stand in his own defense, said that Spencer's story was untrue. The defendant said that the organization had owed him a large sum in commissions. The alleged offer to jump out the window Munday dismissed with the remark that he "did not come from a jumping family."

The earlier sentence of Munday grew out of the failure of the Lorimer-Munday banks, which closed in June, 1914, with aggregate deposits of nearly $6,500,000. The banks were the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank and its affiliates, the Broadway State bank, the Ashland-Twelfth Street State bank, and the Illinois State bank.

A six year court fight followed the closing of the banks. Lorimer was acquitted, but Munday, who was vice president of the defunct La Salle Street bank, was sent to the penitentiary on the charge that his activities had wrecked the bank. Application for parole on behalf of Munday was made at the earliest possible legal opportunity. He was released on Nov. 15, 1921, supposedly in ill health.

MILK STRIKERS ACTIVE IN AREA NEAR CHICAGO

State highway policemen patrolled highways south and west of Chicago yesterday as that area saw its first outbreak of the farm holiday movement. No violence was reported, but milk supplies were shut off from Kankakee and the nearby towns of Bradley and Bourbonnais, and live stock and grain trucks were stopped on the roads.

The farm holiday organization established depots in Kankakee where parents were furnished milk free for their children and relief organizations also got a free milk supply. The holiday organizers, in addition to their activities in Kankakee county, also were active in Iroquois, Will, and Grundy counties, persuading operators of 75 grain elevators in the four counties to close.

At Morris in Grundy county the three largest grain companies refused to close their elevators, however. They declared that the holiday representatives were outsiders who did not represent the farmers of the county. Six cream stations in Morris closed.

WINTRY BLASTS DAMPEN ARDOR OF FARM PICKETS

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Wintry blasts from the northwest joined forces with anti-farm strikers today to dampen the ardor of pickets who for the most part deserted the highways.

Live stock and milk trucks sped unmolested to Sioux City markets, where for four days picket lines had effected sharp decreases in receipts.

A fourth incendiary railway bridge fire near Sioux City was extinguished with little damage. Two bridges have been destroyed in the area this week.

Although Sioux City highways were open to uninterrupted traffic, leaders of the picket groups emphasized that the strike was still in effect as far as voluntary withholding of products from market is concerned.

Pickets on Nebraska and South Dakota highways leading into Sioux City were withdrawn also.

A total of 272 truckloads of live stock reached Sioux City today, including 97 truckloads of hogs, 125 of cattle and calves and 50 of sheep.

BURLESQUE GIRL LEADS BEAUTIFUL LIFE, NRA HEARS

Producers Are Asked to Pay $17.50 Minimum.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Messrs. Wilner, Weinstock, and Weintraub, three pious pillars of the burlesque, stood up in the ballroom of the aristocratic Mayflower hotel today and told Sol. Rosenblatt, the NRA deputy administrator in charge of the hearing on the code for the burlesque industry, that their shows were just as "re-fined" as any legitimate "The'Ater."

The proposed code provides a minimum wage of $30 a week for principals in a burlesque; a $17.50 a week minimum for chorus girls playing in stock burlesque, with a boost to $20 a week when they go on the road. By the provisions of the code, the employers will agree to a week of not more than 52 hours, and will not hire any one under the age of 16.

Mr. Max Wilner looked down at his spats and lamented the fact that "some people in this country seem to think the burlesque is 'this and that.' But that's a confounded lie."

They're Hard Working Girls.

Mr. Joseph Weinstock, former associate of the late Billy Minske, waddled to the front of the room to proclaim that he had the "most re-fined hard workin' girls in the business."

And Attorney Paul Weintraub exulted that in the last seven years in New York there had been but one conviction for indecency in the burlesque business, and "that wasn't one of the ten cases I represented."

What about the tendency of the actresses to undress on a burlesque stage? Mr. Weintraub passed up and down, wiping the perspiration from his fat brow as he yelled:

"Some call it nudity; some call it 'a strip number.' But the more cosmopolitan call it a higher type of esthetic entertainment for civilized human beings."

Lucky to Get $17.50 Weekly.

Messrs. Wilner and Weinstock nodded appreciation.

All three gentlemen, fat, florid and apparently extremely well fed, agreed that a chorus girl should consider herself lucky if she had a weekly wage of $17.50, a minimum [usually pronounced mimium].

Mr. Thomas J. Phillips, president of the Burlesque Artists' association, disagreed with that. He declared that a girl with a salary of even $20 a week "is just one step ahead of prostitution."

That made Mr. Weintraub so mad that he jumped up with interruptions, but Mr. Rosenblatt, who's a hard boiled deputy, told him to sit right down and wait for his turn.

Demands More Beautiful Girls.

When it came, Mr. Weintraub, who defined himself as "a specialist" in burlesque beauty, yelled:

As for the hard work, the long hours, the many rehearsals, the midnight shows, the girls are obliged to take, Mr. Weintraub believes that's all pretty much exaggerated.

"These girls aren't such pathetic creatures," he argued loudly. "Why, the theater [pronounce always with a very long "A"] is their life blood. We have to chase 'em home. The owner is often in a quandary whether to displease the girls by chasin' 'em home or run up his electricity bill by givin' in to them and lettin' 'em stay and rehearse some more."

Over in the corner a lady from the Y. W. C. A. took notes. In another corner a lady from the Woman's Trade Union league frowned.

Although they nearly came to blows over the question of salaries, Phillips, representing the performer, and Weintraub, representing the owner, sang a harmony duet about the necessity for burlesque.

Phillips called it "the cradle of entertainment," and declared that 90 per cent of the stars in the legitimate theater had come from it.

In spite of its present slump, with an estimated 60 per cent of its people jobless, it will last, he predicted, "as long as men of the so-called middle class have work and can seek entertainment at half a dollar."

Calls It Noble Institution.

Weintraub called it "a great, noble institution," from which have come Eddie Cantor, Al Jolson, and scores of stars.

The burlesque clientèle, he declared, is divided this way: 75 per cent is the regular fan; 25 per cent is the transient.

Mr. Weintraub corrected himself: "He goes to seven shows a week. O, it may be based on—what do you call it?—a Freudian principle; but never mind, he has his reasons for going, and it's his own business."

The transient comes from "every slice of life. If I gave you the names, it would astound the news reading public."

The backbone comes, he said, from the lower economic classes and they haven't had the money lately. But times will get better and the burlesque will once again see palmy days, and the chorus girls will get "as much as $30 a week."

After all this talk of money, Mr. Wilner closed the discussion with a little lecture on the esthetics of burlesque. It grieved him that, the other day, when he advertised for girls, some were accompanied by their mothers, and these mothers were a little leary of their daughters going into burlesque. But after he had talked to the mothers and told them how fine everything was they let their daughters go into it.

JOHNSON INSISTS ONLY 1 PER CENT ARE FIGHTING NRA

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, outspoken administrator of the NRA, said here tonight his survey of the midwest had caused him to inform the President "that there is not one per cent of the people who have any idea of opposing his program."

Addressing a large audience in Convention hall, the general told of coming to "my own kind of country" to meet his critics face to face only to learn his mission was "love's labor lost."

"There was so much tom-tom writing in the papers out here that I thought it well to make a 'swing around the circle'," he said.

"It was altogether unnecessary and wrong. Last night I called the White House on the telephone and said so. I have been in every so-called disaffected center except Sioux Falls and have talked personally to scores of people—and at speeches to millions. Sincerely, and I think accurately, I sent word to the President that there is not 1 per cent of the people who have any idea of opposing his program."

Art League to Continue War on Smoke Nuisance

He spoke at a noon meeting of the league's board in the Straus building. Mr. MacVeagh was introduced by his son, Eames MacVeagh, now an officer in the league. At the conclusion of Mr. MacVeagh's talk the board pledged its continued support of the anti-smoke program.

U. S. EX-JUSTICE HOLMES IS NOT WORRIED BY NRA

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Yale News in an interview with Oliver Wendell Holmes, retired justice of the United States Supreme court, quotes him today as saying changes under the NRA are "nothing to howl about."

"There always have been changes in the interpretations laid on the constitution and there always will be," the college daily quotes the retired justice as saying.

"The developments in the last few months are nothing to howl about."

TAXES YOU PAY

Whether you realize it or not, you are a tax-payer.

When you pay your gas bill, 11.7 cents of every dollar goes for taxes, which the company collects and passes on to the city, state and federal governments.

The company has no use of this money. It merely acts as the collector.

And the tax burden—your tax burden—is mounting yearly. Taxes of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company have increased 49.22 per cent. since 1922. In 1928, out of every dollar the customer paid in a gas bill, 6.52 cents went for taxes. Now 11.7 cents in taxes are taken from every dollar.

The company is only the collector. You, as the customer, are the tax-payer.

GAS HEAT ends all labor of furnace tending. Back-breaking coal shoveling, hauling dirty ashes, banking fires, getting up at daybreak to fix the fire, anxious waiting for heat to come up. A flick of the finger on the thermostat in the dining room gives you more or less heat as you want it—quickly, accurately. And cleanliness. The womenfolks surely appreciate this feature of gas heat. Dusting once or twice a week instead of every day. Walls and drapes stay clean longer.

Why be without the luxury of automatic gas heat when rates are now so low? Rates are one-half of what they were during the 1930-31 heating season. Every home, even the most modest, can now afford to heat with gas.

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 9.—Glorifying Adolf Hitler's 1923 "beer cellar putsch" because "from the blood of its victims the new Germany was born," Nazi Germany today commemorated the anniversary of the insurrection. In this city 100,000 spectators acclaimed the chancellor with flowers.

It was a holiday and all business was closed. The population celebrated the birth of the movement that gave Hitler the chancellorship besides honoring the dead heroes of the historic group of the free corps.

The bloodsoaked banner carried in the insurrection, which was temporarily checked when Munich police shot sixteen of Hitler's comrades, was the center of the celebration. Hitler's flagbearer of ten years ago again held the emblem aloft.

Hitler Marches Through Streets.

Bareheaded, Hitler, Gen. Herman Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia, and the other campaigners marched in the streets through which they stormed in 1923. Storm troopers with flaming torches in their hands stood at attention. In the square where republican police fired on the insurrectionists, Hitler stepped up to the memorial erected for his slain comrades.

The nearby drugstore where the wounds of Goering and other Hitlerites were dressed was decorated with laurel wreaths and flags.

Gen. Goering was the first to address the throng.

"The most glorious day in my life was when I, at the head of the storm troopers, bled for the cause of our incomparable leader," he said. "Fate and God in their wisdom denied us victory then because we and the nation had not suffered enough."

Capt. Ernst Roehm, leader of the storm troops, also spoke, pledging himself and "the millions of the Brown army" to Hitler. Adolph Wagner, premier of Bavaria, referred to the chancellor as the inaugurator of an era of glory and honor to Germany.

Thousands Cheer Hitler.

Then Hitler, clad in a khaki jacket similar to the one he wore in the uprising, arose. The thousands standing in the square gave the Nazi salute and shouted, "Heil, Hitler!" He addressed the audience as "Men of the German revolution," and added the words made famous by Napoleon, "Men of my old guard."

"My hope of those days has been fulfilled," the Nazi leader said as he unveiled a monolith to honor the dead. "I am gratified that the representatives of our military forces and of our people are one again. That unity shall never be broken in Germany.

"We entered the political fight ten years ago as soldiers of the world war. When we thought of the millions of Germans who paid with their life blood for the harm done by the political leadership of the time we entered the fight at home, convinced that the sacrifice of our soldiers would be in vain if the political leadership continued to be weak."

Later in the day Hitler and Gen. Goering reviewed 20,000 storm troopers. Then 6,000 Bavarian burgomasters took their oaths of office in the presence of the two Nazi leaders. Tonight Hitler's bodyguard took its oath in a special ceremony.

All buildings, including churches, in Germany today were ordered to unfurl flags in honor of Sunday's "election" and plebiscite.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—The tranquility which marks the weekly luncheons of the Berlin Rotary club suffered a brief but violent shock yesterday when two German business men just returned from the United States responded to the usual request for a few remarks on their observations abroad.

The two Germans in their report to the luncheon guests agreed that things in the United States were worse than in Germany. What appeared to annoy them most was the "anti-German and mendacious" attitude of leading American newspapers. The press there, they charged, made a specialty of "lying about Germany" and generally distorting German news.

The indictment reached a point where apparently it got on Mr. Messersmith's nerves. Rather than precipitate an acrimonious debate he calmly got up and walked out. He declined to discuss the incident today, but it was learned that a committee of the Rotary club is to call on the consul and apologize for the occurrence.

POLICEMAN HALTS BURGLARY.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels, and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

WOMEN GRANTED RIGHT TO VOTE IN PHILIPPINES

Measure Is Passed on Murphy's Request.

MANILA, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Suffrage was granted the women of the Philippines today, marking the first extension of the right to vote to the women of an oriental country.

Enfranchisement came through the action of the ninth insular legislature shortly before final adjournment. It passed the suffrage bill on recommendation of Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy, former mayor of Detroit. There was little opposition.

Women will be placed on the same electoral basis as men. They must be 21 years of age, able to read and write, and possess property worth at least $250.

Becomes a Law in 1935.

The bill will not become law until after Jan. 1, 1935, which will prevent women from balloting next June at the triennial elections.

Gov. Murphy revived an apparently dead issue when he urged in his first message as governor general last July that women of the Philippines be allowed to vote.

Two years previously the house of representatives had voted to give the privilege to women, but the senate took no action.

Acting on Gov. Murphy's recommendation, Representative Juan Luna promptly introduced a new suffrage bill.

The new governor general dealt with a subject avoided by his predecessors. He said he made the recommendation without canvassing the local situation at length, but with the feeling that the democratic basis of the Philippine government should be broadened, whether or not independence should come.

Praise for Women.

"Women have given ample proof of their capacity for unerring appraisal and energetic action in the treatment of problems involving personal and human relationships," Mr. Murphy said in his message.

He added that "it would be an act of wisdom and fairness" to extend to them the full right of suffrage.

Student Is Freed

Samuel Lombardo, 15 years old, 828 Townsend street, a student at the Franklin-Waller High school, who threatened Raymond Koga, 17 years old, 115 West Huron street, also a student, with a revolver in a classroom on Wednesday, was released in the custody of his parents yesterday by the Hudson avenue police. A hearing will be held in Juvenile court on Nov. 20.

Policeman Timothy J. Keady, who investigated the incident, said the trouble started over a love affair between young Lombardo and Lucille Parillo, 15 years old, 1240 North La Salle street. Lombardo objected to Koga talking to Lucille, Keady said, and drew his revolver when the other boy refused to take the warning seriously. Lombardo was disarmed by Miss Anne Dundee, the teacher, and other members of the class. The gun was not loaded.

Constance Macaluso, 14, 1212 Frontier street, told police that she had carried the gun in her purse for Lombardo.

LEAGUE REPORTS NAZI VIOLENCE GROWING IN SAAR

GENEVA, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Violence and terrorism in the Saar territory as a result of Nazi activities has grown to an acute stage, a report of the league of nations governing commission said today.

The report announced "exceptional measures" were necessary to maintain order.

The commission charged that the Nazis were carrying on a campaign "involving threats, denunciations, and disguised boycotts against inhabitants suspected of not sharing their political ideas."

Bare Nazi Plot in Latvia.

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A plot to restore the power of the old German nobility in Latvia with the help of German Nazis was said by authorities today to have been revealed during a police raid on a secret meeting of so-called unofficial Nazi leaders. Thirty men were arrested but were later released. A number of documents was seized.

FRENCH DEPUTY GIVES FIGURES ON GERMAN ARMS

Claims Reich Has 900,000 Men Ready to Fight.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 9.—French alarm over Germany's alleged rearmament took official form today. While no government information leaked out, convincing figures were given by Deputy Georges Mandel in a speech in the chamber of deputies and by the semi-official Temps in an article entitled "The Irrefutable Record of Rearmament of Germany."

Mandel declared that Germany possesses a quasi-permanent force of between 800,000 and 900,000 men and has 130,000 men continually in training in the "demilitarized" Rhineland zone.

"45 Divisions in 5 Days."

"According to precise information Germany can mobilize 45 divisions in five days and her industry is so perfected that she would be able to raise others quickly," he said.

He asserted that Lufthansa, an air line company, has just ordered 50 planes capable of being transformed into scout planes and bombers "in a few minutes." The Junker company has been ordered to prepare most of its planes on a military pattern, while another firm is constructing 100 powerfully armed machines capable of doing 210 miles an hour, the deputy said.

Eighteen factories are ready to manufacture 2,500 planes monthly until June, 1934, according to Mandel.

Erects Airport.

In informal violation of treaties Germany has erected an airport at Berkenberg, while 12 others have been erected in the demilitarized zone, he continued.

Imports of copper, manganese, nickel, and aluminum needed for the construction of arms and planes have greatly increased, while the Krupp, Daimler, Bissing, and Mauser works are continually increasing personnel, Mandel concluded.

Le Temps said the reichswehr [regular Germany army] has 65,000 men more than authorized by the Versailles treaty. It gave the details of new artillery units. It said that contrary to the provisions of the treaty Germany has new light trench mortars, anti-tank guns, and new air cooled machine guns.

150 Dynamite Sticks Found by Police in a City Dump

One hundred and fifty sticks of dynamite and 25 pounds of black powder were found yesterday in the city dump at Grand and Campbell avenues by Motorcycle Policemen Charles McCabe and S. L. Bobosky, who patrol the area. Lieut. John Treacy of the police bomb squad expressed the opinion that the explosives probably had been abandoned by bombers who have quit their occupation because of the recent crime drive.

FIRES AT FLEEING ROBBERS.

QUIZ NAZI ENVOY IN SPANKNOEBEL INVESTIGATION

New York, Nov. 9. — [Special.] — Capt. George Schmitt, accredited representative from Berlin, authorized to organize and coördinate the German Stahlhelm and other groups in this country friendly to new Germany and the Nazis, was a witness today before the federal grand jury which is investigating the activities of Heinz Spanknoebel, alleged organizer of Nazi sympathizers, who has been a fugitive since a warrant was issued for his arrest two weeks ago.

The complaint against Spanknoebel charged that he purported to represent the German government in this country without having registered with the state department.

Other witnesses called before the grand jury and interrogated by United States Attorney George Z. Medalie were Dr. and Nrs. Ignatz T. Griebl, key figures in the Spanknoebel investigation, since they were his hosts during the month of October and until the day the warrant was issued for his arrest.

Mrs. Griebl announced on her first visit to the grand jury room that she would not be interrogated "by any Jewish district attorney." Today, however, she was advised by her attorney, Robert Morgan McGauley, to answer all questions and waive all constitutional rights. She was questioned for over an hour by Mr. Medalie and apparently followed the instructions of her attorney.

Baby, Operated On for Peanut, Is Recovering

Dorothy Manning, 2 years old, 3719 Pine Grove avenue, was reported recovering yesterday at the Children's Memorial hospital, after a peanut had been removed from her throat on Wednesday by Dr. Sigurd Kraft, a staff physician. The child was taken to the hospital on Nov. 3 and a diagnosis showed that she was suffering from lobar pneumonia. After Dr. Kraft had listened to the baby breathe through a stethescope he decided the irritation was not due to pneumonia, but that a foreign body was lodged in her bronchial tubes just above the lungs. The doctor then performed a successful operation and removed a piece of a peanut. The baby immediately showed signs of relief.

Suburban Residences and Their Attractions for Young Married People.

These suburban homes are the best in which to raise a family. Young men contemplating matrimony, should take cognizance of this fact. Boarding houses are not the places in which to cultivate and enjoy that domestic bliss which the poet regarded the only happiness which survived the capers of Adam and his wife. The country is the spot. There the surroundings are of a higher order. The air is purer, and in spite of sporadic aberrations of the flesh, the morality is of a higher tone. The flowers are there shedding a hallowing influence as they impregnate the air with delightful odors; trees flourish in spring, and fade in the fall, being a standing topic for healthful meditation; the birds sing the sweet songs of heaven; early rising, that excellent adjunct of rural existence, is practised and soon preferred; piety is inculcated, and poetry fostered; wives are better natured, children more cheerful and healthy, and everything is more lively than in the city. These are some of the advantages of a suburban residence, to which might be added lowness of rents, and a removal from temptations, to extravagances, such as theatres and ice cream saloons, to which young married folks are once in a while addicted. It is gratifying, therefore, to see the rapid development of our many suburbs.

—FROM THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, JULY 28, 1872

The SUBURBS

IN 1933 "the flowers, trees and little birds" are still carrying on in the suburbs just as this editorial of sixty years ago so feelingly describes. As for "temptation to extravagance—such as theatres and ice-cream saloons"—it must be admitted that these are now found in the suburbs as well as in the city.

THE history of land values in Chicago is also the history of Chicago's suburbs. Suburban land values in general have followed the ups and downs of values in the city. Through five major depressions since 1833, land values in Chicago and its suburbs have refused to stay down. In no major depression have they gone so low as in the previous one.

Today, with values of land and improvements depressed, those who have acquired a home in the suburbs have had no reason for regret. The demand for suburban homes continues.

50,000 WATCH NATIONAL CORN HUSKING BEE

Nebraskan Crowned New Champion.

West Point, Neb., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Fifty thousand devotees of this classic of the corn belt—the national husking bee—faced a sharp northwesterly wind and innumerable traffic tangles to witness the crowning of a new champion corn husker on the Ben Stalp farm near here today.

After the cannonade of yellow ears hitting against 12 wagon bangboards had ended and the loads of corn had been weighed, Sherman Henriksen of Lancaster county, Nebraska, was hailed as the winner over the best corn pickers in nine corn belt states. His net load was 27.62 bushels in 80 minutes.

Nebraska not only claimed the national champion corn husker for the first time since the corn belt Derby started 10 years ago, but clinched husking honors by securing also the second highest husking record of the day. Harry Brown home town favorite here in Cuming county, won second place over Ernest Rehn, Illinois state champion, by one one-hundredth of a bushel. Browns net load was 25.27 bushels and Rehn's 27.26 bushels.

Lawrence Pitzer of Fountain county, Indiana, came in fourth with a load of 25.17 bushels and Ted Balko, Redwood Falls, Minn., was fifth with 25.14 bushels. Both were state champions and had competed in national contests in previous years.

Illinoisan Loses Out.

Henriksen surprised the throngs of husking bee fans by having the largest total load on his wagon as the tractors drew the loads from the field at the close of the contest. He had 3,295 pounds of yellow dent corn, while Rose of Henry county, Ill., had the second largest gross load of 3,140 pounds. Deductions for corn left on the ground and husks found in the load cut Rose out of the winning class, however.

Proving that not all that grows on a cornstalk in Indiana or Illinois equals in characteristics that which grows on a stalk in Nebraska, the contestants from eastern corn belt areas described the Nebraska corn as possessing tighter husks and ears that clung to the stalks. The Stalp cornfield, selected from nearly a hundred in the state, yielded 62 bushels per acre.

The contestants, stripped to light shirts or bare armed, labored unceasingly for 80 minutes while the crowd shivered in sheepskin coats, and most of the huskers were perspiring as the final gun was shot, ending the contest. In spite of mounted guards the spectators overran the field and in many cases hampered the huskers as they marched down the rows of listed corn 60 rods long.

Before the contest opened highways were blocked as far as 18 miles away from West Point. State police and Legionnaires labored for hours to get the estimated 15,000 cars to the scene of action.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, unable to attend the match, sent greetings by wire and broadcast a description of the first husking contest of which he was sponsor on an Iowa farm in 1923.

Field in Good Condition.

In spite of the blue November skies, overclouded and scattering snowflakes over the contest, huskers found the cornfield in good condition. That it had not been worked over beforehand was shown when pheasants were startled from their shelters and flew away with a whirr that mingled with the noise of an airplane propeller overhead. The ground was so dry that dust clouds formed when the tractors drawing the loads and the crowds went down the field. Gov. Charles Bryan and ex-Gov. Sam R. McKelvie of Nebraska were honored guests of the day.

Service Rewarded

DAVID A. WINSHIP.

David A. Winship, 20 years old, 201 South Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park, has been invited to spend four days in Washington as a reward for outstanding military work during the year. Winship, as the representative of the citizens' military training camp of the Sixth corps area, will visit Washington from Nov. 30 to Dec. 4 as guest of the Civilian Military Education fund.

With winners in each of the eight other army corps areas Winship will be decorated by Gen. John J. Pershing for military excellence. Young Winship, a graduate of Oak Park High school, was awarded the D. A. R. saber for the fourth year C. M. T. C. student with the best record at the last camp at Fort Sheridan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The maximum interest rate permitted in Wisconsin on loans up to $300, made without collateral protection, was reduced from 3½ to 1¼ per cent a month in a drastic order issued today by the state banking commission.

The order, effective on loans made after Dec. 11, is regarded as experimental by the commission and reduces the maximum annual rate of interest from 42 per cent a year, fixed by statute in 1927, to 15 per cent.

A close check on financial returns to small loan companies under the new rate was promised by the commission, which pledged itself further to change the rate if statistics show they cannot operate under it.

Rates on Sliding Scale.

In hearings before a special committee named by the commission to investigate earnings of small loan companies, corporation officials declared they have not continuously maintained the highest interest rate permitted under the repealed statute, but that they raised and lowered rates according to fluctuations in general economic and financial conditions.

A suit challenging the order of the commission is expected. It is anticipated that among the charges to be filed will be one maintaining the new statute authorizing the commission to fix rates is unconstitutional and another contending the commission's power is confined by the law to only loans made to meet individual necessities.

Points to Large Returns.

In its order the commission declared small loan companies have "obtained a high rate of return on capital invested in this state from the very beginning of their operations and throughout the present depression period, in which many other business institutions have suffered losses."

The commission asserted one of the reasons some small loan companies suffer a high loss ratio on many of their loans is that the 42 per cent annual rate is oppressive. The reduced rate should attract more borrowers and permit them to pay off their debts and incidentally reduce company losses.

Mate's Education Wasted, Wife Charges; Asks Divorce

Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday instructed Attorney Harry X. Cole to draw up a decree of divorce for Mrs. Daisy H. Robson, 7415 North Ashland avenue. Mrs. Robson, who sued on grounds of cruelty, testified that after their marriage in 1931 her husband, Charles, who lives at 6608 Newgard avenue, expressed a desire to finish his course in mechanical engineering. She worked as a stenographer to pay his tuition at Armour institute, she said, but when he left school he took a job as a hamburger vender at the World's Fair.

Wife Said She Operated on Self, He Swears.

The state's case against Dr. Frank L. Nathanson, charged with the murder by abortion of Mrs. Ruth Baccus, 40 years old, of Stockton, Ill., received a setback yesterday when the husband of the dead woman took the stand for the defense. Dr. Nathanson, a physician with offices at 3846 Madison street, is on trial before a jury qualified to inflict the death penalty in the Criminal court of Judge Walter P. Steffen.

The husband, Joe Baccus of Stockton, who described himself as a laborer, said that his wife had confessed to him early in January that she had performed an illegal operation on herself. Left in a weakened condition by an attack of influenza, Mrs. Baccus felt that she could not go through with the birth of a child, the witness said.

Ex-Employès Quote Physician.

Mrs. Baccus died in the offices of Dr. Nathanson on Jan. 16, and former office employès of the physician had testified that they had overheard conversations in which he had demanded $50 from the woman. State witnesses also had testified that the physician had ordered two men, who refused to take "the body out and dump it." Wilma Elovitz, a nurse for Dr. Nathanson, had testified that he had ordered office employès to hide instruments and "say it was an emergency operation if we are picked up."

Cross-examined by the state, Baccus admitted that he did not know who had paid the expenses of his wife's funeral. He admitted that he had not paid for the funeral. A state witness previously had testified that Dr. Nathanson had offered to pay the bills.

Baccus was put on the stand by the defense after Dr. Nathanson had testified that he had performed no operation on Mrs. Baccus. The physician said that he had examined the woman for lung ailments and had noted that she had performed an operation on herself. He termed false the testimony of state witnesses that he had ordered the body removed or had ordered any instruments hidden.

Lawyer Is Defense Witness.

Attorney Harry Weisbrod also took the stand for the defense and testified that he had once represented Meyer Wexner on a burglary charge and obtained an acquittal. Mrs. Fay Wexner, office employè of Dr. Nathanson, previously had testified for the state that the physician had ordered her husband, Meyer, Nathanson's chauffeur, to dispose of the body.

Weisbrod said that after he had read of the trial in the newspapers he remembered that Wexner had approached him some time ago with a proposition to "shake down a wealthy doctor."

"A woman came into this doctor's office and died," Weisbrod quoted Wexner as saying, "and a smart lawyer could put the shake on the doctor for $10,000."

KIWANIANS OPEN CONFERENCE ON CHILD WELFARE

District governors of Kiwanis International from all parts of the United States and Canada opened a three day council yesterday at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club, at which a 1934 program for child welfare activities of the 1,863 Kiwanis clubs was discussed.

Frank L. Eversull of Yale university, who presented a child work program on behalf of the new boys' and girls' work committee of the clubs, said that the clubs' first effort will be to organize boy and girl scout groups, 4-H clubs, character and leadership conferences, community centers in school buildings and libraries, hobby shows, and similar activities.

U. S. Disregards Conviction in Native Land.

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Apparently as a result of the refusal of Greek courts to extradite Samuel Insull to this country and the resultant denunciation of the Græco-American extradition treaty, James Nokas, 30, convicted of murder in Greece and held for Greek detectives, was freed in West Side court today on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Nokas had been held without bail since Oct. 24. A charge of burglary still is pending against him and on that he was held in $2,500 bail.

Detective William Florence informed the court that the state department, which originally arranged that Nokas be held, had notified him that it was "not further interested" in the case and did not "care to assume further responsibility for holding this man for the Greek authorities."

Nokas was arraigned on Oct. 24, accused of burglary and violation of the Sullivan law against carrying concealed weapons or possessing them. The Sullivan law charge was dropped when he protested ignorance of a weapon found in a drawer in his room.

At the same time Detective Florence heard that Nokas was wanted in Greece for murder. He communicated with the state department and reported to the court that it had been established that Nokas had been convicted in Greece of having slain his wife, Paraskedi, on Feb. 20, 1930, but that he had escaped from custody and made his way here. He is a house painter.

Conveniences' Bids for Their Patronage.

BY JUDITH CASS.

HALF a hundred select members of the dog fraternity don't know it, but they're going to receive surprise packages in this morning's mail. Each one addressed to the canine personally in care of his master or mistress will upon examination reveal one pink eyed white rat [the rubber variety], guaranteed to have a lively squeak.

By the way of explanation these amusing gifts are Mrs. Frank Hibbard's clever way of suggesting to some of Conveniences' best dog customers that they [the hounds] may need a new winter wardrobe. The white rat is merely a good sales talk.

Ever since Mrs. Hibbard sponsored her sensational dog fashion show last spring the canine department at Conveniences has been one of the most important activities of the well known charity shop. So it is that Mrs. Hibbard feels it her bounden duty to keep her dog customers up to the minute as far as fashion is concerned . . . just like their mistresses.

The little rubber rats will be done up in tiny white bags on arrival. An attached tag will carry the address . . . Mr. Diesel Engine Johnston, care of Hulburd Johnston, 1425 North State parkway, for instance . . . and the following message:

"Dear Diesel Engine:

We're sending you this little surprise package. Do come in and get your fall wardrobe from us.

"CONVENIENCES."

P. S.: Do you need a bath?
Do you need a pluck?
Do you need a walk?

Claudy Armour, whose master and mistress are the A. Watson Armours, will receive a white rat this morning. And so will Miss Peggy Babcock, who belongs to the Orville Babcocks, and Mr. Flit Cady of the Paget Cady household.

"The only thing I'm concerned about," commented Mrs. Hibbard yesterday, "is that the postmen will have squeak trouble. When several rats are delegated to the same mail bag they may make things lively for the carrier."

Still other terriers, Airedales, and Scotties on the mailing list are the Ambrose Cramers' Susie, the Frank Gordons' Pretzel, Miss Helen Gurley's Sandy, Devil, which belongs to Robert Hall McCormick, and Cocoa, whose mistress is Miss Lydia Swift.

Cradle Benefit to Be Tonight.

Those members of the Century club who for years have supported the Cradle by attending its annual ball have solved the problem of how to continue to do that and at the same time to be present at the Century club's final good time tonight [at least for this season] at the Fair by planning to go to the Cradle dinner dance at the Drake hotel first and then down to the Century club for a late supper and more dancing and "floor showing."

The Cradle party promises to be one of the very nicest of the season, with excellent entertainment and music, all of which will be broadcast. Some of those who have reserved tables are Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Fenton—she is chairman of the committee in charge—Mr. and Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy, Mrs. De Koven Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, the Huntington B. Henrys, the Huntly H. Gilberts, Mrs. George R. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins, the Bruce MacLeishes, the Hobart P. Youngs, the John Nash Otts, the Frank E. Wilhelms, the George Dulanys, I. Newton Perry, the Lucius A. Crowells, the John C. Slades, the William Scudders, the Bryan Reids, Robert F. Carr, the Robert J. Thornes, the George R. Carrs, the James R. Offields, the Alden Swifts, the Ralph Shaws, Edgar Uihlein, the George A. Ranneys, and the Lucius Mannings.

Century Club Will Hold Final Party.

The Century club affair will start up in the clubrooms at 7 o'clock with hot punch and hors d'oeuvres, and then the party, which will number between 750 and 1,000, will move downstairs to the Blue Ribbon Casino for dinner, dancing and entertainment. There will be a fashion show and a very gay program all evening. Members of the club by showing their membership cards may take their cars into the 16th street gate at the Fair and be deposited right at the entrance of the club, which is a great boon to ladies who hate to spoil their evening slippers by walking over the pavements at the Fair.

Plans for reopening the Century club next year, which has been such a popular rendezvous for local and foreign society all summer at the Fair, have not been made, and there is a possibility that it will not be a private club if it is opened, for some of the quid nuncs are of the opinion that society in a body will go traveling next summer, having seen the Fair so thoroughly this year, and leave the city to the visitors who will come in greater crowds than ever, every one is hoping.

Society to [illegible] Two Teas Today.

Society is going to have to drink at least two cups of tea this afternoon after the symphony concert for there are to be two parties that every one will want to attend, the one that the Italy America society is giving at the Tavern club for Prince Potenziani and Donna Myriam Potenziani and one

Good Morning!

This time, a bygone time—God's time—meet and merge in "Berkeley Square," the unusual play that has been made into an unusual picture.

John Balderson's strange and fascinating story of the present day young American, Peter Standish, who, inheriting a quaint old English homestead in Berkeley square, London, finds himself living with the people and under the conditions of 1784, is as delightful a movie as it was a stage production.

With Leslie Howard again in the rôle he presented so memorably behind the footlights, the photoplay moves whimsically, touchingly, artistically. Under skillful direction it has captured the atmosphere of eeriness that made the play captivating, and so effective is the acting, so exquisite the costumes and the settings, so faultless the photography, and so intriguing the build-up that the piece is sure to captivate all save those whose demand is for the cheap, the garish, the sensational.

Mr. Howard gives a characteristically sympathetic portrayal of young Standish, who, because he so intensely wishes it to be so, finds himself with all his modern knowledge, slang, experience, living among his ancestors of the eighteenth century. Peter has only the diary of the original Peter, some yellowed letters and historical knowledge to guide his feet. So, mixing his times, his speech, his reactions, he arouses consternation and fear in the breasts of his associates.

The original Peter had married his cousin Kate. This Peter falls in love with her sister, Helen. Only Helen understands the strange situation. She is fey, like Peter, and through her lover's eyes is able to look into the future, with its staggering array of inventions, discoveries, war. Peter and Helen plight troth to be consummated in God's time . . . . And the modern Peter, engaged at the time his strange experience starts, to a lovely twentieth century girl, breaks his engagement and elects to live alone till he shall be called to meet his Helen.

It is all rather complicated and permits of no napping if one is to comprehend the story.

For pictures and plays like "Berkeley Square" let us all give thanks! They even the score for an endless parade of mediocrities.

See you tomorrow.

Wild Colors—Wide Stripes—That's Fashion

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Streak your chest with color and stripes, the wider, the wilder the better!

The newest things in stripes are short sleeved and long sleeved sweater blouses knit in a firm, neat small stitch or pattern as far as the yarn is concerned, but dizzy as to color combination.

There is one trio of "knits" that will knock your eye out, a striped short sleeved sweater that goes around horizontally with a combination of red, black, and gray, or brown, yellow and green.

The neck is higher than you have been used to seeing or wearing, it cuts sharply across your tonsils in a swanky fashion that looks slick above a dark coat collar. The dark leather belt is an exact copy of a wide polo belt, with three buckles and straps to hold it firmly around your middle.

A devil-may-care cap-beret affair matches the knitted stripes of the sweater and completes one of the smartest and newest knit get-togethers to be found in any wardrobe.

Quilted, padded velveteen jackets are more snugglers to wrap around the shivering anatomy . . . they are superlatively fitted, with silk lined short sleeves and ascot tie collar . . they have a smart new quilted design racing down the front closing and on the ascot. You can buy them in eye-filling shades of blue and crimson, on dark street colors. They have price tags that are merciful to the smallest clothes allowance.

Did you know that you can buy separate chiffon velvet skirts . . . long slinky affairs that any smart gal can use as the proper long foundation for any manner of afternoon and evening costumes, each one different, and distinctively original.

They are available only in black, but you achieve contrast with glittering brocade blouses or with high shades of satin or with fitted cocktail jackets and the like. It's a grand idea for the knowing gal who likes to create new and interesting ensembles quite a bit different from anything you can buy.

Seek Operetta Ballet and Chorus from Service Club Group

Miss Ethel Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Dixon and well known for her solo dances in the Service club revues, tried out yesterday on the stage of the Garrick theater for a place in the ballet of the "Bartered Bride," an operetta to have its English premiere on Dec. 3.

The performance will be one of a series of light operas to be given this winter under the direction of the Operetta corporation, which is drawing its talent exclusively from among Chicagoans. The directors hope to enlist all of the members of the ballet and chorus from the ranks of the Service club and the Junior League.

Edward C. Kohlsaat Weds Mrs. Elizabeth M. Miner

Edward C. Kohlsaat, a Chicago attorney, yesterday was married at Tucson, Ariz., to Mrs. Elizabeth M. Miner, also of Chicago. The bride's mother, Mrs. G. Muther, witnessed the ceremony. Mrs. Muther and her daughter until recently lived at the Ambassador hotel here until illness forced the mother to leave the city. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Charles S. Sparks, pastor of the First Baptist church of Tucson, the couple left for Chicago. Mr. Kohlsaat, who is 54 years old, is a son of the late Federal Judge C. C. Kohlsaat, and a nephew of the late H. H. Kohlsaat, a publisher.

MR. ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT'S enthusiasm for the Chalice of Antioch, which he saw at the Fair this summer and about which he has talked and written frequently, has been the reason for ribbing from his friends. Thus the other evening at a party in New York, at the home of the New Yorker's editor, Harold Ross, the matter was again brought up. Charlie MacArthur slipped away from the gathering, which included such celebrities as Moss Hart, Charles Lederer, and Dorothy Parker, long enough to telephone Ernest Byfield in Chicago and suggest he send a wire to Woollcott, to add to the raillery about the Chalice. Accordingly Mr. Byfield telegraphed:

WE once printed in this space Margalo Gillmore's story of Earle Larimore's visit to Napoleon's tomb in Paris. He was worn out by the heat and the extent of his sightseeing with Miss Gillmore's indefatigable mother. A guide suggested they see the relics of St. Helena and Mr. Larimore murmured:

"Is she buried here too?"

That was the story, and the other evening, after the opening of "Biography," in which Mr. Larimore appears as Richard Kurt ("with a 'k'"), the impassioned young magazine writer, we asked him if the story were true. It was not only true, he said, but when it was told shortly thereafter in the presence of Dame Rachel Crowdy, that distinguished lady had inquired:

"Well, where was she buried?"

MAYBE you didn't know it, but Chicago's original seal was not Venus on a sea shell, as it now appears on official documents. It was Moses in the bulrushes. Caroline McIlvaine, authority on Chicago history, is authority for the statement. Copies of the seal as it was originally made by Dr. Josiah Goodhue in 1835 have come to light as a result of historical research for Walter Conley's hand painted pictorial map of Chicago in 1833. Old documents indicate that the prophetic doctor felt that the new city in the wild onion swamp was destined to be such a leader as the child Pharoah's daughter discovered in the bulrushes.

Inaccurate copying and poor engraving, according to Miss McIlvaine, are responsible for part of the distortion of the original. And one artist, against the protests of Chicago historians, deliberately changed the picture to that of a woman. It has remained thus for thirty years.

A PRIEST and a minister who live in the vicinity of the University of Chicago are very good friends. The priest has a new rectory and his friend complimented him on his new quarters.

"I see no reason for you, with your better half, to congratulate me on my new quarters," wisecracked the celibate, if we can believe William Vaughn.

BY way of report. You've seen that passenger and refrigerator train running on a track 1,000 feet long encircling the Illinois Central exhibit in the Travel and Transport building? The locomotives and cars are built to scale, exact models of the originals they represent, and they operate at a scaled speed of eight miles an hour. A fellow with a statistical turn of mind has estimated that these trains have traveled in the exhibit as far as San Francisco and are now well on their way to Chicago, figuratively speaking.

Final South Side Session to Be Held Today.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

With the old maestro, Ben Bernie, as the piece de resistance of the entertainment served up yesterday in the Trianon, the third day of THE TRIBUNE's third annual cookery carnival drew the record crowd of the week. At least 5,500 women somehow found places—or perches—in the spacious ballroom at 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue, where the final program of the south side series will be staged today. Next week the carnival moves to the west side, where it will be held in Guyon's Paradise ballroom.

It was a banner day for the south side women. Bernie, who had to hurry back to the loop early in the afternoon for his appearances at the Chicago theater, proved a near riot when he took the attractive pair of "grocerettes"—Lorraine Nevens, second prize winner in THE TRIBUNE's competition for Queen of the Fair last summer, and Lois Grider of Wilmette—by surprise and planted a kiss on the face of each girl as he swung into his act.

See and Hear Allan Jones.

But the thrills didn't depart with Ben. For they had Allan Jones, handsomest leading man before the Chicago footlights in several seasons, to look at and to listen to as he utilized a splendid voice in songs from his former operetta, "Nina Rosa." When he took his departure with "I'll See You Again," theme song of "Bittersweet," in which he is playing at the Grand Opera House with Marion Claire, he had hard work getting away from the insistent throng.

Community pride swelled almost to the bursting point when Olga Kargau, who is an alumnus of Englewood High school and also of the Chicago Civic Opera, in which she has sung leading rôles, took the stage and the spotlight for two arias. The Bird song from "Pagliacci" and "Gianina Mia" from "Firefly" suited her lyric coloratura voice perfectly and the audience equally well.

Allan Grant Plays Favorites.

Allan Grant, pianist of W-G-N and a superb accompanist, not only played excerpts from "The Merry Widow" as a solo on request, but officiated at the piano for Allan Jones, Miss Kargau, and the community singing led by Richard De Young with vim and melody. Then Grant played his own arrangement of the "Song of Love" from "Blossom Time." As a pat opening number Mr. De Young set the crowd singing "School Days" between laughs.

Lee Bennett, singing star of Jan Garber's orchestra at the Trianon, brought Rudy Rudisell to accompany his presentation of various numbers that were heartily encored. Bob Elson, staff announcer of W-G-N, introduced the soloist and took a bow on his own for a brief "shop talk" on sports.

Camil Viria, executive chef of Hotel Sherman, had the assistance of Hernandez, pastry chef, in a snappy demonstration for the throng of intent women on how to mix the frosting for a layer cake, how to apply it, and how enticing it can be made when a special bit of care goes into its decoration. Another food authority, Mrs. Cora E. Kresan of the General Foods corporation, told how to handle frozen foods to make them a joy rather than a task.

Miss Anna Nangle, one of the favorite correspondents of many in the ballroom, in her professional capacity as Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE, "a friend in need," was welcomed to the microphones to give a few words of greeting.

The whole assemblage had alternately shrieked with admiration and gasped with surprise as Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood shook a few more sleight of hand performances out of her bag of culinary tricks in the afternoon's discourse and demonstrations of recipes. A vegetable aspic salad tinted with tomato soup was the sensation of the day.

Escalloped Cheese and Onions.

Escalloped cheese and onions proved a "one course meal" and a perfectly balanced dish, nutritiously, as Mrs. Chitwood concocted it. Her banana sherbet was a masterpiece, and her pineapple cake a favorite, while the "hollye French chicken," stuffed and baked, sent the folks home hungry though happy.

Lawrence Salerno, W-G-N baritone and singer of Italian ballads, will be among the guest artists today at the last south side gathering. Another will be Leola Aikman, coloratura and concert singer. Joyce Bennett will come from the Murray Browne dance studios to show a few new steps, and Tony D'Orazi, W-G-N cartoonist of the air, will sketch Miss Mary Meade while the cooking editor of THE TRIBUNE takes over Mrs. Chitwood's equipment to demonstrate one of her favorites. D. A. Clippinger, vocal teacher and choral director, will lead community singing, with Helen Rauh at the piano.

Mrs. Anna J. Peterson of the People's Gas, Light and Coke company will give one of her concise talks on "Personality in Foods," and D. A. Clippinger will handle the baton and the microphones for the community singing, with Helen Rauh at the piano.

CHILE CON CARNE IS AN APPETIZING DISH FOR A CHILLY NIGHT

A hot and enlivening dish for a cold winter night, and a dish with the added virtue of being inexpensive and easily prepared, is chile con carne, which contains one of the day's vegetables as well as the day's serving of meat.

Ingredients include one pound of hamburger, one quart of tomatoes, one tablespoonful of salt, fat for frying the hamburger, one medium size onion in slices, one teaspoon of ground cloves, and cayenne and black pepper.

Sauté the hamburg in the fat, add the other ingredients and let simmer for thirty minutes. Serve piping hot.

To serve at the same meal with chile con carne, the New York State college of home economics suggests mashed potatoes, a raw vegetable salad such as cabbage and peanut salad, whole wheat bread and butter, and baked or coddled apples, with milk for the children to drink and any beverage desired for the adults.

VATICAN INSURES 2 ROME BASILICAS FOR $20,800,000

ROME, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Fire insurance totaling $20,800,000 was taken out today by the Catholic church on Rome's two huge basilicas, St. Paul's and St. Mary Major. The massive edifices of stone possess incalculable value and contain some of the greatest treasures of the church.

The insurance totals $12,500,000 on St. Paul's and $8,330,000 on St. Mary Major. The annual premium, payable out of Holy See funds, totals $20,830. It would take 1,000 years to pay the full amount of the policies in premiums.

Rome's other basilica, St. John Lateran, is not insured. St. Peter's has only the ornate glass insured. The insurance taken out today covers the rich interior decorations and priceless works of art in addition to the buildings.

PLUM PUDDINGS NEEDN'T BE KEPT FOR HOLIDAYS

Try the Variations in Daily Menus.

BY MARY MEADE.

It's just a bit disillusioning to think of Little Jack Horner who "stuck in his thumb and pulled out a plum" and be reminded that it was really a raisin he found in his Christmas pie. But this must have been the case, for raisins have posed as plums in our holiday desserts for many years now.

Traditionally, plum puddings are reserved for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. But since we couldn't possibly squeeze all the varieties into those two meals, let's make some new 1933 traditions and serve plum pudding this year whenever we feel so inclined. And likewise, how about a few adventures in variety? For after a heavy holiday dinner, it's just a bit overwhelming, don't you think, to have set before you a wedge of rich steamed pudding? To solve this problem, there are jellied and frozen plum puddings somewhat lighter than the steamed variety, and to many most epicurean palates, just as good.

1 tablespoon flour.
1½ cups milk.
2 egg yolks.
1 teaspoon gelatin.
¼ cup cold water.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1½ cups whipping cream.

Chop the mixed fruits fine. Combine the ½ cup sugar and ½ cup water, bring to a boil, and let boil 5 minutes. Pour this over the chopped fruit and let stand over night. The next day heat the chocolate and milk in a double boiler until the chocolate is melted. Mix the ¾ cup sugar, flour, and salt together and add to the milk and chocolate mixture. Cook 15 minutes in the top of a double boiler, stirring constantly. Add the beaten yolks and cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add the gelatin, which has been soaked five minutes in the ¼ cup cold water. Chill. Fold in the vanilla and whipped cream, pour into refrigerator trays and freeze. When nearly frozen, fold in the fruits from which the sirup has been drained. Return to the refrigerator tray and let stand one hour. Or, if you prefer, you may purchase chocolate ice cream, add the mixed fruits to it, and freeze for one hour.

JELLIED PLUM PUDDING.

1 cup cold water.
2 cups milk.
1½ one-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate, melted.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 cup seeded raisins.
3 egg whites.
1 cup sugar.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water about 5 minutes. Put the milk with the fruit in a double boiler. When hot, add the melted chocolate which has been combined with part of the sugar and a little milk to make a smooth paste. Add the soaked gelatin and sugar and remove from the burner. When the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the vanilla, chopped nut meats, and the egg whites, beaten stiff. Turn into a wet mold and chill. Remove from the mold and serve with whipped cream.

1933 APPLE CROP IS 7 MILLION BUSHELS OVER LAST YEAR

The apple crop in the United States will be about seven million bushels larger this year than in 1932, according to estimates based on reports from the principal apple producing sections. The total crop this year is expected to be about 147,000,000 bushels.

The state of Washington expects to market about 30 million bushels, New York about 17 million bushels, Virginia 11 million, California, nine million, and Pennsylvania, more than seven million bushels, and there will be smaller amounts from other states. The total is about 21 million bushels less than the five-year average.

HOW TO STORE VEGETABLES IN WINTER IS TOLD

Moisture and Fresh Air Essentials.

Proper moisture, temperature, and fresh air, combined with good, sound vegetables, are essential in storage of vegetables for winter, according to E. S. Haber, professor of vegetable crops, and C. V. Holsinger, extension horticulturist, at Iowa State college [Ames].

Storage of most vegetables should be in a vegetable cellar or cave where a temperature of slightly above freezing may be maintained through the winter, they say. A basement room which contains a furnace is a poor place to store anything except perhaps sweet potatoes, pumpkins, and squash. These three vegetables should be kept at 80 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit for a few weeks and then, after this "curing period," kept at about 55 degrees.

Cool Cellar for Spuds.

Irish potatoes are best stored in a moist, cool cellar, or cave. They keep best at from 40 to 45 degrees, and they should not be washed before storing.

Dry beans and onions need cold, dry storage and can be placed in the attic or a spare room. The garage may be used until the weather becomes extremely cold.

Root crops, such as beets, carrots, parsnips, turnips, and celery, need a cool storage place, and they will stand a light freezing if the freezing and thawing are slow. Moisture is needed to prevent shriveling. A special storage room partitioned off in the basement where the temperature will remain low may be constructed by using fiber board for walls. Celery and cabbage keep best in moist and cool air, and, therefore, may be stored in crates on the floor. Keeping the floor covered with moist dirt or sand will provide the necessary amount of humidity.

Root and Leaf Vegetables.

The root and leaf crops, such as cabbage, carrots, and turnips, need a temperature of from 32 to 38 degrees Fahrenheit. They may be kept in an outdoor pit, but this practice is not generally recommended because the contents of the pit are likely to freeze, rot, or mold.

Only vegetables in firm condition, with no cuts, bruises, or rotten spots, should be considered for storage. Provision should be made for ventilation and proper temperature. A thermometer in the storage room has often proved to be a good investment.

IF FISH HAS NO TASTE IT'S ALL WASTE

Many housewives do not understand why their fish has little or no taste. It is old fish. That's the reason. Ask your fish dealer for 40-Fathom Fish which don't have time to lose its fresh-caught flavor for it fairly flies from deep ocean to your dealer.

40-Fathom Fish is the cream of the catch—boned and free from heads, tails and all waste—the flaky, white tenderloin of the sea—blushing with tender, juicy, ocean flavor—ready for the fire without even washing—easy to cook as bacon.

Neither you nor your dealer may be able to tell how good a piece of fish is going to taste when you buy it. Therefore, ask for 40-Fathom Fish which guarantees you that fresh-caught flavor of the sea.

But get 40-Fathom Fish in the 40-Fathom wrapper with the name and the picture of Old 40-Fathom on the wrapper. If fish in some other wrapper or fish in no wrapper is offered you as 40-Fathom Fish, don't buy it. Get 40-Fathom Fish in the 40-fathom wrapper.

"NO need for quivering lips and teary eyes, on the part of children, while Mother says: 'Eat what's in front of you; grown-up desserts aren't good for little children'," thinks Mrs. Fred Krammen, 1228 Washington Ave., Wilmette. "That's why I buy Kosto. Adults love it; it has the perfect flavor that grown-ups and children both love—yet it's so good for my growing children. And it makes countless new and beautiful desserts, with only ten minutes cooking."

And that's what hundreds of thousands of other busy housewives say! Here at last is a dessert that runs over with healthful substances such as doctors recommend—yet is so tasty that children and grown-ups alike demand more.

Just try any one of the three Kosto flavors. Just add a pint of milk to chocolate or vanillin Kosto (water for lemon Kosto)—and cook for ten minutes according to directions. Serve plain, or with any fruit or cake combination you like—you'll find it equal to the finest desserts you've ever made. Only 10c for any flavor—at all stores.

NEW TAX RAISES PORK AND CORN PRODUCT PRICES

Some Stores Still Stick to Lower Figures.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Pork and corn product prices this week join the list of advancing commodity costs in most Chicago food stores, due to the imposition of processing taxes and other factors in the federal program of aiding farmers and general business recovery.

Although the tax was made payable beginning last Monday morning, some retail stores are adhering to the previous lower prices on such items as hams, bacon, pork chops, spareribs, pigs' feet, corn flakes, hominy, and cornmeal. Retail stores are not required to pay tax on their pork and corn products on hand until next month unless they find it necessary to replenish stocks from the wholesale markets.

Prices Up in Some Stores.

Some stores were found to have marked up their pork cuts already, in a range from 5 to 12 per cent. The tax amounts to anywhere from one-eighth of a cent to one and three-fourths cents per pound on various pork items and stores generally expect to advance retail prices to the next even cent per pound. On bacon, for instance, the tax increase is about 2 cents a pound, bringing retail bacon prices in Chicago to a price one-fifth greater than those prevailing last spring.

Potatoes, on the other hand, are perhaps the cheapest they have been this year, and are retailing at prices only one-third of what they were last spring. The heavy harvest movement of potatoes is nearly spent and vegetable market authorities declare the bottom has been reached in potato prices for the season.

Demand of consumers for eggs has been heightened recently by cold weather, with the result that large reserve holdings in cold storage have been reduced at a rapid rate and at lower prices the last few weeks. Wholesale egg prices advanced the last two days somewhat, with the knowledge that storage holdings of eggs now are the lightest, with the exception of 1929, of any November holdings since 1899.

Best Eggs at Economical Prices.

Many stores still are able to sell high grade storage eggs at 19 to 20 cents a dozen and comply with the NRA code requiring that foods be sold at a profit. Finest fresh eggs of mixed color are to be had at 25 to 30 cents and those of extra grades at 30 to 35 cents a dozen, making eggs one of the most economical purchases when food value is considered.

Predictions are freely made by food merchants that fruit and vegetable prices will not advance as do those commodities affected by the government's taxing program. Beets, radishes, carrots, spinach, lettuce, sweet potatoes, cranberries, apples, oranges, grapefruit, grapes, squash, cabbage, and celery are priced at hardly any increase over their cost at the flush of the marketing season for these foods.

Roasts of beef, especially pot roasts, are being featured at unusually low prices this week-end. Ample supplies of grains and other feeds on western farms this fall have enabled farmers to fatten their meat animals to a fine quality.

Former Luxuries at Low Figures.

A striking affect of present day food values is seen in pricing the foods which a few years ago were luxuries at this season. They have been obliged to compete with other foods this fall on a basis which brings such delicacies as early western rhubarb, broccoli, southern asparagus, green and wax beans, endive, Brussels sprouts, hothouse tomatoes, mushrooms, cauliflower, escarole, eggplant, shallots, and even strawberries and raspberries into the realm of attractive price ranges.

PUMPKIN PIE A POPULAR AND CHEAP DESSERT

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Pumpkin pie, a traditional dessert for fall and early winter, is also an economical one, according to Miss Aneta Beadle, nutrition expert of Purdue university.

The crust of one pie that will yield six generous slices, she says, costs less than 2 cents for flour, and a fraction of a cent for lard. Five cents worth of pumpkin, 2 cents worth of butter, a little over 3 cents of milk, 2 cents for an egg, and something less than 2 cents for sugar and spice, added to the crust cost, give a total of 15 cents for the "making" of a pumpkin pie, Miss Beadle says.

Still cheaper is an apple pie. Miss Beadle recommends placing some very thin slices of cheese over the top of an apple pie just before the pie is taken out of the oven, and then leaving it in the oven long enough to melt the cheese. This makes a very tempting dessert if served hot, she says.

PUMPKIN OR SQUASH PIE.

- 1½ cups cooked pumpkin or squash
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon allspice
- ¼ teaspoon mace
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Pastry

Heat the pumpkin or squash, milk, sugar, spices, and salt in a double boiler, add the beaten eggs and butter, and mix well. Pour the hot filling into a deep baked pastry shell, and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] about 30 minutes, or until the filling sets.

INDIAN SUMMER BOOSTS SALE OF BEER IN INDIANA

Warm weather in the last two weeks of October boosted beer sales to the extent that $5,000 more in taxes was collected than the preceding fortnight.

Total taxes for the last two weeks of the month amounted to $27,308.27, compared with $22,067.78 the preceding two weeks.

Sterling Breweries, Inc., Evansville, made the largest increase in sales, paying $5,175.73 in taxes to threaten Berghoff of Fort Wayne, with $5,295.55, as leader.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila, known as "Bun" O'Reilly, an American, makes a comfortable living abroad by helping fellow countrymen out of difficulties. Fred Crawford, a Paris newspaper man, is her friend and counselor. Bun agrees to help James B. Findlay, an elderly, wealthy American, find his young wife, Helène. He wants no publicity. He had met Helène after the war in Bucharest. He had installed her family, the Bobinaoffs, in a villa on the Riviera at Grasse. Her brother, Ferenz, he had brought to America. No trace can be found of Helène and her parents since the last time she returned to visit them. Bun's suspicions are aroused by Finlay's niece, Mrs. Craymer. A recent newspaper picture showing Helène standing with a tall woman in a group at Biarritz is the only clue Bun has to go on. That same night Finlay is murdered. The money Finlay had given Bun as advance payment is stolen from her apartment. Finlay's son, Robert, arrives from America. He proves to be an impostor. Bun meets the real Robert Finlay in Cannes. She is attracted to him, but believes he's in love with Helène. She continues the quest with him. The tall woman with Helène in the group picture is identified as the Countess Vernadon, who has a villa in Grasse. Bun and Robert call on her at her dreary villa. She denies knowing Helène. As they are leaving they see a woman fall from a window. They send a doctor out from the town. Next day Mrs. Craymer, who had arrived in Cannes is found dead. Fred Crawford joins Bun. Robert leaves for Bucharest after receiving a note he thinks is from Helène. Bun and Crawford call on the doctor who had been sent to the villa of Countess Vernadon.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

A DANGEROUS UNDERTAKING.

Bun thought she detected a certain anxiety in the doctor's voice, surely in the curious way in which he looked at her. She decided to let him take the lead in the conversation.

"She is quite ill," he said, after a short pause. "I am glad you have come. Madame la Comtesse is not there. She has not been there since yesterday. The case is serious. I do not like the responsibility alone. I shall report the matter tomorrow to the prefect. I have insisted from the first that she be brought into Grasse to a nursing home. Madame la Comtesse would not consent."

Bun's eyes met his with an intentional criticism. "Could you not persuade her?"

He held out his hands in a helpless gesture. For the first time Bun noticed his talon like fingers. "I did all I could."

"But—if anything happens to her will you not be held responsible?"

He flushed darkly. "I cannot force my suggestions upon my clients."

"Even though she has now been left alone! Who would oppose you?"

"Servants have been left in the house."

Bun shrugged contemptuously, but said nothing. She was fairly sure she had stumbled on the right tack to take with this man. Already he was beginning to show agitation.

"May I ask, madame, what you know about this woman?"

"May I ask what you do?" she answered, quickly on guard.

The doctor stared down at his talonlike fingers. "I have been on this case several months. It has disturbed me from the beginning—the woman's condition. I have never seen her alone. Either Madame la Comtesse or a man who is often there has always remained in the room when I made my visits. Each time I asked what they evidently considered too leading a question they answered for the woman. I have an impression that they feared she might say something compromising to them. A doctor often comes across such cases. It is not our affair to inquire too intimately into family matters." Suddenly he looked up at Bun. "Do you speak English, madame?"

"I am American."

"Bien—tres bien! I do not understand a word of English; and this woman, who is now in a delirious condition, is continually speaking it."

Bun tried to keep the excitement from showing in her voice. "Then it is an obligation on your part to have some one who speaks English see her."

"That is what I was thinking of."

"I will go with you to see her."

"But—you do not understand—Madame la Comtesse would allow no one to enter the house."

"Not even a trained nurse?"

The doctor started. "Are you one?"

"I can pretend to be. Could you not provide me with a costume?"

The doctor got up and strode about the room. "You don't seem to understand that this will create complications if it is found out by Madame la Comtesse."

"Will it not cause more complications—even accusations—if it is proved that you took no steps to care properly for this woman?"

"I am not responsible for my client's whims."

"But your reputation as a serious physician?"

Again the man's back was to her, but Bun, looking at him, was fairly sure she knew what his expression was showing—a struggle between greed and fear of criticism. When he turned back to her his face showed futile anger.

"When would you go with me, madame?"

Again hesitation swept over him. Then, with an abrupt decision, he went toward the door. "Will you please wait here, madame. I shall see if my wife has anything that will serve as a uniform."

Bun listened until his footsteps had died down as he went up the hall stairs. Then she hurried to the front door and signaled to Crawford to come in. When he had followed her into the waiting room she explained quickly what she was going to do.

"It's phony to the 'nth degree," he grumbled.

"Of course it is. And I wouldn't miss doing it over my own dead body. Once in that villa I shan't leave until I've found out something. It's the only way, Fred. I've got to do it."

He drew a long breath, looked about undecidedly, then took a pistol from his pocket. "Do you know how to use these things?"

"I've occasionally hit the side of a house." Bun's lips were suddenly taut.

"You could defend yourself if you had to?"

"I've never had to. They say self-defense is one of the strongest impulses we have. I suppose I'm normal that way."

He pressed the pistol into her hand as they heard the doctor returning. She slipped it into the pocket of her long coat. "And tell him I'm going along to watch outside the house."

When the doctor entered the room, carrying a voluminous white apron and a cap, Bun immediately explained that she had called her friend in to tell him what they were going to do and that he insisted upon going with them."

"To follow and be on hand if you need me," Crawford added. Then to Bun, in English: "I'll pick up a taxi here in Grasse and follow to the entrance gate. Then I'll sneak into the grounds. If you want me all you've got to do is to fire that pistol—at the wall, if you have compunctions about aiming at any one. Is that all clear?"

Bun nodded. The doctor stared from one to the other, not understanding a word of what they said. Then Crawford hurried off to find a taxi and the doctor went to run his car out of the garage. While they were gone Bun put on the apron and cap.

Fifteen minutes later Crawford was back in a taxi. He found Bun seated beside the doctor in an open flivver, hardly recognizable in her nurse's uniform.

"I'd never have known you!" he exclaimed.

"I hope the Countess Vernadon won't."

"You still think you're going to find her there?"

"I'm sure of it."

Crawford fell back, and while she drove off with the doctor he climbed in beside the driver of the taxi and told him to follow at a discreet distance.

By the time they reached the road above the town and turned off into the narrow one that led towards the villa, they were close upon the doctor's car. Crawford counseled the driver to slow down and took advantage of the moment to light a cigaret. Staring ahead he saw mountains outlined against the sky—grim mountains, he thought. He felt a slight shudder creep over him as he looked at them.

"What a God awful place to choose for a house!"

The driver shrugged. "It was—years ago. Had a smelly reputation then. I'm not so sure all the fumes have been wiped away yet."

"What do you mean by that?"

Again the man shrugged. "Nothing, monsieur. Only—sometimes I ask myself why people who own expensive cars pick out a place like this to live in. Not that they do live in it," he added.

"She does. And she comes here every now and then. Why—I ask you. It's what we all wonder about in Grasse."

Silver Wedding Wife Discusses Marriage Unity

BY DORIS BLAKE.

HOLLYWOOD.—[Special.]—In a community notorious for its divorce lawyer patronage it is necessary to be reminded that herein abide couples who've seen a silver wedding anniversary. There are a number of these, you know, either already twenty-five year celebrants or couples well on the way to the silver jubilee. Outstanding Hollywood matrimonial "die-hards" are Mr. and Mrs. James Gleason, who've trod the matrimonial road together for twenty-five years, and are still in love.

"How come?" you ask, "in the face of so much rumored opposition?"

"No, not luck," says Mrs. Gleason, gray-haired, handsome and pleasantly rounded. "O, yes, luck in getting the right man or woman, but marriage itself is something else. A job you've got to put your heart and soul into!"

Mrs. Gleason doesn't think much of the plan of trying to change a husband. The way he was before marriage, well, that's good enough afterwards, too. Better be sure you want him as he is before marrying him, and then let him alone.

The self-denying type of wife who moans about the sacrifices she has made, or is making, is not likely to be invited to tea at Mrs. Gleason's. There's no patience with her.

If one likes coffee and the other likes tea, for Heaven's sake serve both. Let each keep his own personality even in little things, pleads Mrs. Gleason.

If your mate has a yarn to tell, pay him the same interested listening courtesy you pay a guest telling a story. What if you've heard his tales before? He's heard yours, too, and may be just as bored with the repetition.

If a man had a great many outside interests before marriage, don't try to nail him to his home steadily. The fact that he's married does not make him less interested in his club or game. The wife should have her own set of interests.

When times are hard, stick together, is Mrs. Gleason's advice to young people starting out. Two working together will bring success much quicker than each working alone. The self-confidence one inspires in the other is one of the beautiful things in marriage.

almost across the street at the Arts club, where an exhibition of the George Gershwin collection of modern paintings and one of paintings by Roger Fry will be opened.

The tea at the Tavern is at 4 o'clock and that at the Arts club for 4 to 6, so undoubtedly those who want to attend both will go first to 333 North Michigan avenue, where the Tavern has its stunning moderne rooms on the 25th floor, and then across to 410 North Michigan, where the Arts club's attractive home is on the 2d floor.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, who is chairman of the reception committee of the Arts club and also a member of the board of the Italy America society is in demand for both parties, and so is Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, whose husband is the new president of the Italy America society.

Also pouring at the tea for the Potenzianis will be Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler, and Mrs. Wentworth G. Field. John M. Handley and Augustus S. Peabody are vice presidents of the Italy America society, Miss Clara Lake is executive secretary and treasurer, and the board members are Mrs. Jacob Baur, Giulio Bolognesi, Mrs. Hermon B. Butler, Louis Eckstein, Mrs. Field, Hayden B. Harris, Mrs. Kirk, Walter Lichtenstein, Franklin B. Martin, Harold F. McCormick, Mrs. Palmer, George W. Rossetter, Silas H. Pouring at the Arts club tea will be Mrs McCormick, Mrs. Robert Harshe, Mrs. Daniel C. Rich, Miss Eleanor Holden, Mrs. Francis Johnson, Mrs. Andrew Sherriff, Mrs. Frederic C. Winterbotham Jr., Mrs. Samuel Marx, and Mrs. Martin Schutze. The "shows" that will be opened today are the first of the season at the club.

Prince Will Give Farewell Dinner.

Prince Potenziani is giving a farewell dinner at the Drake hotel tomorrow night which will also be in celebration of the birthday of the king of Italy. Prince Potenziani, Italian commissioner to the Fair, has become so popular that society is bidding him au revoir with great reluctance and is hoping that he and his charming daughter will return next year for the second edition of the Fair.

Mrs. John Noble Stearns Jr. [Alice Cudahy McCormick], who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy of 22 Banks street, for several days, is going to Lake Forest today to spend the week-end with one of her sisters, Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding.

Mrs. Clifford Rodman will entertain at dinner tonight for Mrs. Stearns and Sunday Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr. will give a buffet luncheon for her. Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Spalding and Mrs. Stearns will attend the dinner dance the John Hugheses are having at the Onwentsia Hunt club at Millburn following the point to point race. Mrs. Stearns has another sister living in Lake Forest, Mrs. Austin H. Niblack, and still another who lives in town, Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm. Mrs. Stearns will leave for her home in New York on Tuesday.

Mrs. Glore Gives Window to Church.

One of the nicest gifts we have heard of in a long time is the handsome stained glass window that Mrs. Charles F. Glore has given to the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest in memory of her father, the late Frank Pennell Hixon. Mr. Hixon was for six years a vestryman of the parish.

The subject of the window is St. John, the apostle and evangelist. In the central figures of the double window he appears as these characters with the other apostles of the early church grouped about him.

This is the fifth set of stained glass windows installed in the lovely Lake Forest church since 1926, when the building was enlarged according to the plans of Alfred H. Granger, then the senior warden. Most of the windows have been designed by Charles J. Connick of Boston, who also planned the Hixon window. Mrs. Glore previously had Mr. Connick design a window similar to that just given to the Lake Forest church for the old family house of worship at La Crosse, Wis.

Members of the Woman's Athletic club and their guests will hear Carveth Wells talk this morning about "Russia Today" at 11 o'clock. The lecture will be illustrated.

Dinner Dance Is Postponed.

The dinner dance the Junior board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children was to have had this evening in the Joseph Urban room of the Congress hotel has been postponed. Although Mrs. Alan Lockard, who has been handling the publicity, was unable to announce a new date yesterday she said that it would probably be some time in December.

The arrival of Mrs. Frederick Stockwell from Philadelphia next week will be the reason for activity by north shore alumnæ of Vassar college. Mrs. Stockwell is coming as the representative of President Henry Noble MacCracken to tell about the summer institute of euthenics at Vassar.

Mrs. Stockwell will talk at 2 o'clock Tuesday at the National Kindergarten school in Evanston. On Wednesday she will give two lectures, one in the morning at the home of Mrs. Duane Peterson at 1014 Starr road, Winnetka, and another in the evening at the Winnetka Community house at the same time Carleton Washburne speaks to a group of his townfolk.

Society Wears Stylish Furs to Hockey Opener

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Society proved last night that the skating rink will be one of its amusements this winter. Muffled in minks and caraculs, several hundred fashionables were around the big ring of the Chicago Stadium to watch the city's Blackhawks, rampant with zeal, match the New York Americans in the opening fray of the Blackhawks' eighth season.

Slippery temperatures were an incentive rather than a deterrent to the throng, even to the dozens who had motored all the way from Lake Forest. In fact they thanked Jack Frost for giving them real hockey weather.

Through the blue haze that always covers the skating pond—the suggestion that it would be better not to smoke is never heeded—there was Maj McLaughlin watching his Hawks with a hawk's eye. With Mrs. McLaughlin, swathed in a mink cape and a matching dress and beret, he was host in one of the north side boxes to many McLaughlins. There were the Herbert McLaughlins, the young George McLaughlins, and Maj. McLaughlin's sister, Miss Harriet McLaughlin.

Not far from them sat the George Richardsons, who were entertaining for Miss Nancy Morse, the debutante in their family. Miss Morse had no less than three beaux, with Hoyt Smith, George Bent, and George Underwood of New York all drawing for honors as the escort. Mrs. Richardson was stunning in a mink wrap and a tiny black velvet hat.

If Joseph T. Ryerson has any voice today it will be great wonder, for he shouted himself hoarse. A dinner hostess who took her guests to the hockey match was Miss Margaret Conover. With her sister, Mrs. Eugene S. Talbot, Miss Conover was entertaining eighteen friends for her attractive young niece, Miss Clara Owen, who is here from Eau Claire, Wis. Miss Owen is the daughter of the John Greenleaf Owens.

The Solomon A. Smiths were enjoying a family party with their two sons, a daughter-in-law, and a daughter-in-law-to-be as their box guests. Edward Smith was escorting his fiancée, Miss Louise Dewey, and the young Solomon B. Smiths were together.

After dinner with Mrs. Chauncey Keep the Robert A. Gardners joined their host and hostess, the Lester Armours, for a hockey evening. There wasn't a more excited fan in the whole stadium last night than Mr. Armour, for he's never forgotten the days when he captained Yale's hockey team.

One of the fashion notes in the box row was Mrs. Paul Walker's striking wool costume. With a handsome mink coat she wore a dress in tones of gray and rose with matching hat and gloves. Mr. and Mrs. Walker were the guests last evening of Mr. and Mrs. James Norris, two of Lake Forest's hockey fans. Across the aisle from this party were Whitney Campbell and Kenneth Montgomery with Mrs. Charles Heile and Mrs. Walter Lyons.

During the two brief intermissions many society folk met at the refreshment stand in the east corridor. Miss Nancy Traylor, another spectator wrapped in mink, stopped by with Ralph Applegate. Miss Eleanor Janney, a debutante of this season, was one of a large party gathered around the stand, and so was Miss Helen Marie Castle, a post-deb by one year. Others found in this general meeting place were petite Jean Wilhelm and Miss Grace Fitzmorris.

W. C. T. U. Head to Stress Temperance Education

The national officers of the W. C. T. U. welcomed their new president, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Iowa, to Evanston last night with a dinner at the Orrington hotel. Mayor Charles H. Bartlett and Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, were among the guests. Mrs. Smith said that the W. C. T. U. would increase its temperance education activities now that prohibition has been repealed.

Rudolph Ganz Guest Leader at Symphony

Orchestra Sketches His 'Animal Pictures.'

Chicago Symphony orchestra in concert at Orchestra hall Thursday, Nov. 9; Frederick Stock, conductor; Rudolph Ganz, pianist and composer, soloist and guest conductor. The program:

"Rondo Infinito," opus 42........Sinding
Symphony No. 1, E minor, opus 39 ........Sibelius
Concerto for Pianoforte, No. 2, C minor, opus 18..........Rachmaninow
"Animal Pictures"..................Ganz

BY EDWARD MOORE.

This was a program intended to give publicity to some of the musical virtues of Mr. Ganz. He has many, more than could be expressed in the course of one concert, wherefore this recognition, even though partial, was much to the purpose.

His solo performance in the Rachmaninow Concerto was brave and courteous, a model for all performances of the composition. He is one of the fortunate pianists able to make his hearers forget a practically infallible, glittering technical development because of the fine qualities of imagination and interpretation that overlay it. You may start by admiring the pianist; you end by admiring the music. So when it is all over you admire the pianist.

When it came to his "Animal Pictures," which, by the way, had their first Chicago performance under his baton last night, he seems to have had a pedagogical idea in his mind, but he was too much of an artist to permit pedagogy to get in the way of some entertaining musical humor. When he first wrote the set two years ago he explained that he wanted to give children material which would allow them to become acquainted with modern idioms. He called them "twenty piano pieces for children who want to grow up and grownups who still can be young, by Rudolph Ganz, trainer."

So here is "The Donkey," "Capering Kittens," "Alligator's Promenade," and perhaps there is extra significance in the fact that "Monkeyshines Around the Organ Grinder" is placed next to "Fleas." There is a real and frequently successful effort to make the little pieces indicate the characteristic motion or sound of their titles, and the fun is heightened because the orchestra is capable of so much more than the piano. The modern idiom is put to the good use of expressing something instead of displaying itself for its own sake.

Mr. Stock directed the first part of the program, the "Rondo Infinito," which is of great charm, and the Sibelius Symphony, a sincere, honest, restrained composition that sometimes does not succed in being exciting. In the concerto he had quite as much of a part in expressing its drama with the orchestra as Mr. Ganz did with the piano.

LADY EVELYN'S JEWELS.

Young Telfar joined Prof. Fordney and Constable Goodheel as the latter pointed to the broken strip of ivy directly below Lady Evelyn's room which opened onto the recently added 10 foot balcony running around the north and west sides of Lord Telfar's old manor house in Surrey.

"Any clews, Goodheel?" he inquired, poking the constable in the ribs. They were old friends.

"Hey, youngster, don't go fooling with the law! Clews? You bet! Look at that ivy! I was just telling the professor, when you so rudely thrust yourself upon us, that the burglar climbed up here onto the balcony and hence into Lady Evelyn's room."

"Well, your cousin's description of Fordney laughed.

"I was telling Goodheel just before you joined us that the thief certainly did not gain his entrance as he believed and that it might be an inside job!"

WHY DID FORDNEY KNOW GOODHEEL WAS WRONG?

The prima donna returned to the White House with Mrs. Roosevelt from the meeting of the Women's Crusade committee in Constitutional hall, where Mrs. Roosevelt made a speech and Miss Moore sang.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt issued invitations today for a musical in the East room following the first of the state dinners in the White House on Nov. 16.

Miss Dressler Is Honored on 62d Birthday

Cake for Big Celebration Weighs 500 Pounds.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Seated around a monstrous cake weighing 500 pounds, eight feet tall and six feet across the base, 700 persons tonight paid tribute to Marie Dressler on the sixty-second birthday anniversary of the beloved screen actress.

It was Hollywood's biggest and gayest birthday party. It began with a dinner dance on Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's largest sound stage, with other phases of the celebration overflowing to other stages.

Hundreds of telegrams of congratulation from various cities in the United States and in Canada, her birthplace, were banked high on the speakers' table.

At a signal within the great banquet hall all lights were extinguished, and out of the darkness powerful spotlights stabbed at the center of the dance floor, where the giant chocolate cake had been hauled on a decorated electric truck driven by white garbed chefs.

Gov. James Rolph Jr., Will Rogers, Lionel Barrymore, May Robson, and Polly Moran were among the speakers who lauded the personal qualities of the honor guest. Among those in the crowd were United States Senator Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona and Mrs. Ashurst, Carrie Jacobs Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. De Mille, Sid Grauman United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo of California and Mrs. McAdoo, and Clark Gable.

Miss Dressler recalled that she made her first public appearance as "Cupid" on a pedestal in a church performance at the age of five; that she was laughed at in an amateur theatrical at Lindsay, Canada, when she was 14, and in retaliation she joined a light opera troupe.

Since then the veteran actress has played almost every part on the stage, from the chorus up. It was Maurice Barrymore, father of Ethel, John and Lionel, who was responsible for changing her into a comic. He saw her laugh making qualities which others had missed.

From a part in a chorus at $8 a week Miss Dressler has risen to one of the highest salaried stars in pictures, but she arrived at the top over a circuitous route and knew the trials and heartaches of the show business before she made her first big hit, that of Flo Honeydew in the play "Lady Slavey."

On her first venture abroad, a trip to London, she was short of money, and engaged third class passage. The steamship company had heard of her and transferred her to the bridal suite, with its official compliments.

Very fond of music, Miss Dressler can count long friendships with Schumann-Heink, Tetrazini, Calve, Hemple, Mary Garden, Scotti, Caruso, Edmund Burke, and other artists.

She wrote a book on her life, titled "The Life Story of an Ugly Duckling." She has known all the Presidents since Cleveland and has been a guest at the White House many times. She lives in a two story red brick house in Beverly Hills with a housekeeper who has been with her 18 years.

Direct Attacks on Bashfulness Make It Worse

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

When you speak to her she tucks her head in her mother's skirts—the shy child does. Or she turns her face away and hangs her head. But it's not only the small boy or girl who suffers from shyness. Children of all ages go through these throes.

The mother of a grownup son was talking to me the other day.

"You know John is so frightfully bashful," she added. "I don't know what we are going to do about it. And by the way," she stopped a minute, "if he acts so when you see him next Monday, for goodness' sake try not to notice it."

Sometimes I think we grownups have a feeling that we have a corner on suffering—that children and young people haven't the capacity for it that we have. But any one who has ever been really shy knows tortures shyness can cause a boy or girl—or a grown person either for that matter.

If we, as mothers and fathers, can spare our children that kind of misery we ought to make every effort to do so, but it isn't always easy.

Shyness has to be dealt with in-
For shyness has to be dealt with indirectly. If we attack it directly we can only succeed in making the young victim doubly self-conscious, for, in the first place, his shyness is in itself a kind of self-consciousness. Then if you talk about the shyness to him you make him self-conscious about being self-conscious. And there he is, twice as miserable!

Our booklet, "Have You a Shy Child?" will be sent on receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Miss Skipworth Furnishes Refreshing Interview.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HOLLYWOOD.—[Special.]—In this place of wide-eyed blondes and platinum hair and exotic atmosphere, it's refreshing to run across a good old trouper like Alison Skipworth with a tongue in her head that slays exaggeration with words and phrases characterstically her own.

"What do you want to talk about?" she challenges you from behind one-half closed lid and a penetrating other eye. Before you have time to answer, she warns:

"Don't you dare talk about diets or figures to me! Keep off that personal stuff. You interviewers are either terrible or you're nice! I don't know what you are but the other day I lunched with one who wrote a diabolical piece about how I stuffed and gorged and urged everyone else in the place to do the same. I am the most abstemious person alive, both on eating and drinking. A thing like that just makes me boil.

"There's President Roosevelt to talk about—the grandest figure that ever arose in public life. If he never does a thing more than he's done already, if everything fails even, he's still a great, great man. He's given us courage and faith and hope! This, without being a bully or dictator. We ought to be deeply grateful to and for him.

"There's the appalling English you hear over the radio we could talk about. But we don't need to talk about it. We can turn it off—the best thing about a radio. Only why can't they improve some of the pronunciations we have to listen to!

"A philosophy about life, you say! Surely, we must have some philosophy to keep going from day to day. Live the day. Get the best you can out of it, and don't let old age worry you. The way to meet old age is never to think about it.

"There's always a place for a good old actress. A pretty girl can pop up any time from anywhere—but it takes twenty years, at least, to build an actress of enduring quality. Let's take 100 pretty girls who go on the stage. In two years fifty per cent have disappeared. In another two years half of this fifty is gone. In ten year's time, if one survives, she's about all that does. Consequently, there is a place and a demand for us old timers like Marie Dressler, May Robson and myself. So, you don't have to worry about age, if you've prepared to meet it and have something to offer."

Russian Author, Now Living in France, Awarded Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Three Nobel price awards were made today, including the annual prize for literature given to the Russian author, Ivan Alexeyevich Bunin.

The 1933 award in physics was divided between Paul A. M. Dirac, Lucasian professor of mathematics at Cambridge university, England, and Prof. Erwin Schroedinger of Austria, for their work in connection with the atomic theory.

The 1932 physics prize was awarded to Prof. Werner Heisenberg of Leipzig, Germany, for his work on a theory of the mechanics of quantities, application of which led to the discovery of allotrophic forms of hydrogen.

Bunin, now living in France, was born Oct. 10, 1870, the son of a Russian landowner. Among his best works are poems of his country inspired by boyhood experiences. He won the Pushkin prize, highest academic distinction under the czar, for some of his early poetry, and again for his translation into Russian of Longfellow's "Hiawatha."

Bunin's most recent work, "The Well of Days," was recently published in England.

Portman May Take Froschauer's Place.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Crain Portman, the fastest man on the squad, will probably replace Frank Froschauer at left half back in the starting lineup against Northwestern, it was revealed in the Illinois football camp today.

This move was foreshadowed yesterday when Portman proved the most effective ground gainer against Northwestern's defense as demonstrated by the freshmen. Portman weighs only 152 pounds, but is muscular.

He has been the hard luck man of the squad for two years. He suffered a broken ankle at the start of the 1932 season. On the eve of the opening of practice he stumbled over a cistern top and injured an ankle, but regained condition in time to appear against Michigan.

Strengthens Attack.

Zuppke's decision to use Portman was indicated today and is in line with the efforts of the coach to strengthen his running attack.

Today's workout was devoted largely to instructions against the Northwestern offense, both the double wing back and the new attack which Dick Hanley has developed. There was no actual scrimmage for the regulars, however.

With the exception of Capt. Walser there are no cripples and Zuppke will be able to place his regular starting lineup in the field. Starting of Portman adds more inexperience to the eleven. Only three men, Acting Capt. Frink and Schustek, ends, and Cook, full back, are playing their third year. This is the second season for Bloom, center, a senior; Bennis, right guard, and Beynon, quarter back. Antilla and Galbreath, tackles; Grysboski, left guard, and Lindberg, half back, are sophomores.

Illini Leave Today.

The Illini will leave for Chicago tomorrow noon on a special train, which will also carry the vanguard of the local enthusiasts. A brief practice will precede the departure. The squad will stop at a north side hotel, making their first visit to Dyche stadium at game time. The personnel will be as follows:

Ends—Frink, Schustek, Straw, Waller, Benson, Dykstra.
Centers—Bloom, Walzer, Frederick, Hedtke.
Guards—Bennis, Grysboski, Piatt, Kuhn, Kowalski, Petty, Abraham.
Tackles—Antilla, Galbreath, Gragg, Cummings, Palmer.
Full backs—Cook, Snook, Fischer.

EXPECT RECORD CROWD.

The homecoming game between Illinois and Northwestern at Dyche stadium tomorrow is expected to attract a crowd of 40,000 fans. Even the low temperatures and snow flurries of the last few days has not slowed up ticket sales and the Northwestern ticket office has disposed of over 2,000 tickets per day since Monday. Tomorrow's crowd will be the largest to witness a college game in Chicago since 1931.

A big pep meeting and bonfire will usher in the homecoming celebration on the Northwestern campus tonight. Students have collected material for the annual bonfire on the field adjacent to Patten gymnasium. The fire will be ignited at 8 o'clock. Talks by Coach Dick Hanley and Tug Wilson and the presentation of the Northwestern players will follow.

It's No. 25.

The game will be the 25th between the two schools. The series started in 1892 and with the exception of a break at the turn of the century when Northwestern dropped football, it has been an annual affair. Illinois has won 12 games, Northwestern 10, and two were tied. The Wildcats have been victorious in the last four engagements.

Sensing an opportunity of breaking the Northwestern winning streak has stimulated the interest of the Illini followers. They will be on hand in great numbers to greet the strongest Orange and Blue eleven since the championship team of 1928.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

DONIE BUSH, who would have been 1934 manager of the Cincinnati Reds if Sidney Weil had remained the big boss, is in a receptive mood for another managerial job, but he probably isn't worrying much. . . . He has the Indiana agency for one of the world's largest breweries and has three big warehouses buzzing. . . . Elmer Layden, whose Duquesne university eleven has won eight straight games, is negotiating with T. Nelson Metcalf for the opening spot on Chicago's schedule next year. . . . Duquesne loses ten of eleven regulars who have put the team among the front runners this season.

ELMER LAYDEN.

Dick Hanley of Northwestern is a four handicap man at golf. . . . He plans to play in a few winter tournaments and hopes to be a two handicap man next year. . . . His favorite trouble club is the jigger, used by many exclusively as a runup club when there's no trouble in sight. . . . There doesn't seem to be anything wrong with the Notre Dame system of football. . . . Twenty-one teams employing this style were victorious last Saturday. . . . Eleven were defeated, but six lost to teams coached by former Notre Dame athletes. . . .

Some of our Big Ten stars would fare better on defense if they would tackle the runner instead of the ball. . . . Pug Lund of Minnesota almost broke away twice at Dyche stadium because the Purple players were more interested in getting the ball than they were the ball carriers . . . Carl Stockholm, former six day bicycle racer, who retired from competition at 35, says he is going to keep his stable of wheels until he's 85. . . . The Blackhawk hockey players are pulling for Illinois to win the Big Ten championship. . . . Zuppke and Huff made them feel at home during their training period at Champaign and the boys haven't forgotten it. . . .

Anton Kaska, full back on the Illinois Wesleyan eleven, never played football until his senior year in high school due to his slight physique. . . . His father has been a miner for 45 years, but Anton never has been in a mine. . . . Chuck Gardiner, recently elected captain of the Blackhawks, runs a sports goods store in Winnipeg and is familiar with all games whether played under Canadian or American rules. . . . Professional football is taking hold in a big way around Boston. . . . The Bears-Redskins game last Sunday drew 25,000. . . . That's more than saw the Harvard-Lehigh and Boston college-Georgetown games combined, which were played the previous day. . . . It was the equal of the crowd that saw Princeton-Brown game and more than attended the Yale-Dartmouth encounter. . . .

The difference between a smart quarter back and a dumb one is the successful execution of plays. . . . So maybe blocking is important after all. . . . Paul Pardonner, Purdue quarter back, says when he is under a punt he never takes his eyes off the ball. . . . as soon as he has it in his arms he takes one step forward and then looks to see whether he should run to the right or to the left. . . . Marchy Schwartz, who used to catch punts at Notre Dame a couple years back, says it is important to have split vision in fielding kicks. . . . He means that while he keeps one eye on the ball he takes a fast look with the other to see how close the tacklers are to him. . . .

Indiana is the most widely publicized football team in the land. . . . It will be remembered as the one club Notre Dame could beat. . . . Maybe Purdue will be another. . . . Jess Harper, athletic director at Notre Dame, was sorry to hear Purvis might be out of the Boilermakers' lineup because he said Notre Dame was ready to whip the strongest lineup Purdue could present. . . .

The president of a Western conference school recently remarked that he would rather have a winning football team and lose money than to make money with a losing team. . . . Once a football game has been lost it is lost, he said, but if a team loses a little money the school usually finds more. . . . Ohio State and Illinois have the best press box announcing systems. . . . Chicago's is the worst.

NOTRE DAME IS DRIVEN INDOORS BY SNOWSTORM

Gorman May Play Center Against Purdue.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 9.—Notre Dame's varsity, which faces the undefeated Purdue team here Saturday, was snowbound this afternoon. The practice field, blanketed with several inches of snow, was abandoned, and, since the blizzard was continuing tonight, there is slight hope that Notre Dame's players will get outside until time for the kickoff.

Consequently, Coach Hunk Anderson's plans for scrimmage and a full program of blocking and tackling were abandoned. The drill indoors this afternoon in the field house consisted of signal practice and blocking. Thus Notre Dame, defeated in three consecutive games for the first time since the dark ages of football, must battle one of the strongest teams in the Western conference without benefit of contact practice. In other words, Notre Dame should be no better this week than last, unless through some miracle the offense, which has hesitated and collapsed whenever it neared the opponents' goal line, should suddenly remedy itself.

It's Real Snowstorm.

Today's snowstorm was no mild gesture, such as Chicago has experienced in the last few days. The west wind blew the swirling snow in a sheet of white which seemed more appropriate to January than to a pre-Thanksgiving storm. Despite the handicap to the football team, it is hoped that the weather will have moderated so that the game Saturday will be played under favorable circumstances.

The field, of course, is protected from snow, and since the temperature today hovered just below freezing, there is no apprehension concerning playing conditions Saturday.

This season has been an unprecedented experience for Notre Dame, accustomed to rate as one of the strongest teams in the country. The beating last Saturday by Navy, 7 to 0, was a greater surprise than preceding defeats by Carnegie Tech and Pittsburgh. Carnegie had been lightly regarded, but Pitt, always a formidable foe, whipped Notre Dame convincingly. Minnesota had beaten Pitt the week before.

Plays Good Ball—At Times.

But Navy's victory, particularly since Notre Dame outgained and outplayed the Middies, was a most severe blow. Notre Dame now has lost three games, tied one and won one. Its record is the worst in memory and yet, strangely enough, Notre Dame has played excellent football on occasion. Notre Dame, according to its coaches, lacks coördination. Its attacking strength is dissipated before the goal line is reached; its generalship has been indifferent and created a lack of confidence; and the failure of the players to perform to expectations has brought the once invincible eleven to the status of an also ran.

Three of Notre Dame's remaining opponents—Purdue, Army and Southern California—are undefeated. Northwestern gave notice last week by its scoreless tie with Minnesota, that it intends to realize its long ambition of whipping the Irish. Where in this list of games may Notre Dame retrieve its reputation? That is the problem confronting players and coaches.

Purdue, seemingly destined to place at least second in the Western conference and perhaps first, offers an opportunity. Without Duane Purvis, Purdue may not be so effective either in its running attack or its kicking, and Purdue will miss Purvis' long distance passing. Notre Dame regrets that Purvis may be unable to play Saturday, but the boys have reached that state of despondency where any advantage would be welcome.

Insist Spirit Is O. K.

How is Notre Dame's spirit? That is a trite question, but games are supposed to be won and lost on how the players feel. Three defeats are expected to make a team either willing to call it a day, or to force it to superhuman heights. We were assured this afternoon that Notre Dame is not discouraged, that the boys are full of enthusiasm and ready to whip Purdue. This may be correct. But three defeats, the last by an inferior Navy

In the Wake of the News

THREE conference games are scheduled for tomorrow, three Big Ten elevens engage outside opponents, and Minnesota is idle awaiting the big test with Michigan a week hence.

Iowa at Michigan has a direct bearing on the championship. Illinois at Northwestern has bearing only if Illinois wins or ties and Michigan is downed somewhere along the line. Indiana at Chicago is a cellar affair of prime importance to the opposing elevens, but without title significance.

Since Illinois came so near to topping the Wolverines, hope has arisen in other camps that the Ann Arbor eleven is not invincible and that an opponent protecting itself from "breaks," or perhaps obtaining one, may spring a surprise. On the other hand, we'll be surprised if the reasoning does not work both ways, that Michigan will be higher keyed than against Chicago and Illinois, both of which games were viewed in advance with complacency by the title holding Wolverines.

On that basis we look for Michigan to keep its record clear Saturday. Iowa, no doubt, has recovered from its disappointment over the Minnesota result. With a fine running attack it may score against Michigan, since Illinois started the precedent. Its passing attack in previous games has not equaled that of the Illini.

The Illinois-Northwestern game is a puzzler. Those surprising Wildcats are the King Levinsky of the gridiron. They have "personality." They might start a swing from the floor and land it, or they might stick out their chin with a series of fumbles, as in two recent games.

Illinois undoubtedly keyed for Michigan. Possibly its line took a battering from Michigan which will reduce its effectiveness against a Purple forward wall which has shown well all season on defense. What the Purple will do against a strong passing attack such as Illinois possesses has not been determined. On a dry field it looks like a tossup in advance. On a heavy field we'd be inclined to favor the Purple despite the dope.

Indiana has not scored by touchdown against conference opponents, except a somewhat fluky one at Minneapolis. Chicago is a touchdown "maiden" in the conference. It is the best chance either eleven has to record a victory.

Purdue, on figures, should defeat Notre Dame at South Bend, although one cannot help thinking Notre Dame somewhere on its schedule will record a victory more in keeping with its ground gaining. With Purvis out, Purdue loses power in attack. Ohio State ought to take a weak Pennsylvania eleven rather easily. Wisconsin should beat West Virginia at Madison. Wisconsin opened the season by beating Marquette, 19 to 0. West Virginia and Marquette played a 13 to 13 tie last Saturday.

Loyalty to the Orange and Blue,
Faith when its cohorts battle through
Or bow to the enemy.
These are traditions at old Champaign;
These and the treasured creed
That open methods alone may gain
The glory it deems its meed.
Seller, Macomber, Britton, Clark,
Grange and a hundred more
March again when alumni hark
To the magic of gridiron lore.
New heroes arrive to place their names
On the roll of that honored band,
And whether they win or lose their games
The faithful will understand.

Fay, Heston Rejoin Varsity at Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Coach Harry Kipke continued to pursue a conservative policy today by naming Capt. Stan Fay and Jack Heston on the team that worked on defensive against the Iowa running and passing attack. His action partly spiked rumors that Bill Renner and Louis Westover would take over the back field jobs.

Since it was first rumored that a shakeup was pending considerable tension has been noticeable, particularly in view of the fact that the talk had carried a hint of breaking training. As the matter stands now it appears that no one, including Kipke, knows exactly who will be in the starting lineup against Iowa.

John Kowalik was back at right guard today and Willard Hildebrand worked at left guard. It was said, however, that Borgmann probably would get the call Saturday and would alternate with Hildebrand. Tage Jacobson will be first substitute at tackle.

30 ON IOWA SQUAD.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Dummy scrimmage and passing drill concluded the University of Iowa's home preparation for Michigan today before the squad of 30 players entrained for Ann Arbor. The Hawkeye players and coaches departed at midnight.

Coach Solem was still undecided on a passer in the Wolverine game after trying Dwight Hoover, Dick Crayne, and George Teyro at throwing. Crayne, Bill Secl, and Zud Schammel returned to the squad after being on the sidelines with minor injuries, and were regarded as certain to start in the game. Schammel, however, has had no work since the Iowa State game last week, and may not be able to stand a full game.

The Iowa coach probably will not alter his starting lineup, but indications are that the two giant sophomore tackles, Lloyd Hoffman and Eugene Liggett, will get into the game early. Hoffman weighs 250 pounds and Liggett 230.

The Hawkeyes will have headquarters at Ypsilanti, Mich., but will hold a final workout in the Michigan stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Waivers Asked on All Reds' Players as Trading Move

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Waivers on every player on the roster of the Cincinnati Reds were sent out to other National league baseball clubs today, as the first step in Larry MacPhail's campaign to make a winner out of a consistently last place club.

The action, however, is considered routine procedure for major league clubs, and rather as a feeler to ascertain what trades can be made than a declaration of intentions. There is nothing binding on either side.

Meanwhile, MacPhail, leader of the club in fact though not in name, began scanning similar lists from other clubs to ascertain where to begin actual trading negotiations. A claim was sent in for Flint Rhem of the Phillies, but experts said they believed there was little chance of getting him.

"I am not doing this with the idea of disposing of the entire team," MacPhail said. "Some of the players I will be very glad to sell at the waiver price of $7,500, but, of course, there are some who are worth a great deal more than that. I am simply sending out this list as a feeler to discover which of our players, if any, are in demand by one or more of the other clubs. It may be that a deal or two will result."

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks last night came out of their opening game of the National Hockey league season in possession of a 2 all tie with the New York Americans, which was good enough for the 13,000 spectators seeing as the Chicago lads were much too smug in the first half hour of endeavor. The Americans scored their two points before the Hawks had made a dent in the enemy goalie's upholstery.

The Americans made their two goals in a span of four minutes and four seconds at the outset of the second period. The first one, in 40 seconds, was made by Lloyd Klein, a rookie from the Boston Cubs, and the second was by Ronnie Martin, a sophomore, on an assist from Lloyd Gross, another rookie.

Hawks Get Busy.

These precipitate and startling occurrences, instead of depressing Manager Tom Gormans' lads, awakened them forthwith. Previously they had shown signs of having suffered from pasting in their scrap books pieces proclaiming them 35 per cent stronger than they were last season. With two goals to their none, they had the alternative of getting busy or throwing away their scrap books. They got busy.

The situation didn't seem so dire after Tommy Cook leaped out of a scrimmage and scored the Hawks' first tally of the year in 13:44 of the second period. But they were obliged to go into the final regulation period, trailing 2 to 1. And that still was the count going into the fourth minute of the third period.

Coulter Knots Score.

In 3:44, however, Art Coulter proved that beef and brawn are dandy hockey assets when combined with speed. Art plowed through two New York defenders and proceeded to ring up the marker that threw the affair into overtime, with the ultimate result that the Hawks are in possession of one point as their first entry in the National league standings.

The much advertised expected improvement in the refereeing failed to materialize, the customers even being denied the novelty of seeing the boss referee dressed in white and his assistant dressed in blue. Two teams in the league knocked out this idea on the claims that blue would be confusing with their own sweaters.

Rule Mystifies Fans.

The present wording of the anti-defense rule, the strict calling of which seemed to mystify many of the fans, reads as follows:

No more than three players, including goal keeper, of the defending side may stand in their defending zone before the attacking side carries the puck into that zone. Should a team violate this rule it shall incur a minor penality for each infraction, the penalty to be imposed on the fourth player entering the defending zone.

The first period was significant only as a demonstration of the new rules and the new referee-ing technique, the latter being enhanced by a lot of big red circles scattered about the ice, these apparently being established to give the officials a chance to do more whistle tooting than heretofore, instead of the opposite, as advertised.

The most satisfactory development of the season's first period was the eagerness with which the Hawks' rookie line went about its chores. Leswick started off very fast, Kendall very tough and Trudel very willing, all attributes very welcome.

Gardiner Makes 12 Stops.

Goalie Worters was credited with 11 stops and Capt. Gardiner with 12. Most of these stop recordings were whimsical judgments, for all the shooters were wild in the first per-

CANADIANS WIN CHALLENGE CUP AT HORSE SHOW

Irish Team Gets Second by Flip of Coin.

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Calling on the pick of its jumpers, including the famous Roxana, the Canadian army team today scored an unexpected victory in the national horse show at Madison Square Garden, winning the Westchester Challenger Cup in competition with two teams from the Irish Free State army and one United States civilian owned combination.

Roxana, which helped win the trophy for John Warwick in 1930 when a member of the Belfast sportsman's stable, set the pace for her teammates, Spats and Red Plume. With her present master, the youthful Lieut. W. M. Clelland, in the saddle, the giant bay mare, once holder of Ireland's stonewall jumping record, cleared the difficult garden jumps without a mistake.

Others Falter Twice.

Spats and Red Plume, ridden by Capt. Stuart Bate and Capt. L. D. Hammond, respectively, faltered at two of the jumps, but their combined performance with that of Roxana was good enough to give the Dominion team its first blue ribbon of the show.

The Irish Free State, with a chance to retire the coveted trophy after victories in 1931 and 1932, sent out two teams but was forced to take second place and then only by the toss of a coin. The combination of Shannon Power, Limerick Lace, and Gallow Glass, guided by Capt. Dan Corry, Capt. Harty, and Capt. Frederick A. Aherne, finished in a tie with the second Canadian trio. As there was a difference of only $20 in prize money, the officers decided to flip a coin to decide the final rankings.

U. S. Saves Its Horses.

The United States, with the army team saving its horses for later competition, depended on Mrs. Julia Bliss' horses, but the representatives of the Bronxville, N. Y., sportswoman finished fifth and last.

The Irish Free State, however, rode to the front in the international military jumping competition, beating four other nations in a brilliant exhibition of horsemanship.

The United States army team from Fort Riley, tied with the Irish at the end of last night's competition, dropped back to third place behind Sweden when its horses crashed through fence after fence to pile up 12½ faults for a two night total of 13½. The Swedes ended the second round with 11½ faults, while the Irish had only four.

Sharing honors with the Canadian army were equine bluebloods from midwest and southern owned stables, which captured practically all of the leading events at the afternoon session.

Two Illinois Winners.

A. B. Dick Jr. of Gurnee, Ill., sent out Melbourne Swell to win the blue in competition with midget single harness ponies, while Mrs. A. C. Thompson's Pride of Onway, from Elmhurst, Ill., showed to an advantage in the division for single harness horses, beating out the favorite, Danum Woodbine, from Mrs. Locke's New Orleans stable.

Melbourne Swell later accounted for his second blue ribbon of the show, winning the Killearn farm challenge trophy competition for the third time in four years. In 1930 and 1931 he represented John R. Thompson of Chicago. The little bay hackney, driven by Mrs. Dick, was easily the class of the field.

NEW AMATEUR HOCKEY LEAGUE PLAYERS AT WORK

Hockey teams in the newly formed amateur league that will present games at the Coliseum have been hard at work the last few days drilling for the opening of the schedule Thursday, Nov. 16. Emil Iverson, organizer of the league, has gathered together some of the foremost amateur players of Canada and the United States for the competition.

Public skating, figure skating, and carnivals will be supporting events to hockey games. Ice has been installed and will remain for the balance of the winter season.

JOHN KATAN TO MEET STEELE ON STADIUM CARD

John Katan, claimant of the Canadian heavyweight wrestling championship, has been signed to oppose Ray Steele of California on the supporting card to the Jim Londos-Jim McMillen match at the Chicago Stadium Nov. 22.

Katan will have an advantage over Steele in height and weight. He weighs 215 to Steele's 212 pounds and towers one-half inch over him, standing 6 feet 2 inches.

The Stadium has George Zaharias and Dr. Karl Sarpolis signed to appear on the card, but so far has not signed opponents for them.

Farmers and Hunters Need Co-operation

BY BOB BECKER.

With the Illinois hunting season on rabbits, pheasants, and quail starting today, many thousands of sportsmen in Chicagoland will get up early this morning armed with shotguns, shells, and a license in the hope that two things will happen. First, that they will find a place to hunt without being chased off the land or arrested for trespassing. Second, that there will be game to shoot at.

To find this combination, especially in Chicagoland, where great areas of farmland have been posted against all hunting, is not easy. Nor is it easy to find it even downstate, where the best quail hunting prevails.

Other States Are Progressive.

While all of us who like to hunt in Illinois are still chasing that rapidly disappearing rainbow known in the hunting world as "free hunting," we might do well to see how other states have gone ahead to provide a working arrangement between farmers and sportsmen in order to, first, bring down the "no trespassing" signs, and then make it possible for the landowner to really take an interest in raising game.

Here are a few flashes on what is being done:

TEXAS—Texas is leading the parade in solving the problems of where to go hunting and how to make it worthwhile for the farmer to raise birds. A total of 3,700,000 acres, more than the entire area of Connecticut, are open to hunters this fall under special regulations of that state, which set season leasing rates to hunters at not more than 25 cents an acre and day hunting privileges at a maximum of four dollars per gun. The landowners collect it all. Here is a system to get the landowner interested in raising game birds as a sideline, he to receive a small remuneration from the hunter who harvests the bird crop.

Georgia Does Its Part.

GEORGIA—Peter S. Twitty, game commissioner, has begun the publication of lists of farms where hunters are welcome and shooting privileges may be secured. The commissioner cites letters of commendation of the idea. [Here in Illinois we know of just one place where a resident in the quail country has access to some good shooting acreage on farms and frankly says he is ready to take care of hunters on a cash basis.]

In Illinois the waterfowl hunter has seen the passing of wide open, "free" duck and wild goose hunting. Practically all good tracts of shooting land have been acquired either by individuals for personal use or by those who lease hunting privileges. Upland game hunting isn't much better, as far as opportunities are concerned, and until the state works out a system whereby the farmer is given an incentive to raise more game, we can't expect an improvement in hunting conditions.

COLGATE SIGNS ANDY KERR FOR 3 MORE YEARS

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Andy Kerr, Coach of Colgate's football team for five years, today signed a contract to continue as head coach for another three years, Graduate Manager William A. Reid announced. This put an end to rumors that Kerr might move to other coaching fields. His name had been linked with a reported offer from Yale.

Colgate teams so far coached by Kerr have not been beaten more than once in any season since he took charge in 1929. Last year Colgate completed its season with a record of not being beaten, tied or scored on.

Fuller Arrives on Sunday for Ross Match

Ross sparred five rounds yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium, three with Young Joe Walker and two with Paul Dazzo. Walker will face Johnny Phagan and Dazzo will meet Davey Day in six round preliminary bouts. Day has lost only one fight as a professional.

May Get Dundee Fight.

Nate Lewis, Stadium matchmaker, announced last night that the winner of the eight round semi-final between Sammy [Kid] Slaughter, Terre Haute, Ind., middleweight, and Kid Leonard of East Moline, Ill., may be matched with Champion Vince Dundee at the Stadium in January.

Leonard scored his seventh straight Chicago victory when he whipped Fritz Heinz at Western stadium Aug. 22. He beat Allen Matthews in a 10 round bout at Quincy, Ill., Oct. 11, in his latest ring appearance.

Slaughter's Record Good.

In his last start here Slaughter defeated Georgie Nichols, former light heavyweight champion, at Mills stadium July 6. His record since then is: Sig [Battling] Tracey, won [10], Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 6; Allen Matthews, won [10], St. Louis, Oct. 6; Fritz Heinz, T. K. O. [3], Detroit, Oct. 11; Alabama Kid, lost [10], Canton, O., Oct. 16.

Bobby Millsapp, local middleweight, will engage Bill O'Connell of Streator, Ill., in a six round windup bout tonight at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Art Donovan, Joliet, Ill., lightweight, faces Eddie Chinski of Kankakee, Ill., in the five round semi-final. Other bouts:

Ed Van Herrick vs. Mike Mantich [wrestling].

Tony Cancela, heavyweight stablemate of King Levinsky, took a layoff yesterday after a week of drills for a 10 round match with Baxter Calmes at the Coliseum annex Monday. Cancela went six rounds yesterday, three each with Walter Statkus and Danny La Marre. Statkus boxes Eddie Stiegal in a six round preliminary counter.

Kelly Kulak and Puggy Weinert [6].
Young Geno and Johnny Fitzpatrick [6].
Art Mitchell and Mike Primitch [6].

Whips William Cole and Then Defaults.

Keenan whipped William Cole of St. Justin, but sustained a severe cut over his nose shortly before the third round ended. He was forced to default to Robert Crowley in the final south sectional trial, which will be fought tonight. Winners tonight will advance into the quarter-finals at C. Y. O. center on Nov. 21.

Keenan Golden Gloves Champ.

Keenan was trying for his second major amateur title. He defeated Jim Fontana to win the 1931 Golden Gloves welterweight championship. He lost his intercity match to Phil Dardell of New York. Then he went to New Orleans, La., and on Oct. 17 of the same year he was beaten by Eddie Flynn, Olympic title holder, who has since turned professional. Keenan engaged in his first match since the Flynn bout Wednesday, beating Walter Rapp at St. Columbanus. The Cole victory was his second.

Cincinnati Pros Bring New Coach for Cardinal Tilt

A new coach will direct the Cincinnati Reds against the Chicago Cardinals in their National Professional Football league game at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon. He is Mike Palm, who has been appointed head coach of the squad, succeeding Al Jolley.

Palm was assistant to Jolley, who had been coach of the team since the season opened. A graduate of Penn State, Palm has been in the professional football ranks for the last nine years. He also plays quarter back and probably will be in the starting lineup against the Cardinals.

Immediately after becoming head coach Palm released Kermit Schmidt and Chuck Braidwood and signed Tex Burleson and Ray Smith. Burleson, former Southern Methodist star, plays guard and tackle, while Smith, who played with Missouri Wesleyan, is a center.

The Cardinals will be seeking their second league victory of the season. Their only triumph was scored against the Reds at Cincinnati, 3 to 0, when Joe Lillard kicked a field goal. Lillard was slightly hurt against the Packers last Sunday, but took part in a three hour practice session at Wrigley field yesterday.

Jim Bausch, former member of the Cardinals, will lead the Cincinnati ball carriers. Others include Lewis Pope, who played with Purdue; Lester Corzine, Davis-Elkins, and Leo Mulleneaux of the University of Arizona.

It will be ladies' day, and women will be admitted without admission charge. More than 10,000 women are expected to see the game.

MINERALITES RUN BOWLING STRING TO 24 VICTORIES

Three more victories scored by the Mineralites last night in the Randolph league sent statisticians to the record books to determine how their streak of 24 successives compares with performances of other major league teams. It was learned that the Mineralites must win one more game to tie the Randolph records of 25, which was established by the Birk Brothers in the middle of the season more than a decade ago. However, 24 in a row was found to be the best ever achieved in Chicago while maintaining an undefeated league slate.

The Mineralites increased their string by taking three games from Burlington Route while getting a 3,047 total on games of 994, 1,000, and 1,053. Burlington Route scores were 930, 975, and 973. Bud Wright of the Mineralites, with 647, was high for both teams.

THREE CHICAGO LINE RESERVES WIN PROMOTION

Pokela, Langley, Baker to Face Indiana.

Three reserve linemen on the University of Chicago football squad will start against Indiana at Stagg field tomorrow, it became apparent yesterday. The line, which has been unbroken since Sept. 15—Coach Shaughnessy thinks it has been too unbroken when the Maroons have had the ball—lost that quality yesterday when Raymond Pokela replaced Bob Perretz at guard and Bill Langley and John Baker scrimmaged as ends with the first team most of the afternoon.

The régime of intensive scrimmage inaugurated at the Midway after the Michigan game either has sharpened the reserves or brought out their hidden talents. It certainly has introduced competition for jobs.

Pokela Stages Comeback.

Pokela, a 185 pound sophomore from Bessemer, Mich., was injured in preseason practice, but since his return has shown lots of fire. Langley, a sophomore from Dallas, and Baker, a junior, have removed all the relative complacence from the erstwhile regular ends, Wells and Womer, by their work in scrimmage.

Thus the weakness of Chicago in substitute strength has been at least partially corrected. The former regulars will see lots of service tomorrow, but there is no reason to suspect that Shaughnessy is merely using a shock trooper or two. The coach also has become partial to the work of Leroy Walter, a reserve tackle who starred at Lane Tech several years ago. The changes at end will create an even greater weight disadvantage for the Maroons, since Baker and Langley scale about 170 each, whereas Lyons and Antonini of Indiana hover around 200.

Ed Cullen, who has played quarter back, full back, and center this year, became a fixture at center yesterday when it was learned that Ell Patterson, defensive star of the team, has not recovered sufficiently from injuries received in the Wisconsin game. Cullen may call signals during part of the game from the pivot position. Bob Deem, regular tackle, has some bruises and Bush and Rice will start.

The Same Old Back Field.

The Maroon back field will consist of Sahlin, Zimmer, Berwanger, and Nyquist, as per early season.

Midway fans think Chicago and Indiana are evenly matched in general strength, but are hoping for some of the lapses which made possible the three touchdown victories Northwestern and Ohio scored over the Hoosiers in their last two games. They fear Indiana's long passes. The Hoosier touchdown against Chicago last year was made on a fifty yard heave to Lyons.

It was announced yesterday that the annual football banquet, usually held the night before the Illinois game, will be held after the close of the season this year.

HOOSIERS GET CHALK TALK.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.] — Indiana university football players, going through their last workout in preparation for the Chicago game at Chicago Saturday, got a taste of the kind of weather they expect to encounter on the Midway when freezing temperatures and snow flurries arrived here today.

The team stayed in the dressing room for a short chalk scrimmage, and then dashed out on the field for a brief but snappy workout. Coach Hayes will take three teams with him to Chicago tomorrow.

BIERMAN TURNS SCOUT.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Coach Bernie Bierman will scout the Michigan-Iowa football game in preparation for Minnesota's contest with Michigan one week from Saturday. Bierman will leave Minneapolis tomorrow night and take a plane from Chicago Saturday.

The Gohpers have been working hard, although no scrimmage has been held. Dummy scrimmage, with blocking and tackling, has comprised the drill.

If the weather warms up a bit the varsity will be sent against the freshmen Saturday in a regulation game. Babe Levoir continues to be the coach's choice at quarter back. Indications are that he will start the Michigan game in place of Glenn Seidel.

DE PAUL HOLDS FINAL DRILL FOR ST. THOMAS GAME

De Paul university's football team went through its final heavy scrimmage of the week yesterday in preparation for the last home game tomorrow at Wrigley field against St. Thomas of St. Paul, Minn.

Although their charges had no particular difficulty in diagnosing and stopping St. Thomas plays, as demonstrated by the frosh, Coaches Jim Kelly and Ben Connor were fearful lest a muddy field upset their attacking plans.

The most cheerful item of the afternoon developed in the return to action of Andy Delaney. He is not completely recovered yet from his injuries but now is definitely certain to start at right end.

In yesterday's drill Walt Loess, half back, and Maurice Washburn, tackle, captured the attention of the coaches with some excellent play. Both are ranked as third stringers, but may be moved up for tomorrow's battle.

COL. HAFFNER IS NAMED OFFICER IN POLO GROUP

Col. Charles C. Haffner Jr., commander of the 124th Field artillery, yesterday received telegraphic notification from New York of his election as a vice president of the Indoor Polo Association of America. Col. Haffner is the first man west of New York who has been so honored.

Results of the election brought other shakeups that give executive titles to the leading polo players of the United States. Robert A. Granniss, one of the founders of the indoor game's governing body, was reëlected president.

Winston F. C. Guest, indoor polo's only ten goal player, and Elbridge T. Gerry, another high ranking star, were named vice presidents along with Col. Haffner. Michael Phipps, a teammate of Guest on this year's New York Optimists, winner of the world championship last April at the Chicago armory, was named secretary of the association. J. C. Rathborne, noted indoor and outdoor star, was elected treasurer.

Franklin Beats Summerell in National Cue Meet

Football Going Mechanical; Robots Would Not Get Hurt

Football is said to have originated in Rugby, England, and the young Britons became so proficient in kicking the ball around they carried this proficiency into the army, and made it a practice to kick their military opposition around, too. Despite the many changes in the game, it is still called football. Perhaps it began a long time ago, about the period when our ancestors discovered that smaller animals could be safely drop-kicked out of the way.

Football used to be a grand game, but since it graduated from scrimmages on college fields to million dollar stadia and assumed the earmarks of big business, a set of laws grew up about it. Now there are more football rules than there are city ordinances in Philadelphia. Every player must commit to memory so many "thou shalt not do this, thou shalt do that" they are groggy before they take the field.

New Rules Before Old Can Be Learned.

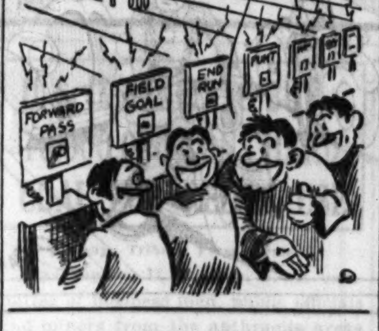
The erstwhile scholarly feat of learning by heart pages of Virgil pales into insignificance compared to the remarkable task confronting varsity aspirants. They must absorb enough rules which, if printed and placed end to end, would reach from Keokuk to Peoria. Furthermore, Virgil is constant, and once a lad memories certain passages he has nothing more to worry about. Football rules, however, are subject to change even before the players have them cinched.

Coach Shaugnessy of the University of Chicago was quoted the other day as follows: "Football is all right if they'll let it alone and stop trying to twist the rules every time a game is lost." It is not necessary to scan the remark twice to grasp the profound sagacity of the observation.



Now comes a suggestion from Nelson Metcalf, director of athletics at the same university. Mr. Metcalf, reacting to quoted instances concerning badly measured time at football games, has advocated an electrical clock which will mark time as accurately as the stars, provided the operator at the switches does not fumble with his thumbs when time is called.

Many Possibilities in New Device.

The device will show elapsed time, time out, time to go and time to quit. It will ring bells and discharge pistols. No doubt when the inventors are through with it, it will be connected to automatic water buckets, will attract injured players from the field by magnetism and deposit substitutes in the required spots. Perhaps it will dust players off, direct gyroscopic passes by radio, and even provide ironclad alibis by loudspeakers after every blocked play.

The time will come, possibly, when the game will be played by robots. Instead of boosting Irish stars of South European origin, newspapers will be forced to spread publicity equally among mechanical objects numbered from 1 to 11, with the university initials marked in front of them.

End Suburban Title Chase Tomorrow

The Suburban High School league football race comes to an end tomorrow afternoon with Evanston and Oak Park on top again. Perennial contenders for the title, victories tomorrow will give Evanston and Oak Park a tie for the title. Evanston won the championship last season. Oak Park captured the crown in 1931.

BILL WATTERS.

Evanston will meet New Trier of Winnetka, its traditional rival, at Evanston and Oak Park faces the strong Proviso eleven of Maywood. Oak Park and Evanston have scored two victories apiece and played a 6 to 6 tie. Proviso suffered only one defeat in three games, losing to Evanston.

Bill Watters, one of the fastest half backs in the league, will lead Proviso. A crowd of more than 5,000 is expected to watch Oak Park attempt to get a share in the championship at Maywood. A pep meeting is planned this morning in the Proviso assembly hall and this afternoon students will parade through Maywood, Forest Park, and River Forest. Proviso's 150 piece band will participate in the parade.

Tom Fahey, regular end, will return to the St. Mel lineup when it meets St. Ignatius, co-holder of first place in the west division of the Chicago Catholic High School league. at St. Philip field, Van Buren and Albany streets, tomorrow afternoon. Fahey was unable to play for two weeks because of injuries.

Maine and Hinsdale, undefeated leaders in the West Suburban conference, will seek their fourth victories tomorrow. Maine meets Glenbard at Glen Ellyn, while Hinsdale opposes West Chicago on the Hinsdale field. If Maine and Hinsdale triumph they will meet for the championship on Nov. 18.

McVeigh of the Americans drew the first penalty for the violation of the anti-defense rule, a pet device of the National league's new managing director. When McVeigh went to the penalty box the first line of Gottselig, Couture and Thompson went on the ice, augmented by Cook, while Coulter operated as a lone defense man. This concentration developed only one scoring threat—when Thompson grabbed the puck from Worters, who was sliding back of the cage. The American defense thwarted his effort in the nick of time.

Brydge Scores for New York.

The Americans narrowly missed a score in the last part of the period, a sally which was cut short when Couture drew a penalty for holding. A few seconds later Thompson joined Couture in the penalty box for violation of the anti-defense rule. The period ended with both lads locked up.

Couture escaped the box after nine seconds of the first period but Thompson still was in durance when old man Brydge took a shot from the blue line. Gardiner made the stop, but the puck caromed to his left. Klein picked it up and whanged in the first goal of the season, from a point about ten feet in front of the cage. The time was 40 seconds. Both teams were fully manned when the Americans clicked again—in 4:45 of the second period. A scrimmage was precipitated in the southwest corner of the rink when suddenly Gross passed the rubber to Martin, who scored from a point close to Gardiner's dancing shins.

After the half way mark of the second period the Hawks began to show some of the hockey their training camp boosters have been talking about this last month and had the American defense in a constant stew, a situation which developed a Hawk score in 13:44. Thompson, Romnes and Cook maneuvered the disc into the American defense zone and a short shot out of a scrimmage by Cook was good for the counter.

With two minutes to go Patterson and Abel were put off for cross checking. The five man teams alternated exciting threats in the remainder of the period.

The tying score was strictly a power play by Coulter. Carrying the puck across the blue line at high speed, Art went straight for Dutton, out of position, and sat Brydge on his bloomers, then righted himself to skate directly to the cage and feint the rubber past Worters.

At the half way mark of the third period, Couture, Gottselig, and Thompson put on a great attack, but the best scoring chance went a-glimmering when Thompson missed Couture's pass to exactly the right spot in front of the American net.

Hawks Use Four Men.

After Leswick had been put off for tripping and Coulter and Dutton had been bounced for wielding high sticks, the Hawks were obliged to operate four men against the five for a short time during the last four minutes of play. This situation caused much excitement, but no embarressment.

The overtime started with both sides playing cautiously and with orthodox lineups, though the Hawk defense men showed more willingness to go down the ice than did the Americans' pair.

READY TO RETIRE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—W. W. [Pudge] Heffelfinger, a power on Yale football teams in the late '80s, again has postponed his retirement from gridiron activity.

The 66 year old local man, a great guard at Yale, has decided to play his "final" game here next Saturday with a team of former University of Minnesota football players against one-time St. Thomas college stars in a disabled veterans' benefit contest.

A year ago he played in a high school alumni game, suffered an injury, and decided to give up active participation in the sport. Before that he played occasionally. He weighs 240 pounds and is active.

"I'm 66 now," he said today "and far past football age, but I've always been willing to help the veterans and I guess I can move back my retirement one year. I will play with the Gophers and will not ask any quarter."

Brundage to Seek Uniform Amateur Code

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Asserting that the "prestige of amateur sport" has been damaged by the loose and conflicting character of existing regulations, Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic association, took the initiative today in a movement to bring about uniformity in the amateur code for all branches of American athletics.

Brundage, one-time all around track champion, who also is national president of the Amateur Athletic union, addressed his proposal to delegates to the quadrennial meeting of the American Olympic association, to be held in Washington, D. C., Nov. 22. He feels that the A. O. A., whose membership includes all the nation's sports governing bodies, should foster much needed standardization of amateur requirements.

"At present amateurs in one sport are granted privileges and allowed liberties that are denied to amateurs in others," Brundage points out. "Under the rules of some sports 'amateurs' even are allowed to compete for cash prizes.

"It is a baffling situation to the man in the street. This has resulted in many amusing and even ridiculous situations, such as the law once on the statute books of Wisconsin, which provided that a boxer would not lose his amateur standing by accepting cash prizes unless they exceeded $25.

"It may not be possible for all sports to have the same code in all its details but assuredly certain fundamental principles can be agreed upon by all."

Snow Forces Notre Dame to Drill Indoors

There's nothing of the martyr about Hunk Anderson, who has been fired this season by newspapers from coast to coast. Maybe he doesn't read the papers, but in any event, Hunk is still coaching Notre Dame and he hasn't let down one bit because the critics have not approved his work. After all, Hunk can't play on the team, although he might, even at this late date, be an improvement on several of his varsity linemen.

Gorman May Start.

Notre Dame, like Purdue, has its list of injured. Latest reports are that Tom Gorman, varsity center, may be able to start Saturday. This is encouraging, for Fred Solari, sophomore center, is not expected to be able to get into the game. Dominic Vairo, left end, still is on the hospital list, but Wayne Millner, his substitute, has been acceptable at the position.

More important, however, is the quarter back position, where a host of candidates have accomplished almost nothing in blending the attack into a unit which can score from far out in the field. On occasion the quarter backs have done well, but their errors in judgment, as much as individual failures of the players, have accounted for Notre Dame's inability to score in the last three games.

PURDUE LINE BOLSTERED.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Fritz Febel, right guard, and Ed Ungers, right tackle, made their first appearance in Purdue's lineup today following the battering they received in the Carnegie Tech game. Their return relieves some of the worries of Coach Noble Kizer, who is now trying to determine what the Boilermakers' back field alignment will be against Notre Dame Saturday, in view of the injuries to Duane Purvis and Fred Hecker.

With Purvis in the hospital and Hecker still far from himself, Kizer took no chances of adding to the injury roll during this afternoon's drill. The workout was confined to a dummy session on the defensive tactics to be used against Notre Dame.

Purvis May Join Team.

Reports from the hospital where Purvis was taken last night to have his leg cut open to prevent spread of an infection indicated that Purvis would be able to leave with the team Saturday morning, but no one would project a guess as to whether he would be able to be in uniform.

BADGERS TO BE FASTER.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—A faster and more effective Badger football team will meet West Virginia here Saturday. Coach Clarence W. Spears has concentrated since Monday on development of a smoother and speedier offensive and practice observers are confident he has succeeded.

Although the heaviest scrimmage session of the week ended yesterday, Coach Spears continued today to improve the Wisconsin passing attack. He stressed protection of the passer and sought to shorten the time taken by eligible pass receivers to reach their positions. Practice indicated Capt. Hal Smith, full back, and Karl Schuelke, half back, will throw most of the passes Saturday.

OHIO PUBLICITY MAN FIRED; TOLD PLAYER UNREST

Oliphant Backs Up Story of Dissatisfaction.

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Observers beyond the confines of Ohio State university's campus today were attempting to interpret another puzzling act associated with the athletic organization.

This newest development, following rumors and immediate denial of dissension among the Buckeye football men, was the discharge of Jack Levine, captain of the cross-country team and an employé of the publicity department.

Levine is also a correspondent for a Cleveland newspaper. Wednesday he sent a story to his Cleveland client in which he asserted Marshall Oliphant, back field player, had expressed dissatisfaction with methods used by Head Coach Samuel S. Willaman as well as Athletic Director L. W. St. John.

Oliphant Says It's So.

After publication of this story there came an immediate bulletin from the athletic department's publicity office saying that Oliphant was "fully satisfied" with his berth and that statements to the contrary were "without foundation."

However, Oliphant insists he was quoted correctly by Levine, his plaint being a lack of opportunity to appear in the Buckeye lineup in the first five games of the year with so-called "first string" back field men.

In announcing the dismissal of Levine from the publicity staff it was said he was being released "because of inefficiency."

Another Boy "Misquoted."

Last week it was announced that Max Padlow had been "misquoted" in saying he was leaving the Buckeye squad because of dissatisfaction with Coach Willaman, but Padlow later admitted the correctness of his interviewers and in a letter written to Coach Willaman expressed sorrow for having unceremoniously deserted the bench during the Indiana game and donning street clothes between halves.

After the Padlow incident Tommy Keefe, regarded as one of Toledo's outstanding half back products of recent years, announced he was discontinuing his Ohio State football activities. Then followed a statement from the university's athletic press bureau saying Keefe had left school because of the illness of his wife at their Toledo home.

Keefe today sought out friends in newspaper circles, asking them to deny his wife's illness, saying her health "had been excellent."

Correspondent on Carpet.

At the same time Maury Koblenz, sports editor of the Ohio State Lantern who also is a correspondent for another Cleveland newspaper, was taken before faculty heads, in a secret meeting. His alleged offense was also the story of Oliphant's dissatisfaction.

HARVARD-YALE CREW RACES SET BACK TO JUNE 22

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The annual Harvard-Yale crew regatta, held before commencement last season as an experiment, has been pushed back to its traditional place after commencement, the Yale Athletic association announced tonight.

The association reported tnat the earlier date was tried to see if it might prove more convenient for the commencement crowds, but that it was found to conflict with Harvard examinations. The Harvard-Yale crew races, therefore, will be held next year at New London Friday, June 22.

Mrs. Herbert left an estate valued at $275,000. After providing a bequest of $1,000 for the Notre Dame university endowment fund, she directed that 12 per cent of the remainder go to the community house fund of St. Paul's Evangelical church, Orchard street and Kemper place; 10 per cent to the memorial endowment fund of the same church, and 2 per cent to the Uhlich Orphans' home.

Two daughters, Miss Agatha Herbert, who lived with her, and Mrs. Jeannette B. Scholler of Chicago, are to receive 23 per cent each of the estate and the remaining 30 per cent is to be divided among six grandchildren.

James Edwin Bradstreet, retired food importer who died Sept. 24, left an estate valued at $66,000, it was learned yesterday when his will was admitted to probate by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. The estate is divided among three sons and a daughter. Mr. Bradstreet, who was 81 years old, lived at 334 Ridge avenue, Winnetka. He had resided in the suburb for 41 years.

Five other wills were filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court, and was approved as follows:

DOCTOR EXPLAINS NEW SAFE WAY TO REDUCE

Announces New Discovery Over Radio Station KYW

Science has made rapid strides in the past few months in locating the causes of excess fat, according to a prominent physician and authority on overweight, who spoke over Station KYW recently on this subject. This medical authority further explained that a famous research scientist, working at the Pasteur Institute in Paris and in leading American clinics, was directly connected with the discoveries that led to Vannay, the new weight-control method.

The doctor further stated that Vannay is an absolutely harmless tablet that contains no thyroid extract, iodine or laxative drugs of any kind. "Now it is absurd for anyone," he continued, "to take dangerous drugs or anything that rushes food through the body half digested and leads to chronic constipation. Vannay is the safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in all human bodies.

"You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take the tablets each day and continue to eat three meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it." Follow directions in package circular.

This remarkable product is one sale at all Liggett Drug Stores. Any of our clerks will be glad to give you an interesting booklet, "How To Reduce With Absolute Safety."

COTTON RELIEF SNARL MAY COST U. S. 50 MILLION

Option, Loan Plans Threaten Loss.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—Enmeshed in a snarl of conflicting farm relief plans, with one threatening to upset the other, President Roosevelt's farm administrators are planning to cut their way free at a cost of about 50 million dollars to the taxpayers and the treasury department, it was learned today.

King Cotton and the demands of southern farmers and politicians have maneuvered the agricultural adjustment administration into a position of selling cotton to farmers at 6 cents a pound and probably of taking it back at 10 cents, inquiry disclosed.

Approximately two and a half billion bales of cotton may have to be shuffled from the government to the farmers and back again at a net loss of 4 cents on every pound to the government because the original acreage reduction program is now threatening to destroy the lending and price pegging policy subsequently embarked upon.

Farmers Given Cotton Options.

Under the original acreage reduction program put through congress under the direction of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace the government agrees to give to cotton farmers who reduce their acreage an option on a certain amount of government owned cotton which has been left over from stabilization operations and foreclosure of crop loans.

Farmers receiving the options may exercise them at any time after Dec. 1, buying from the government their stipulated amounts covered by the option at a fixed price of six cents a pound and hoping to resell at a higher price.

Since this plan went through congress, demands for still higher prices on cotton have forced the government to make loans on new cotton at 10 cents a pound, in other words, to agree to take over cotton at a set price of 10 cents. The lending is indirect price pegging, and cotton has remained in the neighborhood of 9½ cents.

May Resell Cotton Taken.

As Dec. 1 approaches, however, farmers throughout the south are preparing to call their options on about 2,400,000 bales of government cotton which Uncle Sam has agreed to sell them at six cents a pound. The profitable thing for the farmer is to promptly resell the cotton for as much over six cents as he can get.

The farm administrators are faced, therefore, with the prospect of having about two and a half million bales of their own cotton dumped onto their pegged market on Dec. 1, and shortly thereafter.

Since two and a half million bales would increase the supply by almost 20 per cent, prices would break, experts fear, and the government be faced again with falling cotton prices. Moreover, as prices drop, the farmers who have obtained loans from the government at 10 cents a pound will not attempt to sell, will let the loans default and the government take over the cheapening cotton, which is the only collateral.

Consider Broadening Loans.

To extract themselves from this dilemma, Secretary Wallace, Farm Administrator George Peek and others are considering an extension of the government lending policy. In addition to lending government funds at 10 cents a pound on cotton grown this year, the plan calls for the government to lend at the same rate on option cotton.

In other words, according to the plan now under consideration, the government would sell cotton at six cents a pound and promptly take it back as collateral for a loan at the rate of 10 cents a pound, an instantaneous gain of four cents a pound.

Farmers able to get cash at the rate of 10 cents through the government loan would be less likely to sell the government cotton, and thus a flooding of the market after Dec. 1 would be prevented, experts argue. But the venture will cost around 50 million dollars at the rate of four cents a pound for two and a half million bales.

May Recover if Price Rises.

This money will be recovered for the treasury if the loans are eventually repaid. If, however, the price of cotton never goes over 10 cents, the farmer has no incentive to sell his cotton and pay off the loan. Having the money already through the loan, he may let the loan default and the cotton pass back to the government, officials admit.

Although the date on which the farmers may start exercising their options to buy is less than a month away, confusion over the possible conflict between relief plans has caused the department of agriculture to hold up mailing of the actual options, it was learned. The White House probably will be asked to straighten out the trouble.

Despite efforts made to curtail this year's cotton crop by paying bonuses for plowing under more than ten million acres of cotton the government crop estimate yesterday indicated an increase of 215 million bales over the estimate of Oct. 1.

Sellers 'Strike' as Packers Cut Price for Hogs

Live stock commission salesmen virtually went on strike against lower hog prices yesterday. With approximately 20,000 hogs on their hands, after direct shipments had been deducted from the receipts, sellers refused to consider anything but steady prices.

Packers' bids were 15 to 20 cents lower, and a deadlock soon resulted that lasted throughout the session. Late estimates placed the probable holdover at more than 15,000. Not enough hogs were sold to establish a fair list of quotations in the better grades.

Plainer Kinds Released.

Plainer classes that appeared to be about in line with Wednesday's quotations, considering the quality, were released to smaller city butchers and to some of the Yard traders, but the majority of the supply consisted of good to choice spring pigs for which sellers demanded $4.50 and $4.55.

Commission men are advising the country to hold back supplies until the outcome of the fight for higher prices is determined.

Sellers insist that conditions do not warrant the decline in the market demand by packers and disregarded the break in hog prices at all of the leading outside markets, losses at some places ranging up to 25 cents.

Demand for Fresh Pork Good.

The good demand for fresh pork was one of the supporting factors for the selling side. Pork loins held steady yesterday, the range at 10 to 14 cents comparing with 9 to 11½ cents late last week.

During the early part of the session yesterday scattered sales of pigs, packing sows and a few extremely heavy butchers were sold at steady prices, but all good grades of 180 to 280 pound averages went into the holdover. Good 300 pound butchers sold at $4.40, the highest actual sale of full carloads. A small lot at $4.45 was no criterion. In the absence of sales of top grades the trade carried a nominal top quotation at $4.50.

Cattle Turn Lower.

Cattle receipts over-ran the advance estimate about 1,500 head, and reversed the trend of the market. Wednesday's mild gains were rubbed out in many instances, with trading slow at the lower level. Packers carried rather limited orders at the reduction, and the clearance was poorest of the week. Mixed yearling steers and heifers were sold up to $6.25, while straight heifers, very light in weight, reached $6.50.

The bulk of all cattle sold at $4.85 to $5.85, common grades of steers of beef merit going at $3.

Lamb prices also declined, dipping 25 to 40 cents in an all day session, with the close about as low as any time of the day. City butchers picked up closely sorted native lambs at $7.35 and $7.40, while local packing houses bought chiefly at $7.25 and under.

SEARS REPORTS BEST OCTOBER GAIN SINCE 1931

The fifth consecutive monthly gain in sales over the 1932 figures was reported yesterday by Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the four week period ended Nov. 5. The 20.9 per cent increase was the best recorded for any similar period since 1931.

Actual sales were $28,590,302, as compared with $26,311,738 in the preceding four weeks and $23,652,111 in the corresponding period last year.

The mounting sales last month continued the improvement which began with the "inflation" buying wave last June, the first period this year when sales exceeded the 1932 figures. Since then sales have run ahead of 1932 in each four week period. In the period ended Sept. 10 sales also began to show improvement on the preceding months, and this trend continued through October.

The sharp increase last month cut the cumulative loss this year to $5,331,879 or 2.5 per cent under 1932. Volume was $205,656,826 for the period from Jan. 30 to Nov. 5, as compared with $210,988,705 for the comparable period of 1932. The company's fiscal year begins Feb. 1 and is divided into 13 equal periods.

RATE ON BANK ACCEPTANCES IS UP 1-8 PER CENT

In line with the trend toward stiffening money rates, a leading dealer in bankers' acceptances yesterday advanced rates by ⅛ of 1 per cent for all maturities and it is expected that other dealers will follow within the next few days. It was explained that increasing yields on government obligations have made it desirable to increase the return on acceptances to attract buyers. However, it was pointed out that there have been few offerings of acceptances in the last few months except of 60 to 90 day maturities.

The new rates are as follows: 30 to 90 days, ½ of 1 per cent bid, ⅜ of 1 per cent asked; 120 days, ¾ of 1 per cent bid, ⅝ of 1 per cent asked; 150 to 190 days, 1 per cent bid, ⅞ of 1 per cent asked.

Prime bankers' acceptances are used mainly in financing the shipment and storage of readily marketable commodities and because of this is one of the highest rated types of commercial paper.

Late Reaction Cuts Advances in Stock Prices

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—Speculators of the stock-jobbing fraternity came down to work wearing their rose tinted glasses today. The Washington news and the continued plunge of the dollar on foreign exchanges convinced them that currency inflation is just around the corner. The apparent nearness of Russian recognition and a belated recognition that the passage of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment is going to aid the business recovery movement were other factors of optimism.

Activity on the share exchange favored the buying side throughout the session with dealings at a sharply eccelerated pace most of the time until late in the day, when there was some profit taking by traders who feared to ride the advance too far. Yet the close found the list well studded with gains of 1 to 3 points.

Precious Metal Issues Lag.

Gold and silver issues were unable to get up any marked enthusiasm in spite of the bounce in silver metal and the higher price set for domestic gold. Homestake took one of its occasional tumbles, this time going down 26 points. Alaska-Juneau, Dome, U. S. Smelting and others lately prominent in the group finished lower.

Another group which found difficulty in keeping step was the utilities. Apparently the edge had worn off the interest aroused by Tuesday's votes on municipal ownership and operation of utilities in various cities and most of the leaders of the section found themselves sliding to easier levels under a dribble of selling orders. American Telephone gave up more than 2 points of the gains it ran up yesterday.

Inventory Stocks Wanted.

There was persistent buying throughout the earlier hours in such so-called "inventory" stocks as rubber and sugars.

The rails displayed a strong undertone and New York Central and other leaders of the department went to new highs for the movement. Later realizing shaved the margins of the group considerably, however.

Heavy machinery shares basked in the favor of the Russian recognition negotiations it being supposed that they will be among the first of the security groups to benefit from the buying orders expected to come from the soviet.

Last hour realizing sales told heavily on the showing of the repeal groups and early gains were replaced in some instances with losses running to 2 points.

BANKERS OFFER UNITED BISCUIT COMMON STOCK

One of the first offerings of common stock of a leading American corporation in many months was announced yesterday by Blyth & Co., investment bankers. The firm announced that it is offering a "substantial block" of common stock of the United Biscuit Company of America.

The offering represents no new financing on the part of the company. The shares to be sold were outstanding prior to July 27, when the federal securities act became effective. The bankers emphasized that the offering does not constitute a sale by "any person or holder in control of, or in any way connected with the control or management of the company."

A five page prospectus giving previously published information on the company's financial position, earnings record, and business was issued by the banking firm.

CHICAGO BANKS, MARKETS CLOSE ARMISTICE DAY

Chicago banks, security, and commodity markets, including the board of trade, mercantile exchange, and the stock and curb exchanges, will be closed tomorrow, Armistice day. Minneapolis, Duluth, and Winnipeg grain markets will also close. The Chicago live stock market is the only market here to remain open.

Tomorrow is not a legal holiday in New York and the banks and exchanges, including the New York Stock exchange, will be open as usual.

U. S. IS ASKED TO BUY 10,000,000 TONS HARD COAL FOR RELIEF USE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—A committee of business men, public officials and miners from the anthracite areas of Pennsylvania called on President Roosevelt today and proposed that the federal relief administration buy 10,000,000 tons of anthracite for relief purposes.

The President listened to the suggestion and was to confer later in the day with Harry Hopkins, relief administrator, but the Litvinoff conference delayed the meeting.

According to the committee, the purchase of 10,000,000 tons of coal would entail an outlay of about $50,000,000 at the mines. With an average freight rate of $2.50 a ton, the total expenditure would be about $75,000,000.

Such a program, it was said, would give 25,000 men employment for a year. It represents about 25 per cent of the annual tonnage of anthracite, which has fallen in recent years from about 80,000,000 to 40,000,000 tons.

If the plan is adopted, Mr. Hopkins would allocate the tonnage among the mines. While there was no statement concerning the administration's views on the proposal, it was reported that if the plan were approved the tonnage figures might be between 2,000,000 and 5,000,000.

MONEY TINKERING BETTER THAN OLD RULE—VANDERLIP

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's gold purchasing plan was indorsed by Frank A. Vanderlip, former president of the New York Clearing House association and widely known financial authority tonight, as one that may prove to be "a boon to mankind."

Declaring the "classical economic theory of the gold standard" has collapsed, Vanderlip said that even if the President is "tinkering with the currency" he is doing something "less dangerous than continuing under the evils of the old order."

"The plan for a commodity dollar," he said, "rests on the theory that if the number of grains of gold obtainable for a paper dollar is decreased prices will rise; if increased prices will fall.

"If it is possible to achieve a monetary system in which a dollar will have substantially the same purchasing power for goods throughout a generation and longer we shall have done something more than tinkering with the currency. We shall have given it stability. The accomplishment will be a boon to mankind, having a value beyond calculation."

Silver Hits 3 Year Peak at 42⅞ Cents

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Bar silver pushed up a full cent to a price of 42⅞ cents an ounce, the highest in three years, at New York today. Its peak for 1930 was 46⅞ cents.

Today's price contrasted with a low of 24¼ cents touched a year ago, but was still under what silver producers regard as a satisfactory level. The treasury has been authorized to accept up to 200 million dollars in the metal at a value of 50 cents an ounce in payment of war debts, and trade authorities say 60 cents would be nearer the average price for normal times during the last 40 years or so.

Price Rises Steadily.

The metal has been creeping up steadily for several days. Speculative buying has been prompted by the RFC action in pushing up the price of gold and by the decline in the dollar in foreign exchange markets. Unable to speculate in gold, owing to the lack of a speculative market in this country, speculators have swung to silver.

New York bullion brokers said the speculative buying movement had reached the largest proportions within memory here, and that the price had reached a premium of approximately 1½ cents over the London market, and 2 cents over Shanghai. There has been a premium for some time, but today's were the widest experienced.

The premium suggested a substantial import movement of the metal, on top of that of last summer. Brokers estimated that stocks stored in New York bank vaults had already reached the total of some 100 million ounces.

Buying Based on Inflation.

Buying, brokers reported, was based largely on vague ideas of incipient inflation. It was believed many persons with hoarding instincts were buying the metal and storing it away.

In view of the huge stores abroad, some market experts felt that barring severe inflation of the dollar, or monetization of a large amount of silver, it might be difficult to maintain present price levels for the metal.

Trading in silver futures on the commodity exchange set new high records today. Sales amounted to 18,950,000 ounces—a dollar volume of aproximately $8,338,000.

U. S. GOLD PLAN PLUNGES DOLLAR TO NEW DEPTHS

Sterling at $5.15½; Fear Reprisals.

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The American dollar, in terms of gold, today dropped to its lowest levels in some 60 years.

With the domestic gold price being stepped up 10 cents an ounce to $33.15 by the Reconstruction Finance corporation as part of the administrative program to raise commodity prices by depreciating dollar rates abroad, the monetary unit was in heavy supply in foreign exchange markets. It rallied moderately in late trading, but was still extremely heavy at the finish.

The British pound sterling soared to $5.15½, a new post war peak, and closed at $5.12 for a net gain of 14½ cents. French francs reached 6.34 cents, a new top since that currency was officially devalued, and ended at 6.31½, up 0.15½ of a cent. Dutch guilders, high at 65.45 cents, dropped back to 65.08 for a gain of 1.58 cents. Belgian belgas and Swiss francs held advances of 0.54 and 0.74 of a cent, respectively.

Value in Francs Lower.

As measured by the French exchange, the dollar at one time was valued at just under 62 cents. Its approximate closing value was 62.04 cents. In terms of the new RFC gold rate, the dollar had a theoretical value of about 62.35 cents.

This was the first time since the RFC gold program was started that the dollar had come down in terms of foreign old currencies to the level indicated by the RFC price. It had been holding as much as 1 to 2 cents above it. Foreign exchange dealers said that it was not surprising that when it finally came down, it did so with a rush, and actually went a little below the RFC level.

Await Action by Britain.

Wall street awaited anxiously to see what action, if any, the British authorities would take to try to check the rise in the pound, which has more than canceled the advantage against the dollar which the British gained through the depreciation of the pound two years ago with abandonment of the gold standard.

It was noted with much interest that Canadian authorities were evidently pegging the Canadian dollar on the American dollar rather than pound sterling. The Canadian currency declined along with the American dollar, holding close to par and closing at a discount of one-sixteenth of a cent.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France attracted attention in Wall street for any signs of weakening of the French gold standard. The statement showed a loss of approximately $11,000,000 in gold, calculated at par of exchange, which was substantially smaller than the previous week, and, according to Wall street banking quarters, too small to indicate any serious flight from the franc at this time.

British Reprisals Feared.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The fall of the dollar into new low territory today put officials more than ever upon the alert for signs of foreign reprisals.

In the absence of any definite agreement with London or Paris on the

Markets Feel Inflation Spur; Trading Rises

BY HOWARD WOOD.

When the President announced his plan to force commodity prices up by gradually reducing the value of the dollar in terms of gold the results were not immediately apparent. There was a breathing spell while the public took time to survey the landscape and decide whether raising the dollar price of gold really meant inflation of the currency.

Early this week the public began to suspect that it was about time to become afraid of the big bad wolf and for several days the more foresighted began to edge into commodities and equities and out of government bonds.

* *

Yesterday when the dollar got down to a new low level of about 62 cents and the British pound soared far above the five dollar level the movement became more pronounced. Buying came into the commodity and stock markets in a big way. Trading on the New York stock exchange amounted to nearly three million shares and at the board of trade buying was heavier than it had been for weeks.

There were irregularities, but they are to be expected in an inflation market. The lines on the chart were not exactly parallel. American Telephone common stock, for example, dropped a couple of points and such a stock would not benefit from inflation as much as the stocks of industrial companies.

* *

The late selling wave in the stock market might have been due to a number of things, among them profit taking. Stock averages, even though they move upward with the cheapening of the dollar, are susceptible to day to day influences which make pronounced dips and bulges.

Most important of the day's developments was the further weakness in government bonds. When prices of stocks and commodities are pushed upward by public buying resulting from confidence, government bonds are not much affected. But the buying that came into the markets yesterday was not the buying that comes from public confidence in commodities and equities. It was the type of buying that results from lack of confidence in money and a desire to rush from money into things which may ride the inflation wave upward.

This same lack of confidence in the dollar reaches into high grade, low yield bonds. The fear that drives people from money because of the undermining of its purchasing power also drives people from high grade bonds because the purchasing power of such bonds in inflation suffers from the same influences that affect money.

The pattern, therefore, becomes clearer. The Warren-Rogers scheme to raise prices by removing public confidence in the dollar seems to be working. People are buying goods and equities. They are selling fixed income bearing investments.

* *

Or will the resulting impairment of the market for government bonds be sufficient to make it impossible for the treasury to sell the hundreds of millions of bonds that it has in the offing to finance the big government lending and spending campaign?

In that case, continued government lending and spending would force a resort to printing press money, which step would doubtless so accelerate the inflation buying wave that there would be danger of the "managed dollar" getting out of control.

COMPETITION IS REVIVING RAILS, SAYS EASTMAN

Outlook of Supply Companies Better.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Recently developed competition is stirring railroads to action which will result in improvements in railroad equipment, service, and methods. This will eventually help to take them out of their present difficulties.

J. B. EASTMAN.

Joseph B. Eastman, federal railroad coördinator, made this estimate of the railroad situation in a talk last night before about 1,500 members and guests of the Railway Business association at the organization's annual dinner at the Stevens hotel. Harry A. Wheeler, president of the association, in introducing Mr. Eastman, said that the outlook for railroad equipment manufacturers is better than it has been for some time and that they are in a far better position than they were a year ago.

Railroads Not "Through."

There was a festive air as most of the nation's leading railroad presidents sat with the manufacturers to hear the words of the man selected by President Roosevelt to help put the roads on their feet again. And they were cheere das they were told that the roads were far from being "through."

Mr. Eastman discussed the work of his staff to help the roads to economy in operation and efficiency, spoke of the Chicago terminal studies and various problems of the railroad world. Replying to critics of railroad regulation who hold that control is depriving the roads of adequate revenues by keeping rates too low, Mr. Eastman said:

"My only belief is that the roads have suffered more from rates and fares that were too high than they have from charges that were too low."

Danger in Public Regulation.

One danger from public regulation that is not often mentioned, he said, is that it divides responsibility between managements and government, making it easy for managements that get into difficulty to lay the blame on government and to look to regulators for relief or to a change in laws.

Speaking of the plight of the heavy manufacturers who supply the roads with their equipment, Mr. Eastman asserted that if the roads could begin buying in large volume again it would reduce expenses where it is most acute and have a healthful effect on the entire situation.

"The government stands ready to help the railroads do this by providing funds on liberal terms," he continued "where such loans can be reasonably secured. In saying this I do not mean that the railroads should borrow money, even on liberal terms, for what they do not need.

They have a crushing load of debt as it is, and it could be of no real and lasting help to the general situ-

New York, Nov. 9.—Heavy selling of United States government bonds with resultant losses of a full point or more for half the list eclipsed the action of other bond groups on the stock exchange today. Foreign loans were as strong as the dollar and U. S. government bonds were weak, and domestic corporation issues averaged slightly lower on the day.

Six of the fourteen active United States government long term issues touched new lows for the year on selling which reached $7,421,500 of the total day's business of $20,712,500. The trading in the government issues was the heaviest since May, 20, 1932, and in the entire listed market since July 21, 1933.

Only Six Above Par.

With today's recession, only six issues remained above par, counting the called and uncalled fourth Liberty loan 4¼s as separate issues. The new Treasury 4¼-3¼s, for which cash subscribers paid 101½ on Nov. 1, closed today at 99 1-32d and at one time during the day sold as low as 98 30-32ds on the stock exchange. On the basis of closing prices the indicated yields on the main body of government issues ranged from 3.25 to 3.56 per cent.

Running in the opposite direction, many foreign loans were up 1 to more than 5 points. THE TRIBUNE average of ten leading foreign issues touched $108.27, the highest level since the average was started a decade ago.

United Kingdoms Jump.

United Kingdom issues shot up 1⅞ to 4¾ points; Swiss government 5½s, 5¾ points; Swedish government 5½s, 3½ points; French government and municipal loans, fractionally to 2⅝ points; Dutch East Indies loans, half a point to 2½. A number of issues of the German group were bid up a point or more. New highs for the year in the group were numerous.

Railroad and utility issues were weaker than industrial issues. However, in the former, the day was not without some sizable advances. International Telephone and Telegraph and American and Foreign Power showed considerable strength.

Domestic bonds on the Curb exchange moved irregularly lower, and foreign loans irregularly higher in active dealings.

Kellogg-Mackay Company.

Investors' Guide: Can you tell me something about 6½ per cent serial gold notes issued by Kellogg-Mackay company? Is this company still operating?—T. V. H.

Answer: The following communication from Gordon B. Wheeler, secretary of the noteholders' committee, gives a summary of the situation:

"A 15 per cent liquidation has been received . . . and 12 per cent has been passed on to the noteholders. Out of the balance of 3 per cent various committee expenses have been paid to date and $7,058 is held on deposit.

"No committee member has ever received any compensation, and although I am continuing to act as secretary of this committee I have received no compensation for such work since January of this year. Funds held on hand by the committee have remained undisturbed for more than nine months.

"The principal assets of the Kellogg-Mackay company which have not been liquidated are three parcels of real estate, one in the central manufacturing district of Chicago, one in Minneapolis and one in Kansas City. Any further liquidating dividends for creditors [including noteholders] is almost entirely dependent on when and in what amount these parcels of real estate may eventually be liquidated."

Ilseder Steel.

Investors' Guide: We sold the Aug. 1, 1933, coupons [defaulted] of our two Ilseder Steel corporation bonds and now want to sell the bonds themselves. In the event of sale would the Aug. 1, 1933, coupons belong to me or to the new owner, or would it be all right just to sell the bonds with Feb. 1, 1934, and subsequent coupons attached?—B. E. C.

Answer: The New York Stock exchange has ruled that these bonds must be dealt in flat on the exchange and that good delivery in the event of sale would not be executed unless the bond were surrendered with Aug. 1, 1933, and subsequent coupons attached. Your bonds, however, would constitute good delivery on the exchange if accompanied by a due bill to the amount of the face value of the Aug. 1 coupon.

Investors' Guide: Would you kindly give me quotations on the preferred and common stock of McKesson & Robbins of the date of April 19, 1933. I ask this as I am settling an estate. —Miss H. D.

Answer: On April 19, 1933, McKesson & Robbins preferred stock was quoted on the New York Stock exchange at a high of 5¼, a low of 4½ and a closing price of 5¼. The common was quoted at a high, low and close of 2.

SPEED U. S. FUNDS TO DEPOSITORS OF CLOSED BANKS

RFC Official Confers Here on Liquidation.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The government is leaving no stones unturned to see to it that the billion dollars of easy money earmarked for the liquidation of closed banks is placed in the hands of depositors as early as possible, E. B. Schwulst, special assistant to the directors of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, indicated here yesterday.

Depositors in banks closed prior to Jan. 1, 1933, will come in for a share of the money, Mr. Schwulst said. For the time being only banks closed this year are eligible for loans but as soon as these are taken care of the RFC will turn its attention to banks which folded up in 1931 and 1932, he said.

Illinois has 192 millions of deposits tied up in closed banks, of which 128 millions is owed to depositors of Cook county banks. Of the total, 30 millions is owed by banks closed this year.

Confer on Bank Liquidation.

Mr. Schwulst conferred here yesterday with officials in charge of the liquidation activities of the RFC in the Chicago or seventh reserve district. James R. Leavell, president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, is directing the work in this district, which includes Iowa and parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

"I want it emphasized that the RFC means business and will put the money in the hands of depositors with all possible dispatch," the Washington official said. "We have given the district committees full instructions on the methods to be used in appraising assets of banks applying for loans, and we will act on applications forwarded to Washington with the greatest speed."

No applications have actually been forwarded to Washington as yet from this district or from the several other reserve districts, he pointed out.

Applications Being Prepared.

However, the first of the applications from the Chicago area are expected to be ready for final action within a few days, Mr. Leavell indicated.

The RFC is prepared to lend up to the full liquidating value of a bank's assets, Mr. Schwulst explained. This value is to be based on an "orderly liquidation from three to five years." Thus, the loans might be in excess of the present market value of the banks' assets.

Funds should begin to flow out some time this month to depositors of banks closed this year. Present indications are that most of these applications will be acted upon and money passed along by Christmas.

extent to which the governments there would unprotestingly see the dollar depreciated, there were many predictions that some form of retaliation might soon be attempted.

Economists said that every cent added to the dollars and cents exchange quotation for the pound placed Great Britain at an increasing disadvantage in foreign trade. It becomes cheaper to buy in America than in England. It makes it more profitable for the American manufacturer to export to Great Britain. The same holds, of course, for France and the franc, and the latter has grown stronger with the pound, in relation to the dollar.

If Great Britain chooses to defend the pound, it has ready to put to work a huge equalization fund, which was created and has already been used for that purpose.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction corporation said today that so far it had purchased 213,000 ounces of domestic gold.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—At the closing rate of $5.06 to the pound sterling, American currency today touched the lowest level reached in London since 1914. An overnight drop reported from New York started this morning's decline.

Offerings, chiefly from the United States, appeared throughout the day but there were no takers, so President Roosevelt's rubber dollar stretched farther still.

A paradox in the federal reserve's purchases of gold abroad is that it has not so far made the slightest dent in the world rate. Gold prices in London still respond only to the usual influence—the pound-franc exchange quotation. About $2,000,000 in bars was offered and taken up by continental buyers today.

Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, proclaimed before the house that the independence of the British sterling would be maintained.

"Does independence mean that sterling should be independent of the dollar and tied with the franc?" Labor Representative Wedgwood asked him.

Jarnagin, Former Banker, Files Bankruptcy Petition

William N. Jarnagin, 112 South Michigan avenue, former west side banker, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court. Through the law firm of Hume & Kennedy he listed his liabilities at $435,382 and assets at $249,424. Mr. Jarnagin formerly was president of the Central Manufacturing District bank.

Deerfield (Ill.) Bank Pays Off All Its Depositors

A second 50 per cent payment to depositors of the Citizens' State Bank of Deerfield was announced last night by State Audtor Barrett. Checks for the amount, aggregating $10,000, are now being mailed. The first 50 per cent dividend was paid in December, last year. The bank closed in June, last year.

Northwestern Trust Will Pay 5% More on Deposits

A distribution of $484,000 to depositors of the Northwestern Trust and Savings bank will be made Nov. 15, State Auditor Edward J. Barrett announced yesterday. The payment represents 5 per cent of the total deposit claims and brings the amount paid to 30 per cent. The bank closed June 10, 1931.

RESERVE'S BOND BUYING OFF, GOLD PLAN FOREMOST

Purchase of U. S. Loans Down to 10 Million.

The reserve banks were relegated to a minor rôle in the recovery program last week as the administration concentrated its efforts to lift prices and restore economic equilibrium on the gold purchases carried on through the RFC.

The weekly statement of the reserve system, issued last night, showed that the twelve banks reduced their purchases of government bonds to $10,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday. This was the smallest amount purchased since the credit expansion policy was inaugurated several weeks ago and was interpreted in financial quarters as a retreat by the administration on this front. Until recently purchases averaged $35,000,000 a week.

Delay Bond Program.

It is believed that the bond purchase program will continue to get little attention until the results of the gold purchasing policy are more definitely known.

At the same time the report showed a further expansion in the money in circulation. Circulation of federal reserve notes [40 per cent gold backing] expanded $15,000,000 to a current total of $2,982,997,000. Reserve bank notes asset currency [with no gold backing] increased another $5,000,000 to $193,678,000. In the Chicago district the increased circulation amounted to $2,000,000 all of which was represented by federal reserve notes.

Add U. S. Securities Here.

Member banks in New York reduced their holdings of government securities by $43,000,000, but Chicago member banks added some $33,000,000 to their portfolios. Commercial loans of New York banks increased $12,000,000 while in Chicago a contraction of $3,000,000 was reported. Gross deposits showed a shrinkage in both cities. In Chicago the indicated loss was $10,000,000 and in New York $106,000,000.

Brokers' loans reported by New York member banks were down $10,000,000 from the preceding week.

GRAINS ADVANCE AS COMMODITY BUYING EXPANDS

Wheat Leads Upturn on Inflation Signs.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Soaring gold and foreign exchange quotations found a counterpart in the commodity markets, with a marked broadening in speculative interest. Inflation talk increased in proportion to the sensational upturn in sterling.

Official quotations on the British pound above $5.15 compared with the normal par of $4.8665 started a general buying movement which swept wheat up 4⅛ cents at the extreme over Wednesday's finish. The May delivery sold at 95¼ cents, the highest level since Oct. 4. Corn was up 2¼ cents, with May touching 55½ cents.

Profit Taking Cuts Gains.

Profit taking brought about a moderate recession in grains from the top, but the close was at net gains of 3½ to 3⅞ cents on wheat, while corn gained 1⅝ to 2 cents; oats, 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents; rye, 3 to 3⅛ cents, and barley, 2¼ to 2½ cents.

May wheat in Chicago closed at 94⅞ to 95 cents, the highest level at which it finished any day since last September. May corn was 55⅛ to 55¼ cents at the last, also the highest close in over a month. May oats were selling at 39⅝ to 39¾ cents; May rye at 68⅞ cents, and May barley at 55¾ cents at the last.

What the grain trade was inclined to characterize as a flight from the dollar into commodities was regarded as getting well under way yesterday. Commission houses reported a broadening in outside interest in the markets, and the professional element also was inclined to expand operations.

See Flight to Commodities.

With both the Canadian dollar and the pound inflated by the abandonment of the gold basis, a question arises in the minds of some grain traders as to whether the dollar can take refuge anywhere except in commodities.

At all events, a vast change has come over the speculative commodity markets in the last few days. From the listless and uncertain movements of last week, they have become buoyant. Wheat at the high point yesterday showed 23¾ cents above the low of 71½ cents on Oct. 17, when the lowest level of the season was reached. Corn has advanced 11¾ cents; oats, 11⅜ cents, and rye, 17⅞ cents, from the recent lows.

The contagion to buy commodities spread to the Winnipeg grain market yesterday and wheat there gained 1⅞ to 2⅛ cents. Liverpool wheat was 2 cents higher in American funds at the last.

A heavy demand for cash wheat from terminal markets on the part of mills is reported to be developing as the result of the abnormally small movement in the interior.

Curtiss-Wright Nets 13c a Share in Quarter

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9.—The Curtiss-Wright corporation reported today consolidated net income of $154,376 for the September quarter after all charges and taxes, equal to 13 cents a share on 1,146,985 shares of $2.00 class a noncumulative stock, compared with net loss of $408,664 for the third quarter of 1932. For the first nine months of 1933 consolidated net income amounted to $582,450, or 51 cents a share, on the class A, compared with net loss of $376,306 in the corresponding period of 1932.

PROVISIONS ADVANCE; OFFERINGS READILY TAKEN

Provisions were not slow in following the upward movement in cotton, grains, and stocks. Trading was increased and offerings readily absorbed by various interests, especially by hedges and shorts.

The close on lard futures was at net gains of 15 to 20 points, new style leading. Bellies were in demand and closed 25 cents higher on December, 12½ to 22½ cents up on January, the latter on old, and 2½ to 10 cents up on May.

The advance in sterling was a big factor, particularly in the cash line. Cash lard advanced 17½ points to 6.12½ cents for regular, with loose up 7½ at 5.87½ cents, while leaf also advanced 12½ points, reaching the 6 cent level. Cash bellies were easier at 5.75 cents. In the cash trade there was a fair business.

U. S. STEEL WILL END UNFILLED TONNAGE REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9.—The United States Steel corporation has abandoned publication of its monthly unfilled tonnage figures and, beginning tomorrow, will publish for each preceding month the total amount of finished steel shipments about the 10th of the succeeding month, Myron C. Taylor, chairman, said today.

Attention was drawn several weeks ago to the fact that the significance of U. S. Steel's backlog figures had lost their significance as a yardstick of forward business, due to the restrictive rulings of the steel code.

Taylor Explains Change.

"In order to follow the practices outlined in the steel code of fair competition more completely under the NRA," said Mr. Taylor, "the United States Steel corporation will hereafter announce the total tonnage of finished products shipped during the preceding month—such announcement taking the place of former announcements as to tonnage of so-called unfilled orders.

The total given in this statement for shipments of finished steel products for September is 575,161 tons.

"Under the terms of the steel code contracts and orders for steel, aside from those for definitive constructive purposes and as to certain specified products, may not be accepted for delivery beyond the expiration of the calendar quarter.

Calls New Statement More Fair.

"Accordingly, the tonnages of unfilled orders no longer present a fair index of prospective activity in the industry as was formerly more nearly the case. The publication of tonnage shipped monthly will indicate the degree of activity of operations from month to month.

CALL STEEL OUTLOOK POOR

Despite a slackening in the rate of decline in steel works operations, "no early recovery is in prospect," according to the Iron Age. The industry will probably have difficulty in maintaining through the week its scheduled capacity of 25.2 per cent, estimated by the American Iron and Steel institute at the beginning of this week, the journal says.

"It is reasonably certain that average operations for this month will be the lowest since April, when only 25.08 per cent of the national capacity was utilized and operations may even go below that figure, the review declares.

The Iron Age points out that the allotment of $135,000,000 of public funds for railroad purchases and the gradual expansion of the public works program are not likely to affect operations materially until late in the year.

TRAFFIC LEAGUE HELPS CHICAGO'S RAIL RATE FIGHT

Opposes Rule That Hurts Shippers' Business.

In an action which was described in transportation circles as something of a bombshell, the National Industrial Traffic league yesterday went on record at the closing session of its annual meeting at the Palmer house as favoring the elimination of the fourth section of the transportation act of 1920, known as the long and short haul clause. The action reversed the previous attitude of the league on the subject.

Chicago business and manufacturing interests have long been fighting to have the fourth section eliminated, holding that its enforcement has given other sections of the country a distinct advantage over the middle west with respect to shipping costs.

What Regulation Does.

The fourth section has long been a bone contention because it does two things:

First, it forbids the making of rates lower for a long haul than for a shorter haul over the same line.

Second, it forbids the making of a rate between two points higher than a total of the rates between intermediate points.

Chicago critics of the fourth section assert that it prevents the railroads from establishing rates which would permit them to meet the competition of shipping passing through the Panama canal. To reduce rates for shipments between Chicago and San Francisco, for example, to a level which would be competitive with charges for shipping using the Panama canal, the roads would have to install rates between Salt Lake City and San Francisco which would not be proportionately higher.

Clause Favored Elsewhere.

Shipping interests in western cities, such as Salt Lake City, and in other parts of the country have been fighting to have the fourth section retained and hitherto the traffic league has stood with them. It was explained yesterday that the change in transportation conditions generally was responsible for the change in the league's position. A majority of the members of the league, which is composed of shippers from all parts of the country, feel that the roads should be given more latitude in working out their own difficulty, especially since they no longer have a monopoly on transportation.

At the morning session F. M. Renshaw of Buffalo was elected to succeed Herman Mueller as president.

COTTON RISES $1 A BALE IN STIMULATED MARKET

Investment and trade buying of cotton made an active, broad, and advancing market with prices at the extreme reaching $1 per bale above the previous day's close. Profit taking on the advance carried prices down moderately from the top in the late dealings.

At the close futures in Chicago were 11 to 17 points net higher. New York advanced 15 to 18 points on futures and up 15 points on spots, the latter reaching 10.05 cents. New Orleans gained 14 to 16 points on futures and 15 cents on spots, reaching 9.75 cents. Galveston was 9.65 cents, gaining 10 points, and Houston at 9.70 cents, 15 points gained.

Liverpool was 1 to 3 points net higher.

Outlook of Supply Companies Better.

ation for them to go deeper into debt unless they can thereby increase or protect their earning power, by improving their service and attracting more traffic, by lowering their expense of operation, or by preserving their property from deterioration."

The coördinator spoke of the division of purchases which has the job of promoting economy in railroad buying. Standardization and simplification of types and practices have already developed certain specific opportunities for economy. Included in these were:

Simplification of numerous kinds of railroad equipment, materials, and supplies; establishing appropriate "measuring sticks" for gauging the efficiency of the purchases and stores departments, developing uniform methods of cost, establishment of some form of central technical or engineering organization serving all the railroads which would test and investigate new materials, devices, and methods, etc.

No Bar to Development.

"It should be clearly understood that in this standardization and simplification we contemplate no freezing process which will retard the development of the art of railroading," he said.

Touching on the work being undertaken in the Chicago district through the regional coördinator and his advisory committee, he said that this group is seeking to "search out means of eliminating waste and preventable expense, particularly through joint action and coöperation of the railroads, unification of terminal operations, joint use of facilities, the pooling of services and traffic, the elimination of wasteful routing, and the like."

One condition that makes this work hard, he said, is the labor restriction in the emergency transportation act.

Big Expenditure Not Desired.

"The Chicago studies," he said, "will not embrace ambitious schemes requiring a large outlay of capital, although they will not preclude the consideration of such plans in the future if the need for them should arise. Nor will they preclude the greater use of trucks in termial distribution. On the contrary, the possibility of such use will be kept in mind.

"The object will also be to develop plans which will not be dependent upon system consolidation of carriers, although it may be that they will require the organization of a unified terminal company."

Mr. Eastman foresaw the time when trucks, waterways, pipelines, aviation, would be used with the railroads to help give the nation the best possible system of transportation.

Gray Favors General Regulation.

Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, told the meeting that all forms of transportation should be placed under government regulation.

Mr. Gray declared he believed no one cause contributed more to the present business confusion than the uncertainties of highway and water transportation costs. He asserted that highway and waterway carriers needed regulation for their own protection.

"It is not too much to expect," he said, "that the railroads, their new competitors, and a sound public opinion may unite to put an end to conditions which have done so much to destroy that stability of rates and charges which is so necessary to the proper functioning of commercial business.

"I believe a fixed standard of transportation rates is a fundamental business necessity. It is no exaggeration to say there exists today all the conditions with respect to instability of rates, discriminations, and preferences which, when indulged in by the railroads, resulted in passage of the interstate commerce act."

At an earlier meeting of the association Mr. Wheeler was reëlected president. Two new vice presidents were chosen: William C. Dickerman of the American Locomotive company, New York, and William B. Given Jr., president of the American Brake Shoe and Foundry company, New York. It also passed a declaration under which it pledged full coöperation to the railroads and the federal administration in developing and carrying on a balanced program for industrial recovery.

FEDERAL CORN LOANS BOOSTED TO 45 CENTS PER BUSHEL AT FARM

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today that corn loans will be made on the basis of 45 cents per bushel on farms and that $150,000,000 of Reconstruction Corporation funds will be available.

Under the new plan the loans of 45 cents per bushel will be available to farmers to be secured by merchantable corn, provided the farmer agrees to take part in the farm administration's corn-hog production control program.

In states where there are farm warehouse acts the loans will be on the security of corn in sealed bins on farms, while in states without such laws the loans will be made where the corn is placed in a public bonded warehouse.

The original plan contemplated a loan to farmers based on 50 cents per bushel for number 2 December corn f. o. b. Chicago. This meant that the loan value would decrease in proportion to the distance of the farm from Chicago and that the value would also fall in proportion to grade.

OIL PRICE FIXING DANGEROUS, SAY INDEPENDENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9.—Protests that independent oil concerns would be put out of business by a price fixing program on petroleum products will be included in the arguments presented at the hearings which open in Washington, Nov. 16, before the petroleum administrative board. Independent refiners, distributors, and service station operators in the north Atlantic seaboard states, through the Independent Oil Companies' Alliance, set forth its views at the Bankers' club here today.

The case of the independents was given in a seven point program presented by Allen B. Tint of Elizabeth, N. J., chairman of the public interest committee of the organization.

Say Cost to Consumer Would Rise.

"Price fixing," said his statement, "will increase the cost to consumers of gasoline and other petroleum products. "The minimum price proposed is higher than present prices and prices may go higher than the minimum. Enforcement will increase the cost of government.

"Price fixing can be enforced only through the activities of government agencies such as were employed to enforce the Volstead act. It will also mean government regulation of an oil monopoly as a public utility. The history of all price fixing plans of the past, applied to competitive industries, has been a history of failures.

Declared Dangerous Experiment.

"Under price fixing the larger integrated producers and distributors will absorb the business of the smaller independents and will reap profits out of long standing inventories. Since the petroleum code went into effect under the NRA the conditions of trade and production in the oil industries have greatly improved.

"Under the circumstances, to inject a dangerous experiment, such as price fixing, into the situation, even for a period of ninety days, would disrupt the industry and carry with it broad economic consequences, causing loss of employment, investment, and governmental tax income."

RULES ON BANKS JOINING DEPOSIT PLAN BROADENED

Notes Sold to RFC Held Unimpaired Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—Capital notes and debentures, as well as preferred stock, issued by state banks not members of the federal reserve system will be recognized as eligible capital if such banks apply for membership, according to a ruling just made by the federal reserve board and announced today by Harvey C. Couch, head of the nonmember preferred stock board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

"The effect of the liberalized policy," Mr. Couch said, "will be that nonmember state banks which avail themselves of the opportunity of selling capital notes and debentures to the RFC will not only be assisted in qualifying for federal deposit insurance, which takes effect Jan. 1, 1934, but will at the same time prepare themselves for entrance into the federal reserve system, which the deposit insurance act provides must be done by 1936."

Regard Notes as Capital.

Rulings of the federal reserve board heretofore have specified that nonmember state banks wishing to qualify for membership must have an unimpaired capital equal to the capital required of national banks located in the same city. The emergency banking act provided that preferred stock of banks purchased by the RFC should be regarded as capital, but overlooked the fact that in twenty states nonmember banks are forbidden by state laws to issue preferred stock, although sale of capital notes and debentures to strengthen capital structure is permissible.

The federal reserve board by its ruling, Mr. Couch said, has now determined that it was the intent of congress to give capital notes and debentures the same standing as preferred stock.

"It is the intention," Couch added, "to suggest to the next congress the advisability of clarifying the law to carry out the interpretation which has just been put into effect."

Must Join Reserve Later.

Under the federal deposit insurance provisions of the banking act of 1933 state banks not members of the federal reserve system are eligible for the insurance benefits from Jan. 1, 1934, until Jan. 1, 1936, but after the latter date must become members of the federal reserve system if they are to retain such status.

Advisory committees are being set up in the states, on which nonmember bankers have been invited to serve. The Illinois committee is composed of A. A. Mueller, assistant auditor of public accounts, Chicago; W. I. Shuman, F. D. I. C. supervisor, Chicago; Charles W. Boyden, president, Farmers' State bank, Sheffield, and W. H. Vanderploeg, assistant vice president, Harris Trust and Savings bank, Chicago.

BUTTER AND EGGS RISE WITH OTHER MARKETS

Butter and egg futures closed ¼@½ cent higher on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday. Eggs were well supported. Butter gained with only a light trade.

The higher grain and stock prices brought in buying of eggs at the opening and a heavy movement of storage stocks aided in the higher trend. Fresh supplies have been very light and the cash market has been climbing. There is some fear apparent, however, that the advancing fresh prices may bring in heavier supplies and hurt the movement of storage stocks. The four market withdrawals totaled 15,800 cases more than last year.

Butter was neglected. Production is running 12 per cent ahead of last year and storage stocks moving out at a rate about half the year ago total. The fresh market continued pegged by government buying.

FRIDAY—11 A. M.!

That is opportunity time for a few men—workers — thinkers — dependable men who want something permanent. The men who are invited here Friday morning at 11 sharp will be men who have aspirations, live at home, are capable—not looking for a tide-over or a part time deal, but for profitable permanency.

We can't use whiners, we don't want clever men—no place here for glib talkers. You cannot make all the money you wish the first month. In fact, don't look for more than $135 the first 30 days. You might do better—others have; you will do better the next month, and by Christmas you will be clicking. You will develop if you are sincere. Men here make good money—and this international business has numerous examples of men who make big money—out of the ordinary—but always on the same basis of opportunity extended to you!

If we believe you like this business, and if you are acceptable to us, then early next week you will go out on the money making end. You do not pay or deposit anything. There's nothing to buy—no monetary outlay on your part. If you have the stuff in you, we want to work with you—and it is to our interest to see you make good and continue to add to your income. This position will be better for you as you grow into it. During the past four years it has shown remarkable progress. Each succeeding year will be better.

If you call Friday morning at 11 o'clock—no other time—be on time, and come prepared to spend a while with us, because as truly as Rome was not built in a day, no lasting connection is formed on a few moments of snap judgment by men or companies. Come to Room 910 in the Engineering building, at 222 N. Wells-st., Friday, Nov. 10, at 11 a. m. only!

ARE YOU OUT OF WORK?

Have you ever contacted the public? If so, call for personal interview and we may be able to fit you in a position to contact our customers at a fair weekly income.

Apply between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

SOLUTION TO
LADY EVELYN'S JEWELS
The constable's deductions were wrong. It would have been impossible for a man to have clung to the ivy on the wall and reach the outer edge of the recently added 10 foot balcony and thereby make his way into Lady Evelyn's room. No—young Telfar was not guilty!
